RECORDS HERE FALL AS HEAT HITS NEW HIGH

84 Degrees Breaks All Previous Marks for February.

FIRST PROSTRATION OCCURS DOWNTOWN

ONE THERMOMETER SHOWS 108 IN SUN

Was it hot yesterday? Whew! Yes, and how—84 degrees official, 89 at the downtown Pennsylvania avenue kiosk and 108 in the sun.

Consequently all February heat records for Washington fell under the hot beams of the summer-like sun. Not since records have been kept at the Weather Bureau the last 60 years have Washingtonians experienced a February day with such high temperatures. The previous high mark for the month was recorded 56 years ago on February 23, 1874, when the mercury climbed to 78 degrees.

At the downtown kiosk, where the sun's rays are assisted by the pavement radiation and artificial heat, the recording sheet on the thermograph barely proved sufficient, as only a 90-degree maximum mark is carried during the winter and early spring months.

108 Deemed Plausible.

The sun record of 108 degrees was registered in a thermometer at a tire and battery service station on Eleventh street, above New York avenue northwest. That there was nothing flukey about this record several persons stood willing to attest, and officials at the Weather Bureau also declared it was highly probable.

From a low mark of 54 degrees at 7 o'clock, the temperatures mounted steadily under the unrelenting rays of the undimmed sun until about 4 p. m. In addition to breaking all records, yesterday's temperature was 48.7 degrees above the mean-normal of 35.3 degrees for the month, and 32 degrees above the 34 mean temperature for the day, the Weather Bureau reported.

To all these statements and proof concerning the unprecedented heat of yesterday, all Washingtonians undoubtedly stand ready to affirm with a confident "I told you so"—because topcoats and such apparel were just so much extra baggage which pedestrians carried on their arms, as they mopped the perspiration from their brows.

Showers for Today.

The first local heat prostration of the season also was reported. C. Newton Bear, 68, of 317 C street northwest, was overcome at Thirteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue. He was taken to Emergency Hospital, where his condition was reported as not serious.

Despite yesterday's temperatures and the sure signs of the advent of spring—such as the return of birds, croaking of frogs and distant rumbles of thunder—the weather forecasters shook their heads in negation and asserted there was no need to oil up the fans and close the furnace yet. They issued a forecast of "showers and cooler weather" for today, and intimated that March is likely to come in as a "lion" instead of a "lamb" and that the month will likely have many cold, raw days in its bag.

Anyway, the birds seem to be coming back. Lured north by the warm February, which has been generally prevalent over the eastern United States, large flocks of migrating birds descended on Washington and its environs yesterday. The stretch of woodland south of the Lincoln Memorial pool was filled with chirping songsters.

Birds Are Returning.

Robins, mourning doves, song sparrows and purple grackles made up the bulk of the advance guard of feathered tourists. Ornithologists state this mass migration is one of the earliest ever known in this section. One flock of song sparrows numbered upwards of a hundred.

The robins seen were all males—heavy red-breasted fellows. They apparently had wintered well in the South and are in excellent condition to begin their arduous summer duties.

Purple grackles strutting in new satiny black coats were most numerous in the White House grounds and about the Ellipse. They will be permanent residents of most of the city parks until next December.

Man Falls Five Stories; Is Hurt Only Slightly

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—He said he didn't know how it happened, but James Nieland, 25, fell from his fifth floor bedroom window today, struck two radio aerials on his way down, and cartomed into the yard from a leaning fence.

He was only slightly injured.

Spy Rumors, Threats Cause Senate Worry

Leaders, However, Show No Concern Over Missives.

(Associated Press.)

Threatening letters, mysterious ransacking of some offices and rumors of "spies" are giving the Senate some laughs and some slight nervousness, while leaders are not permitting the matter to worry them.

The threatening letters are not new to most of the veterans of public life but receipt recently of these warning epistles by several senators has created a little alarm. The letters are not all alike. One in particular warned Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, to stay away from the Senate for a couple of weeks.

As for the "spies" being around the Capitol, Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, said yesterday after some inquiry that "there is nothing to it at all." There were rumors of prohibition "spies" and of a counter espionage system by senators. All were denied.

But there was some evidence of activities by the secret service. The threatening or warning letters have been turned over to Attorney General Mitchell. One was received some time ago at the office of Vice President Curtis.

"It's the work of some crank or of some practical joker," said Senator Copeland, "and I can't take it seriously. However, I can't understand the moronic mind of anyone who thinks such business is a practical joke."

SENATOR JAMES E. WATSON.

One member of the Senate became so alarmed about the letters that he went to an officer of the Senate to ask that two buckets of water be placed in the chamber so that if any bomb were dropped, its fuse could be extinguished.

The Senate is always closely guarded by doorkeepers. These have not been increased. David Barry.

GLASS BLAMES PRESIDENT FOR ECONOMY PLEA

Senator Calls Warning "Cheap Exhibition of Partisan Politics."

BUDGET ITEMS CUT $24,000,000, CLAIM

Virginian Charges Hoover With Inciting Feeling Against Congress.

WATSON CHAMPIONS WHITE HOUSE MOVE

Leader Offers Explanation of Statement, Calling Situation Serious.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

President Hoover's "economy warnings" caused a field day in the Senate yesterday and in the melee the vaunted House efficiency was needlessly sacrificed.

Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, asserting that Mr. Hoover's warning of Monday, that expenditures must be held down, was "an inexcusable attempt to incite the resentment of the country against Congress," declared that as the record now stands Congress has reduced his budget recommendations by $24,000,000.

"There is no amateur in proceedings at the Capitol who does not know that such disaster as pictured by the President could not happen," Senator Glass declared. His listing of proposed appropriations amounting to $1,735,000,000 was as "cheap an exhibition of partisan politics as I have ever seen," the Virginian continued.

Senator Watson, majority leader, rejoined that the situation was really serious and warranted the President taking the action he did, that as a matter of fact, he was partly responsible for it. House leaders had come to him and expressed the fear that some of the pork barrel bills might pass the House. Senator Watson declared, afraid that they might not be able to hold the members down. All the senators understand the situation that exists just before election time, he said very frankly.

Watson Defends President.

Senators Walsh, of Montana, and Norris immediately wanted to know if he was speaking disparagingly of the House.

Mr. Walsh, who despite his serious mien, is coming more and more to enjoy the fun, was surprised that this body, which responds so readily to the administration will, could be in such a condition as Watson described.

Point of Order Is Made.

Mr. Norris made a point of order. "I make the point of order that the senator is speaking disparagingly of the other legislative body," he said.

Then it developed that the wires between the White House and the Indiana senator must have crossed because about the time he was throwing the House's reputation to the winds, considering that the emergency warranted it, of course, the President

POLICE EXTEND PICKET FORCES TO FOUR SPOTS

Fruit Store, Barber Shop and Two Cigar Stands Are Watched.

GUARDS STATIONED AT CARTER REQUEST

NO LIQUOR IS FOUND, BUT OWNER IS HELD

Maj. Pratt's police picket program was extended yesterday to four more places.

While Sergt. Oscar Letterman and his squad raided the address on 1 street near Thirteenth northwest, where a policeman was stationed Monday night to check up on presumable customers, uniformed guards took up their stations yesterday in front of a fruit store, a cigar store and a barber shop on H street near the Government Printing Office, and a cigar store a block away on G street.

Business in all four places was noticeably slack, although in one of the cigar stores constant ringing of the telephone bell kept the clerk stepping. As he was careful to close the door of the booth each time he answered a call, however, it was impossible to determine what the conversations were about.

Printer Makes Request.

It was rather embarrassing, for instance, for customers in the fruit store to have a policeman hanging around to make sure that all they really wanted was a half dozen bananas, and customers needing shaves decided that it probably would be a matter of wisdom to go some place where there was less chance of a cop jogging the barber's razor arm.

The four places were being picketed at the request of George H. Carter, public printer, who complained to Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, that employes of the Government Printing Office were going broke gambling. Although Mr. Carter could not be reached and several of his assistants declined to discuss the matter, it was learned that a number of employes caught in the places recently have been suspended from duty and their cases now are waiting final action by Mr. Carter.

May Discharge Employes.

What decision he will make, whether to discharge such employes, fine them, or suspend them temporarily from duty, probably will not be known until next week.

While none of the other precincts had men out on picket duty yesterday, it is expected that at least one other precinct will post at guard over a suspected speak-easy today, and

NEW FRENCH CABINET FALL PLUNGES NAVAL ENVOYS INTO GLOOM

Representative Took $400 for Job, Charge

Plumber Claims He Paid Kunz to Have Brother Made Policeman.

Chicago, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—A plumber told a Criminal Court jury today that he had borrowed $400 from a bank and given it to United States Representative Stanley H. Kunz in consideration of the latter's promised influence in getting his brother a police job.

The representative and his son, Stanley Kunz, jr., are on trial charged with operating a confidence game and with obtaining money under false pretenses. The specific charge is that they accepted $400 from Roman Trochowski to get the latter's application approved by the civil service commission.

Trochowski's brother, Walter, was the witness. He said he was doing some work at the representative's home when he mentioned to the younger Kunz that his brother wanted to get on the police force. Kunz, according to the witness, said it "cost money" to get such jobs and suggested his father could help him. Then, Tro-

Failure of Conference Impends, Is View of Many Delegates.

U. S. NOT TO PRESS ADJOURNMENT SOON

Agreement on Special Ships Outside Categories Is Tiny Silver Lining.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, Feb. 25 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Naval conference circles were thrown into confusion by news of the fall of the French government headed by Camille Chautemps, which became known about 9 o'clock tonight.

Beyond the fact that Premier MacDonald will call the heads of the delegations together tomorrow, nothing definite or official can be stated tonight, but at the headquarters of every one of the four visiting powers contradictory rumors fill the air.

Whether based on anything definite, or rather on the general impressions current as to the situation, the strongest of the reports circulating is that failure of the conference to secure limitation is now evident and that the difficult job of face-saving would be best accomplished if the delegations went home after adopting vague pacific regulations and resolving to meet again on the call of the head of the five nations.

France Furnishes Pretext.

A pretext for abandoning a hopeless task, it was suggested, may be found more plausibly in the political chaos in France than in the deadlock likely to result after a French delegation returns and declines to modify M. Tardieu's figures providing for a French navy of 724,000 tons by 1936.

In the parliamentary lobbies tonight the general impression in government circles is that the position of the conference is desperate, that an adjournment for six months or indefinitely is not unlikely, and that only some spectacular proposal from the United States, lifting the conference out of the present wrangle about figures, could save the situation. No such British proposal is considered possible because of the attitude of the admiralty.

It is also the opinion in British circles close to the conference that the suggested three-power treaty, in which Great Britain would agree to the figures arranged with the United States, subject to a clause permitting them to build up in case of French building as per M. Tardieu's program, would be fought by admiralty chiefs.

Wrong Interpretation Seen.

Their attitude is stated to be that such a move is open to misconception and charges of hypocrisy abroad, and that French plans make it clear that the agreement with America is dead, and it is more honest to admit the fact and announce the new program to the world.

Three-power treaty talk was discussed by a British spokesman today, and he stressed the fact that such a treaty would not help world disarmament at Geneva much and that conversations that have occurred on the subject have been informal.

It is now certain that Great Britain will not agree to parity with the United States without a clause giving her the right to meet French building, and, as indicated above, it is doubtful whether this country would go so far as that.

Such a move is also questioned in the American delegation through fear that it might antagonize the Senate, since the claim could be raised that Great Britain, while apparently agree-

U.S. BANK IN BRAZIL IS FINED $3,000,000

Fraud in Sao Paulo Branch Laid to National City Institution.

OFFICIALS DENY CLAIM

Rio Janeiro, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The Brazilian inspector general of banks, Senhor Ramalho Ortigao, has ordered a fine of nearly $3,000,000 imposed upon the National City Bank, American financial institution, for alleged fraudluent exchange transactions in its Sao Paulo branch during recent months. The fine is said to be 50 per cent of the total of these transactions.

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The National City Bank of New York, when informed of the action of the Brazilian inspector general of banks in levying a fine on it, issued the following statement tonight:

"Regarding the fine said to be levied agains the branch of the National City Bank of New York at Sao Paulo, Brazil, by the Brazilian inspector-general of banks, for exchange operations not in accordance with government regulations, officials of the bank here stated that the charges had been made and fully denied some time ago. The charges had also been the subject of some excited comments in the Brazilian press during the political campaign now in progress.

"The bank confidently expects that in due course a hearing and review of the matter will be accorded the bank by the Brazilian government, with which the bank's relations have always been excellent."

Filipinos Urge Boycott Of Freedom Opponents

Manila, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—A boycott of all American and other foreign firms that oppose Philippine independence was proposed in a resolution unanimously adopted today by the Labor section of the Philippine Independence Congress, which is holding sessions to promote the island's freedom.

HOUSE TO TAKE UP PENSION BILL SOON

Lehlbach Makes Promise; Committee Approves Amended Measure.

COMPROMISE IS REACHED

The new retirement bill will be taken up by the House at an early date, Chairman Lehlbach of the House civil service committee promised late yesterday.

The bill was approved by the civil service committee yesterday by a vote of 13 to 3, after three amendments had been approved.

In its amended form the bill represents a compromise between those who wanted the Lehlbach bill and those who wanted the Dale bill, and it starts its legislative journey with an excellent prospect of becoming a law.

The amendments adopted are designed to eliminate certain forfeiture provisions in the bill and to insure the refund to employes or widows or heirs of employes of sums of money they would have lost under the original bill.

The amendments to the bill, it was estimated by Chairman Lehlbach, will add $1,000,000 to the sum the Government must contribute toward annuities, which would bring the total cost to the Government to $15,000,000.

The amendments approved yesterday provide as follows:

That in the event of the death of an annuitant, such money as he has in the retirement fund shall go to his next of kin.

That in the event an employe should die before retiring his retirement savings, together with his tontine money and interest, shall go to the next of kin.

That in the event an employe is separated from the service through no fault of his own, his retirement contributions, including the tontine money, shall be refunded to him.

That from an annuitant's accumulation there shall be deducted only the excess over the basic annuity

U. S. URGES PEACE IN SANTO DOMINGO

PRESIDENT MAY RESIGN

(Associated Press.)

A 28-year-old diplomat, John M. Cabot, of Cambridge, Mass., stood between two hostile camps in the Dominican Republic yesterday and asked for peace in the name of the United States.

He was sent to the turbulent city of Sanitago by Charles B. Curtis, American Minister, who has spent nearly as many years in the diplomatic service of his country as Cabot, the legation's secretary, has lived.

Mr. Curtis reported his selection of a peacemaker to the State Department, saying at the same time that the revolutionists had not yet advanced upon Santo Domingo, the capital city. There President Vasquez spent Monday night safe from attack in the government fortress, surrounded by loyal troops.

The minister also reported that Vice President Jose Alfonseca had resigned, and President Vasquez had promised legislative annulment of all amendments to the electoral law made since 1924.

Mr. Curtis told the department he believed further revolutionary activities were stilled, awaiting the outcome of Cabot's negotiations in Santiago.

President Hoover's only comment on the situation during the day was that he had no information of any danger to the life or liberty of American citizens in Santo Domingo at the present time. Joseph P. Cotton, acting Secretary of State, with whom the President conferred, likewise held the opinion that the present difficulties were without danger to Americans.

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—An insurgent movement against the government of President Horacio Vasquez today held

REDS BARE CHARGES MADE AGAINST JEWS

Alleged Offenses Are Seen as Part of War Against Religious Sects.

TRIO OF LEADERS HELD

Moscow, Feb. 25 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—The Russian foreign office has officially announced that eleven of the fourteen arrested leaders of the Minsk Jewish community have been released, but the names of the three still under arrest have not been made public. The Communist Press in Minsk today today prints the name of those arrested and the charges against each one. The name of Chief Rabbi Henachem Gluskin, however, is not mentioned.

The individual charges against the men are given as follows: Benjamin Sakowiski, "a preacher with a crooked talmudical mind who was sentenced to be shot in 1919 because of stock speculations, but escaped, when business was bad, he began trading with God, giving sermons and preaching "save our children from the fire that is destroying the Jewish people.'"

Jacob Mizes, head of a rabbinical seminary, is accused of having directed a number of illegal seminaries. Simon Kabakov is charged with being a bourgeois leader. Krengel, a former jeweler and silversmith, is said to have utilized confiscated metal for making spoons and forks.

David Shachor, "an important former trader, was the organizer of clerical unions and rabbinical seminaries," while David Salomon "is president of a society of rabbinical students that is an outspoken counter-revolutionary organization, whose object is to fight the Soviet. At their meetings anti-Soviet speeches were made."

Rabbi Asher Kirshtein is said to be a "speculator who established loan societies that supported nepmen (traders profiting by the so-called "new economic policy" of Lenin), an enemy to the workers and an active

Three Workers Drowned, One Escapes From Sewer

Sudden Rush of Rainwater Sweeps Minneapolis Laborers, Deaf to Shouted Warnings, Before It; Bodies Recovered From Mississippi River.

Minneapolis, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Trapped and drowned by a sudden rush of rainwater through a sewer in which they were working, the bodies of three city employes were recovered from the Mississippi River today while a fourth man who escaped recounted in a hospital his experience.

The dead are August Anglade, 38; Arnold Bell, 32, and Gothard Carlson, 60. The survivor is Earl Dillon, 46, suffering from shock and bruises. Dillon broke down and wept today as he told what had happened in the sewer.

The men had lowered themselves into the vault to clean away accumulations of sand and mud just before a heavy rain began late Monday.

"We heard the water coming," Dillon said, "but it rose so quickly that we didn't have a chance. I had a stick in my hand and we stuck it into a crevice in the wall after the water reached our hips and we hung onto that. But the water rushed so hard and the pressure became so great that the stick broke.

"I felt myself being carried away toward the mouth of the sewer. I floated along trying to keep above the water. It threw me over and over against the walls. Then I was spilled into the river.

"As I was carried out, I looked back and saw another man come from the sewer. He dropped into the river and I never saw him again."

Carlson is survived by his widow, a daughter and a son. The other two were not married.

Dillon, who was carried more than two blocks through the sewer before the swirling waters spewed him into the river, said neither he nor his companions heard the warnings shouted from above by their foreman.

Dillon's escape from death was his second within two years. He was working in a sewer with two others in December, 1928, when the lantern of one of the men exploded, igniting sewer gas, and all three were burned seriously.

Seven Face Charges Of Bankruptcy Plot

Three Women and Four Men Accused of Conspiring to Conceal Property; Two Post $3,000 Bonds and Another $1,000.

Three women and four men are charged with conspiracy to violate the bankruptcy laws in a warrant which Deputy United States marshals served on three of the latter late yesterday.

The three men served immediately appeared before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage and posted bond for their appearance at a hearing on the charge. They are Hyman Ritchie Weinstein, Samson Norman Weinstein and Nathan Shapiro. The Weinsteins made bonds of $3,000 each, while Shapiro posted $1,000 bail.

The others named in the warrant are Selma Hallis, Laura Friedman, Logan S. Gain and Mrs. Laura Lennon.

The alleged conspiracy recited in the warrant, which was sworn to by Detective Sergt. George Webber, is said to have been manipulated prior to February 15, 1928.

Assistant United States Attorney Irving Goldstein, who prosecuted the charges before the commissioner, stated that the Government has been investigating the case for almost two years. He estimated that at least $10,000 is involved.

The warrant charges that the Weinsteins, when they went into bankruptcy while trading as the Speed Auto Supply Co. and the Royal Tire Co., "concealed property and money assets with the assistance of the other defendants."

Mr. Goldstein stated that the Government hoped to show that the Weinsteins transferred money from their bank account to accounts of at least two of the women, and that they transferred property to Shapiro, who operated a similar establishment next door to the one they operated on Pennsylvania avenue near Ninth street northwest.

Miss Harris is specifically charged in the warrant with giving false testimony before Ralph D. Quinter, referee in bankruptcy, on October 2, 1928. At that time, the warrant charges, she declared she had no money belonging to the Weinsteins.

Hyman Weinstein, according to the warrant, is alleged to have testified falsely before Referee Quinter on October 3, 1928, that at the time of the filing of the schedule of assets and liabilities he listed all his assets.

The warrant charges that Miss Friedman received cash assets from the two Weinsteins with intent to defraud their creditors.

Gain also is charged in the warrant with receiving cash assets with intent to defraud creditors of the Weinsteins.

Shapiro is charged with making a false oath during the bankruptcy proceedings.

Attorneys Emmett Leo Sheehan, Louis Ottenberg, and Selig C. Brez appear for the accused.

Temporary Airport Plan Suggested by Trade Board

Combination of Hoover Field, Terminal and Agricultural Department Farm Proposed as Compromise in Fight for Gravelly Point Location.

Combination of Hoover Field, Washington Air Terminal and the Agriculture Department Farm as a temporary airport for Washington was suggested by the Washington Board of Trade through Lawrence E. Williams, chairman of the aviation committee of the board, in a talk over station WMAL last night.

This suggestion to the Board of Trade comes as a compromise in the fight of the organization for the establishment of an airport at Gravelly Point. "The Board of Trade," said Mr. Williams, "has not receded from its position that Gravelly Point is the best location for a model airport for Washington. However, it does not stand in the way of the development of temporary facilities if the location be close to the business center. On the contrary, the board will support any measure that will provide airport facilities which are close to the business center, keeping always in mind that Gravelly Point should be the ultimate goal."

Next to the compromise offer, the high light of Mr. Williams' talk was a response to the charges of Senator Hiram Bingham, chairman of the joint Congressional Airport Commission, that the Board of Trade was "hamstringing" efforts of the commission in its efforts to establish an airport in the National Capital. Mr. Williams offered the opinion that the assertions of Senator Bingham were prompted by a letter sent to members of the commission by the Board of Trade aviation committee two weeks ago. This letter contained answers to objections to establishing an airport at Gravelly Point, and reiterated the opinion that the taxpayers' money of the District should not be "wasted" ing to parity, in effect keeps a free hand to build what she thinks necessary.

Japanese Attitude Stern.

Meanwhile, the Japanese attitude, as shown by talk at Grosvenor House, Japanese headquarters, is stiff. There are indications that the Japanese believe that the political fortunes of Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Hoover are bound up in the success of this conference, while those of the Japanese government are not. This is not said, but it is the inference from the insistence that, of course, if the United States and Great Britain want a three-power treaty, Japan will oblige, but only if she gets her 70 per cent of cruisers.

It begins to look as though Japan believes she can obtain a price for helping save the faces of Washington and London statesmen and prevent their retreat from becoming a rout.

There is a very tiny silver lining to the thundercloud that fills the whole sky. The expert subcommittee met today and practically reached an agreement on the question of special ships outside the categories and will be ready in a few days to report to the committee of the whole, if any. Rather like the Titanic's band playing bravely while the ship was sinking, remarked a cynic.

U. S. Willing to Wait.

The United States delegation, though naturally unhappy at the turn events have taken, has no intention of pressing for immediate adjournment of the conference. The American view is that a further period of waiting is forced on the conference and that within a week a stable government in Paris may be able to resume discussions here.

In authoritative American circles today, when the possibility of the fall of the new French cabinet was being discussed, there was sturdy refusal to admit that any such desperate course as adjournment was necessary or that the conference has yet failed in at least its minimum objectives.

Senator Reed and Mrs. Reed lunched with Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira and his wife today, but it was gathered that the occasion was social only.

Ludendorff Hits Ship's Name; Sues for Slander

Hamburg, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Gen. Erich Ludendorff's request to the Hamburg-America Line to change the name of one of its steamers bearing his name is the basis of a civil suit for slander here.

The former German army generalissimo requested the change of name on the ground that the vessel's dilapidated condition made it unworthy for it to bear the name of Ludendorff. This so incensed the vessel's first officer that he brought suit against the general for slander.

supporter of the illegal rabbinical clique."

Moses Gabrielov, "Rabbi Gluskin's right-hand man, became chairman of the Jewish community when the White Poles arrived and hanged a revolutionary."

Iwiaaski, a former merchant, is accused of being "an industrialist in whose house the searchers found correspondence with foreign Jewish counter-revolutionary organizations." Braude is a "former millionaire banker, who is furious at the Bolsheviks."

Of Rabbi Pevsner it is said "all illegal metings took place in a house belonging to him. He was the nerve center of the rabbinical antirevolutionary organization, maintaining and receiving instructions from the Fascist Zadik Lebbavitcher Rebbe, who sent instructions as to how to conduct the counter-revolutionary campaign in the Soviet Union and how to create illegal rabbinical seminaries.

Fascist Activities Are Cited.

"Such instructions were found in Pevsner's house signed by the Lebbavitcher Rebbe. The Fascist Zadik, from Riga, supplies all anti-Soviet organizations with information regarding the Soviet, and his Minsk confederates transmitted the necessary material."

Rabbinovitch is charged with being a "well known itinerant preacher and a cunning person who camauflage his poisonous counter-revolutionary sermons with examples and stories," and Gordon with being "a leader in the students' organization, who preachd that the Jewish position is no better than in Egypt or in Spain under the inquisition."

Moses Chaim Levine is accused of being "a preacher who created a rabbinical seminary in Preobrank, a suburb of Minsk. A copy of a letter addressed abroad was found in which he said: "I repeatedly requested your help. You must know that the Jewish population is suffering hunger, need and troubles. Why have you deserted us? Save us."

Schneursohn Now in Chicago.

Rabbi Joseph Schneursohn, the so-called Lebbavitcher Rebbe, who repeatedly has been mentioned as one of those with whom the Minsk Jewish leaders were in communication, and whose letters and instructions from Riga were found in the possession of those arrested, is now in Chicago.

He is the leader of the intellectual "Habat" sect of Pietists, which has many adherents in the United States. In 1927 his arrest by the Russian government and subsequent release after international protest brought him into wide public notice.

He is a descendant of a dynasty that exercised great spiritual power and influence over thousands of Jews in Russia and Eastern Europe for the past 150 years.

CHAUTEMPS OUSTED IN 292-TO-277 VOTE

French Radical Government Defeated Amid Turmoil; Lasted Five Days.

BALLOT BOXES STUFFED

Paris, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—France's new left-wing government went down to defeat today at its first appearance before the Chamber of Deputies amid a bitter attack from the opposition.

Premier Camille Chautemps, despite his pleas that it was important for France to send a delegation back to the London naval conference quickly, was beaten on the crucial vote of confidence by a margin of 15 votes, 292 to 277. These are the official figures that will be promulgated in the official journal tomorrow and were established two hours after the vote was taken.

For the third time in the history of the Third Republic the Chamber refused to give the incoming ministry a chance, and after cheering former Premier Tardieu on his entrance taunted M. Chautemps for having caused the downfall of his predecessor in order to "give the Radical-Socialist party a chance to get governmental portfolios."

The general opinion in Paris tonight was that Andre Tardieu or Aristide Briand would be called by President Doumergue to form a new government.

M. Briand, however, already has made known his disinclination to accept the premiership in any government, though willing to take the post of minister of foreign affairs.

Former Premier Tardieu therefore appears to have an excellent chance of going back as premier before the chamber that defeated him by five votes a week ago.

The voting took place amid great excitement both inside and outside the Palais-Bourbon where the chamber sits.

The balloting was carefully checked for nearly an hour, while the chamber and the lobbies seethed with excitement. Until the last minute many deputies hoped the official recount would give Premier Chautemps enough votes to slip through with and thus permit France to send a delegation to the naval conference in London tomorrow.

Several thousand lined the embankments of the Seine in front of the Palais-Bourbon to await the vote. When Premier Chautemps and his ministers emerged from the building, on their way to give their resignations to President Doumergue, the crowd shouted "Vive Tardieu"—"Long live Tardieu."

The entire cabinet called at the Elysee Palace a little before 10 p. m. and handed in its resignation. On leaving President Doumergue, M. Chautemps told waiting newspapermen, "I am leaving with rancor and bitterness toward none. I have seen grouped around me in a democratic fervor that promised victory in the near future all the best elements of the real republican France."

The official counting of the vote was extremely laborious. The deputies had stuffed the ballot boxes with more than a thousand ballots, though there were only a little over 600 deputies entitled to vote.

An intense electioneering campaign was made on behalf of the government by certain members of the ephemoral cabinet. This took place even on the floor of the chamber during the whole session, and the pressure brought to bear on waverers in the lobbies was even stronger.

The entire center and the right remained solidly behind former Premier Tardieu, who yesterday persuaded his group of 64 deputies not to give their confidence to the new government.

The tone of discussion was acrid in the chamber. When M. Chautemps asked for support in order to send a French delegation back to London, the opposition shouted him down with the retort "What about Tardieu? He was there before you stabbed him in the back." The Chautemps cabinet was one of the shortest-lived in French parliamentary history, lasting only five days.

Ortiz Rubio Promises Honest Administration

Mexico City, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—In a brief speech over the radio tonight, President Pascual Ortiz Rubio promised his countrymen honest and just government and said he would try to serve faithfully and honestly for the betterment of Mexico. It was his first public utterance since he was wounded in the jaw in an assassination attempt on inauguration day, February 5.

The president did not mention his wound or the shooting, but thanked those who had sent him messages of sympathy. He spoke in a low voice and rather indistinctly, which indicated the wound in his jaw still handicapped him.

on an airport location in Maryland or Virginia, far from the Washington business section.

The main points in favor of Gravelly Point, as brought out by Mr. Williams were: That the Department of Commerce has recommended this location; that the site will permit great expansion; being at the junction of the Potomac and Anacostia Rivers, it is easily located from the air; it offers facilities for both land and sea planes, and it is indorsed by the Park and Planning Commission and fits in with the plans for the Mount Vernon boulevard.

CONFERENCE DELAY WORRIES OFFICIALS

Chautemps Government Fall Was Expected Event in Washington.

DELEGATION FUND SHORT

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Although the London naval conference has suffered another severe shock by the fall of the Chautempe government in France and the consequent indefinite delay, officials here were not surprised at this latest development. President Hoover has been kept in touch with the situation, and the Senate has had word from Senators Reed and Robinson, and all reports have indicated that the Chautemps ministery was doomed before it began.

Under the circumstances, the only possible procedure is to wait another week or more for the French political situation to adjust itself. The return of former Premier Tardieu to London is generally expected here, but there is uncertainty as to when this may be expected.

Delay Worries Officials.

Officials here are uneasy over the continued delay, but they find consolation in the fact that the speedy snuffing out of the Chautempe government is preferable to the fall of that ministry at a later date, and the consensus was that at best M. Chautemps could only have lasted a week or so at the helm.

There is no support here, either at the State Department or in the Senate, for a three-power pact. The official British announcement that no such pact was under consideration and that no pact could be signed without France, was welcomed here by members of the Senate foreign relations committee. Incidentally, it was emphasized by Senate leaders that no three-power pact could be expected to meet with the Senate's approval in the present situation. This would be especially true, it was stated, if any semblance of a concession to Japan was found in such a pact.

One of the chief reasons for senatorial opposition to a three-power pact is based on the assumption that international ill feeling would be engendered by such an outcome of a five-power conference. Both France and Italy would resent such a development, it was stated, and the London conference might therefore defeat one of its main objects, namely the establishment of good will and confidence between the five nations participating.

Money Grows Short.

The continued delay at London presents two aspects of uneasiness, according to information reaching senators. One report received yesterday indicated that at least two of the American delegates will ask permission to return home next month in advance of the conclusion of the conference.

The question of expense is also involved. The $200,000 appropriated by Congress to defray the expenses of the American delegation will not suffice to keep the delegates and their staffs supplied with funds many more days, and the request for more funds is likely to precipitate debate as to what has so far been accomplished.

The understanding here is that Secretary Stimson and Prime Minister MacDonald will confer today with respect to the necessary procedure in view of the continued absence of the French. But the only indicated procedure is to wait patiently until France recovers from her political troubles.

Oyster Supper Is Held By District Kiwanians

An oyster supper and stag party was held last night by the Washington Kiwanis Club, at the plant of the N. Auth Provision Co., 623 D street southwest, at which several hundred members and guests were present.

Gene Ruark was in charge of the entertainment, which included vocal selections by Thomas F. Cantwell and William F. Raymond, accompanied at the piano by Robert S. Thomas; short talks by Dr. J. R. Biggs and R. G. Hunt; and the singing of old favorites by the assembled members. Anton A. Auth, the host, also gave a short address of welcome, and moving pictures were shown.

Miner Appointed King George's Aid

To Succeed Duke of York in Post of Lord High Commissioner.

London, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—James Brown, a Scottish miner who started work in the mines at the age of 12 and kept it up until he was 41, today was appointed to succeed the Duke of York, King George's second son, as lord high commissioner for Scotland. In this post he will act as King George's personal representative during the general assembly of the United Church of Scotland in May.

During a fortnight then Brown will exchange his cottage in a mining village in South Ayrshire for the Scottish royal palace at Holyrood at Edinburgh. Lords and ladies will address him as "Your Grace," a title reserved for those of ducal rank.

He will be accompanied by his wife, who used to work in the mills, and together they will act as hosts to the aristocracy of Scotland. Brown held the same post under the preceding Labor government in 1924. He is a member of Parliament.

SEVEN BUCK PLEAS SETTLED BY COURT

Replications in 18 Others Still Are to Be Argued; Dates Are Sought.

MANY CASES INVOLVED

Although Justice Peyton Gordon in District Supreme Court yesterday ruled on 7 of the 25 pleas in abatement filed in behalf of Benjamin R. Buck, who is under indictment on a charge of violating the bucket shop laws, replications to the other pleas still have to be argued, it was learned.

Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw, who handled the attack on the Buck indictment, stated that he and Attorneys Harry Barger and H. Winship Wheatley, Buck's attorneys, will confer during the week with Judge Gordon and seek to fix a date for a hearing on the replication. Mr. Burkinshaw pointed out that a number of important cases are hanging fire on points of law involved in the Buck pleas, which, he says, cover practically every point raised against any indictment returned by the October grand jury.

Included in the list of those who have attacked the indictments on the same grounds covered in the Buck case are Dexter Dayton, charged with the first-degree murder of Marjorie McDonnell, and George L. Cassidy, "the man in the green hat," charged with violation of the prohibition law.

Justice Gordon, in his opinion, held that service on grand juries is not limited to freeholders; that women are entitled to serve on inquisitorial bodies, and that persons who are employed by firms which have contractual relations with the Government are not barred from grand jury service.

The justice also ruled that there is no prejudice when a case is presented to the grand jury while a hearing on the charges is pending before a United States commissioner.

Conferences at the bench between a judge and a prospective juror concerning charges of a criminal nature against the juror do not violate the defendant's right to a public qualification of grand jurors, the Court held.

The opinion was rendered on seven demurrers filed by Mr. Burkinshaw to 7 of the 25 pleas in abatement. Each of the seven demurrers was sustained by the Court.

Larceny After Trust Charged to Realty Man

The grand jury yesterday returned an indictment charging larceny after trust against C. Marion Rhodes, said to be a real estate firm employe.

Rhodes, according to the indictment, is alleged to have collected $89 from Ella Bryan, colored, in return for which he is said to have promised to see to the refinancing of her home. Testimony before the grand jury was to the effect that the man had told the woman he was employed by one of the prominent real estate firms in the city. Officials of the firm are said to have told the grand jury that he had never worked for them.

WIFE SEES HUSBAND LEAP TO HIS DEATH

Former Capital Debutante Fails in Efforts to Halt Suicide.

MAN STRIKES HER DOWN

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Striking down his wife, who tried to restrain him, Richard Howland Jones, 35, Annapolis graduate and former naval lieutenant, leaped to his death today from a window of his eighth-story apartment in Park avenue.

Mrs. Jones, the former Louise Hill Conkey, of Kansas City, Mo., and Washington, D. C., struggled with her husband and vainly tried to quiet him.

Turning upon his wife, Jones pushed her away from him, struck her over the head with the base of a statuette and plunged through the open window. The thud of his body falling into the courtway below and Mrs. Jones' hysterical screams aroused neighbors, who summoned police.

Suffered Nervous Breakdown.

An ambulance surgeon pronounced Jones dead when he reached the body.

Jones, who resigned as assistant sales manager of the Tidewater Oil Co. of New Jersey last month, recently had suffered a nervous breakdown. He took a sea voyage to Panama, upon advice of his physician, and returned after three weeks and entered a sanitarium in New Jersey. He returned home yesterday.

He was the son of Mrs. Josephine M. Jones and the late Richard Howard Jones, of Maryland. He was graduated in 1916 from the United States Naval Academy, where he had played two years on the Navy Football Team. He served as a naval lieutenant in the World War.

The Joneses were married last April at Annapolis, Md. Mrs. Jones was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Lissant Conkey, of Kansas City, and after the death of her parents lived with her uncle and guardian, Ralph W. Snowden Hill, in Washington.

Acted Strangely on Return.

Mrs. Jones said she and her husband had spent the evening with friends and shortly after they returned to their apartment from a walk her husband started acting strangely.

She called in an elevator operator to help quiet him, she said, and he soon calmed down. The operator left and in a few minutes Mr. Jones again became violent and opened the window. Their struggle followed.

Jones had been connected with the Tidewater company for nearly five years. He formerly was their marine superintendent. He was a member of the Army and Navy Club, of Washington, and the Engineers Club.

Police listed the case as suicide.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones are listed in the 1930 Social Register and were active in Eastern social circles.

Well Known in Capital.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jones were widely known in Washington, the former having been born here in 1894, the son of Mrs. Josephine M. Jones and the late Richard Howland Jones, of Maryland. He had been a frequent visitor in Washington since his graduation in 1916 from the Naval Academy.

Mrs. Jones, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Lissant Conkey, of Kansas City, Mo., made her debut in Washington two years ago as Miss Louise Hill Conkey. She was formally introduced to a small group of State Department officials and members of foreign Diplomatic Corps by her uncle and guardian, Ralph W. Snowden Hill, an assistant to the solicitor in the State Department. Several parties were given in her honor here prior to her marriage. Before coming to Washington she had spent several years in Italy.

In addition to Mr. Hill, Mrs. Jones' relatives here include her grandmother, Mrs. Eugene Francis Hill, and three brothers, John Conkey, Ralph Conkey and George L. Conkey, all of 3227 N street northwest.

Fever Kills Wife, Son Of U. S. Legation Officer

Peiping, China, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Margaret Gorman Rupertus, of Albany, N. Y., wife of Maj. William Rupertus, second in command of the American Marine Legation Guard, died late today, ten hours after the death of her 11-year-old son, William, jr. Both deaths were from scarlet fever.

Today's deaths marked the third in the Rupertus family since its coming to Peiping last fall. A daughter, 4, died of scarlet fever in December.

WindLocks OutWoman; Firemen Adjust Trouble

As Mrs. Esten L. Grimm stepped from her third-floor apartment into the hallway at 5112 Connecticut avenue northwest yesterday, a strong breeze blew the door shut, locking her out and leaving her year-old son, Miles, alone in the apartment.

Efforts to gain entrance through use of pass keys failed, since Mrs. Grimm's key was in the lock. At length, Mrs. Grimm called No. 14 Fire Truck Co. The firemen responded, ran ladders up the front of the building to the third floor and the trouble was adjusted.

JURY SAYS DREYFUS DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Verdict Returned in Capital Substantiates Previous Finding in Mystery.

ATTORNEY WINS PRAISE

After its extensive investigation of the death of Mrs. Aurelia Fischer Dreyfus, who fell from a balcony at the Potomac Boat Club on October 20, the grand jury yesterday substantiated the verdict of the coroner's jury that her plunge was accidental.

In its report submitted yesterday to Justice Peyton Gordon, the jury paid high tribute to the efforts of Assistant District Attorney Neil Burkinshaw, who conducted the investigation. The report, signed by Leslie B. Farmer, foreman of the grand jury, said:

"To the Honorable Justices:

"We, the members of the grand jury for the January term, 1930, now in session, beg leave to report to this honorable court that we have thoroughly investigated the facts, circumstances and conditions pertaining to the death of one Aurelia Fischer Dreyfus, whose death occurred at the Emergency Hospital on October 20, 1929.

"That the members of this body began their investigation on the 3d day of February, 1930, during which time there appeared before us 41 witnesses, among whom were the members of the Fischer family.

"That a most careful consideration was made through the questioning of said witnesses as well as a visit of the grand jury to the scene of the accident which resulted in her death.

"That the district attorney's office left no stone unturned to bring before this body every witness who to its knowledge was familiar with any of the facts or circumstances.

"That after full and careful deliberation, we, the members of this body, arrived at the conclusion that the said Aurelia Fischer Dreyfus came to her death on said 20th day of October through accident.

"Respectfully submitted for the grand jury."

The investigation was ordered about a month ago after members of Mrs. Dreyfus' family, in affidavits given to District Attorney Leo A. Rover, had expressed the belief that she had been slain to silence her. Mrs. Dreyfus was the witness who testified to an alibi for Albert A. Guimares, sweetheart of Dot King, who was under suspicion of the murder of the King girl in 1923 in New York. According to her family here, Mrs. Dreyfus is said to have declared later that she was forced by Edmund J. McBrien, associate of Guimares, to testify falsely. McBrien was her companion at the boat club dance which terminated in her death.

U. S. DIPLOMAT ASKS DOMINICAN PEACE

almost all the northern part of the Dominican Republic. Meanwhile, Charles B. Curtis, the American Minister, moved to bring about a peaceful settlement between the disputing parties.

A provisional government controlled the rich country of the ancient Spanish Vega Real, north of the Sierra de Cibao. It had the support of the Dominican guardia, which disarmed the police and the government sympathizers. Santo Domingo itself was threatened by the advance of the insurgents.

The National Assembly of the Republica will meet on Thursday to consider the situation. The vice president, Dr. Jose Alfonseca, has resigned under the pressure of the antigovernment movement, and his resignation will be considered by the assembly.

Free Elections Wanted.

President Vasquez, who took refuge in the old Santo Domingo fortress yesterday, returned today to the presidential mansion. His wife, who fled to the American Legation, also returned.

The insurgent movement so far has been free from excessive violence and has not taken on the character of a revolutionary attempt to overthrow the Vasquez government. Its leaders have demanded that the presidential elections in May be free from political juggling, and the satisfaction of this demand would go far to calm them. As they control the principal cities of the republic, except the capital, they are in a position to enforce the acceptance of their will.

The leaders of the government met President Vasquez today to study the means of placating the insurgnts.

It has ben reported that President Vasquez, about whose personality much of the trouble centers, will present his resignation. He has held office for two terms and had his second term extended for two years.

The insurgents have demanded certain changes in the laws which they consider necessary for absolutely free elections in May. They also wish to preclude the reelection of President Vasquez, insisting that his candidacy would cause great dissatisfaction.

Fortress Is Manned.

The principal districts of the republic are in the power of the insurgents, who are well armed. A strong force is encamped close to Santo Domingo City. The government forces are small in number and are short of arms and ammunition. They have been ordered to concentrate in the fortress.

No military action took place today. Neither the government nor the insurgents have so far issued any proclamations, and the situation remains confused. Business is inactive.

La opinion reported that up to 4 p. m. today the government had not accepted proposals to establish a provisional government to insure freedom of the election. It said that President Vasquez had decided not to resign and that Vice President Alfonseca would reconsider his resignation.

The average rate of operations in the steel industry is now at about 80 per cent of rated capacity, a reduction of 1 per cent from last week, Dow, Jones & Co. reported today. A year ago the average for the industry was nearly 83½ per cent. The plants of the United States Steel Corporation continue at between 85 and 86 per cent, while independent plants are operating at about 75 per cent, compared with 77 per cent a week ago.

DRY AGENTS FACE MURDER CHARGES

One Oklahoma Raid Victim Dies of Bullet Wounds; Officers Held.

FIRING IS SAID JUSTIFIED

Tulsa, Okla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—While State and Federal investigators tonight expressed the belief that the shooting of two men in a liquor raid here last night by Federal prohibition agents was justified, indications were that the agents would be charged with murder in order that they may have a chance to legally clear themselves of responsibility.

George Lewis Redding, 30, at whose suburban home the shooting occurred died early today. He was shot three times near the heart. M. L. Storms, a guest in the Redding home, received a bullet wound above the heart and his condition was regarded as dangerous.

The three prohibition agents participating in the raid were held in technical custody by the U. S. marshal.

F. W. Wolverton, the agent who admitted firing the shots, said he fired after Redding had attempted to shoot him with a pistol which Mrs. Redding had pulled from under a pillow and handed to her husband.

Before his death, Redding denied he had a gun or threatened the officers. Storms also denied Redding was armed. Wolverton said he and the other agents went to the Redding home with a warrant based on a liquor sale to an undercover man.

The officer said nearly 25 gallons of whisky were found in the house. Mrs. Redding, who, the agents said, broke a quart of liquor upon their arrival, was not arrested.

Clemens Laise, president of the Tungsten Electric Corporation, a subsidiary of the Eisler Electric Corporation, sailed for Europe today to inspect sites for a proposed factory on the continent and the establishment of a foreign subsidiary. He said that inasmuch as more than 30 per cent of the company's tungsten and molybdenum products are exported to Europe it is felt a European plant is necessary.

INDICTMENT CITES CONFESSED KILLER

Baker Charged With Poisoning of New York Laboratory Night Watchman.

PRISONER IS HELD SANE

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The first indictment for any of the ten murders which James Baker, 23, told police he committed, was returned today by the February grand jury in the poisoning of Henry Gaw, laboratory night watchman, a year ago last December.

The indictment will be handed up to Judge Morris Koenig tomorrow in general sessions court.

Meanwhile, police headquarters was informed that a Detroit detective was on his way here to look into the report of the two New York detectives who brought Baker back from Michigan and who said they found a pistol and a large knife in the prisoner's possession. The Detroit official also will question Baker regarding two slayings in Detroit to which the latter confessed after his return to New York.

The calmness with which Baker confessed to murder after murder, most of which police could not find in the records, led them to doubt his sanity. So District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain called in two alienists. They found him sane.

In police line-up yesterday, Baker described in detail the murder of Gaw on the night of December 27, 1928, in the Guggenheim Laboratory. Baker had been suspected of the crime after a checkup of employes show him missing, but he could not be found until his arrest in Detroit. He was brought back here on an ndictment charging him merely with the theft of $20 from the safe.

Child Injured in Fall Down Steps.

Cult Admits That King Ben, Long Dead, Really Is Gone

Israelite House of David Drops Immortality as One of Its Teachings and Will Attempt to Carry On Despite Differences.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—King Benjamin Purnell, who died three years ago, according to State records, was pronounced dead today by H. T. Dewhirst, successor to Benjamin as temporal manager of the Israelite House of David.

The king, who taught there would be everlasting life for the Israelites and whose body has been held in state since his death awaiting resurrection, is gone forever, Dewhirst sadly admitted. With his demise an accepted fact, the lure of immortality has been effaced from the teachings of the colony.

Despite the loss of the tenet which was credited with bringing more members to the cult than any other single thing, and in the face of internal dissension which has torn the membership and property in two, the organization will attempt to carry on—divided in business affairs but together in adherence to the fundamentals of the Israelite faith.

The so-called official faction, headed by Dewhirst, will continue to operate the Benton Harbor Colony, its amusement park and allied enterprises, he said. "Queen" Mary Purnell, former consort of Benjamin, has been allotted valuable farm lands and some colony property in Benton Harbor.

"There is no personal difference between Mary and Dewhirst. The break came because Mary's followers believed she, as the wife of Benjamin, should assume temporal control. The board of trustees thought differently," Dewhirst announced.

"The faith we followed under Benjamin will be continued by all the Israelites. Benjamin was the seventh messenger. There will not be an eighth. Some time during the period of the seventh messenger and the seven angels, 144,000 Israelites will assume immortality. We can not promise everlasting life to those now in the colony. We do not know when the ingathering will be. We do contend, however, that our vegetarian diet and exemplary lives encourage longevity," Dewhirst said.

He prophesied catastrophes and a world war which will make the last imbroglio look like a sham battle, "during the period of the seventh messenger."

Dewhirst says the colony will grow rather than dwindle.

QUITTING OF RACE BY MORROW DENIED

Ambassador in Senatorial Primary to Stick, Say Close Friends.

DRY STAND CHALLENGE

Newark, N. J., Feb. 25 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Denials were entered today to the reports recently circulated that Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow planned to withdraw from the Republican senatorial primary in New Jersey. Reports that the ambassador disliked the prospect of a primary fight with former United States Senator Frelinghuysen, plus the uncertainty of winning in New Jersey as a dry, were started about two weeks ago.

One denial, which was released by Republican leaders in Newark, came from George Rublee, a lawyer and close intimate of the ambassador, who is at present in London with Ambassador Morrow attending the naval conference. The message relayed from Mr. Rublee was that "Ambassador Morrow is in the race to stick and reports of his withdrawing are absurd."

The other was made by Daniel E. Pomeroy, member of the Republican national committee from New Jersey, and another close friend of the Ambassador to Mexico.

"These reports are absolutely unfounded," said Mr. Pomeroy. "I certainly would know if Morrow intended to quit. The primary election is going to be a vote of the intelligence of the people of New Jersey. If they want Frelinghuysen, why, then, they are welcome to him."

Ambassador Morrow is to be named United States senator to serve until the man elected takes the seat for the full term, when he returns from London. Meanwhile, his place in the Senate is being temporarily held by Senator David Baird, jr.

The ambassador is considered a dry, though he has not had occasion yet to take a public stand on the prohibition question. Some Republican leaders are convinced he will have to take a dry stand in deference to the national administration and that if he does, the result of his election may be seriously challenged in view of the predominance of wets in New Jersey.

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

SCIENTISTS declare that a skull found imbedded in solid rock near Peiping, China, belonged to a young adult woman who lived a million years ago.

As the rock has been chiseled away from the rare and enlightening cranium only as far down as the eyebrows, all this information on the sex, age and habits of the antediluvian female shows that the scientific gentlemen are even better than they used to be when, casting a trained and analytic eye upon fragments of a thigh bone and a skull dug up in Java, they straightway reconstructed not only an individual, but an entire race which inhabited the earth five million years ago.

To a regular, all-round, hard-hitting scientist nowadays no bone is a problem, no fossil a puzzle. From him no buried era can keep inviolate its secrets and scandals.

On any excavated rib the freezing winds, scorching suns and embracing earth have written through the speeding centuries such legible and revealing alphabets that he can translate them into authoritative histories of vanished empires or intimate biographies of dissipated dynasties.

* * * *

FROM a petrified eyelash slightly humped in the middle the scientist crowds the desert with dinosaur and mastodon, counts the vertebrae in their pliable, prehensile but unseen spines, pictures the awkward lope with which a dozen eons since they pursued their gargantuan prey, and, estimating the reach of their necks, measures to the sixteenth of an inch how high the underbrush must have grown so that they could feed on it comfortably without having to bow their noble and untamed heads all innocent of the profaning bit and bridle with which man now masters dumb and dray-hauling brutes.

From a shinbone discovered in Patagonia, he furnishes forth a prehistoric man who, reaching the zenith of his mentality 3,000,000 years ago, boasted a skull larger than a football and a brain smaller than a newt's.

Not satisfied with this, by rebuilding the hero's imagined toes and measuring his theoretical footprints, the learned doctor tells with what dances the tropical tumbler celebrated his cannibalistic orgies and describes the amazing speed with which his amorous and servile mate went forth to pluck refreshing fruit from the banyan tree to satisfy her lord's imperious hunger.

GIVE the wise men the smallest of excavated bones and ivories to work on, and they can deduce, recreate and enliven any creature that did or did not walk, swim or fly, crawl, dance or die at any time this side of ten times ten thousand forgotten yesterdays.

To them an eon is no more than a cat nap. Their prodding fingers and penetrating glances split from fringe to fringe the carpet of concealment with which the circling ages have so industriously but vainly tried to cover up old Mother Nature's mistakes and monstrosities.

PENSION BILL IS APPROVED; ACTION IS PROMISED SOON

when computing the balance to his credit.

To illustrate the purpose of this last amendment, take as an example a retired employe who has served 30 years, and who has $3,000 in the retirement fund.

From this $3,000 he will receive annually $300, and this sum, added to the $900 that is guaranteed by the Government will give him an annuity of $1,200.

The amendment provides that instead of deducting $1,200 a year from his $3,000 stake in the retirement fund, or what remains of it, there shall be deducted only $300.

First Draft Would Deduct $1,200.

As the bill stood before it was amended, not only the $300 but the $900 guaranteed by the Government as well would be deducted.

The amendment to provide for the refund of all retirement money to persons who leave the service through no fault of their own was offered by Representative McCormack (Democrat), of Massachusetts.

In accepting it, Chairman Lehlbach said he was doing so with the understanding that he might later oppose it. He explained that before he accepts it definitely, he wants to know how much it will whittle away from the tontine fund.

When the bill is reported out it will bear the number of the Dale bill, which already has passed the Senate. This is being done so that after the House has passed the measure it may go directly to a Senate and House conference instead of being passed by the Senate.

Ramspeck Visibly Angry.

Representative Ramspeck (Democrat), of Georgia, was visibly angry when he emerged from the civil service committee room after yesterday's executive session. He was one of the three to vote against approval of the amended bill.

"It was approved over my vigorous protest," he said, "but I have not yet abandoned the fight."

In the meeting, Mr. Ramspeck proposed that a subcommittee be appointed consisting of Chairman Lehlbach and Representatives Schreiner and Jeffers to draft an entirely new bill. This bill would provide a minimum annuity of $450 and a maximum annuity of $1,500 and contributions to the retirement fund would cease beyond a salary of $3,000.

The proposal was defeated, 12 to 6.

Action Forecast by The Post.

The action of the civil service committee in approving the Lehlbach bill yesterday followed a compromise that was forecast in The Post.

Before the meeting took place, Robert H. Alcorn, chairman of the Joint Conference on Retirement, announced that his group would indorse the bill if the proposed changes were made. Mr. Alcorn had led the fight against the bill at the public hearings, and his "capitulation with honor" made it certain that the amended bill would be approved.

Like the Dale bill, the new bill provides for optional retirement after 30 years' service and at an age two years lower than at present.

Fraternity Prom Is Set for Friday

George Washington Dance Will Be Attended by School Officials.

Students of George Washington University will hold their big social event of the school year, the Interfraternity prom, on Friday at the Willard Hotel. Music will be furnished by Meyer Davis' Society Orchestra under the direction of Al Kamons.

The grand march, a traditional feature of the prom, will be led this year by Misss Edith Norris, member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, and James H. Fleck, chairman of the Interfraternity Council social committee. At the end of the march, favors and trophies will be given out by Harold Farmer, president of the council, and Geraldine Free, member of the Pi Beta Phi Sorority.

The President of the University and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin as well as the deans and their wives will be patrons and patronesses at the dance

Steel Firm Head Ends Life With Exhaust Gas

Kansas City, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Fred H. Fitch, 60, vice president of the Kansas City Structural Steel Co., committed suicide here early today by breathing monoxide gas from the exhaust pipe of his automobile. Fitch was found dead in his car which he had parked in a downtown garage he owned. A rubber hose attached to the exhaust pipe carried the deadly fumes into the closed car through a window. Friends attributed the act to financial worries.

GANGSTER IS SHOT WHILE IN HOSPITAL

Grabs Gun From Under Pillow and Fires Back as Two Assailants Enter.

ALIAS IS BROKEN DOWN

Chicago, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Already wounded, his leg trussed up with ropes and pulleys and in a plaster cast, Frank McErline, big shot of the beer business, could not properly "be taken for a ride."

So two gunmen—unaware or unimpressed by the citizen-police drive against hoodlums—tiptoed stealthily into the German Deaconess Hospital last night and blazed away at McErlane as he lay on a bed.

They spattered the walls with bullets and shot the wounded McErlane three times, then fled when McErlane drew an automatic from beneath his pillow to bark a defense that terrorized inmates of the hospital.

How the gunmen obtained entry to the hospital was as much a mystery as their identities. McErlane's nurse was out of the room. None saw them enter.

Victim Hints Revenge.

"I'll take care of this myself—if I live, and if I don't there won't be any need for it," and police, being more or less experienced in the investigation of gang shootings, pressed McErlane no further for the ideptity of his assailants.

Nevertheless, they began a casual lookout for Danny Stanton, who, they said, might be connected with a South Side beer war if such a war broke out. And so, too, they reason, would McErlane be involved.

Immediately action of police consisted of the removal of McErlane to the Bridewell Prison Hospital while the State's attorney prepared to charge him with carrying concealed weapons—the one under his pillow.

Alias Never Suspected.

McErlane called a doctor to his home a month ago. He had been wounded in the knee accidentally, he said. Sent to the German Deaconess Hospital, he gave the name of Charles Miller. Policemen called to ask about the accidental wounding and failed to recognize him.

Likewise, the detective squad which interviewed him last night after the sick room gun battle swallowed the alias with no suspicion. Today members of the gullible squad went back into blue uniforms for beat-walking.

Physicians expressed belief that McErlane would recover.

Nine gangsters passed through Chicago courts today and none of them suffered any particular wounds to their dignity. Three charges of gun-toting were nolle prossed and three were discharged on disorderly conduct charges. Three lesser lights with them also won freedom.

Two Injured as Auto Crashes and Overturns

Two men were injured when the automobile in which they were riding crashed with another car and overturned yesterday morning at Ninth and B streets northeast. The driver of one car was arrested.

David Thomas, 45 years old, of Ontario road northwest near Euclid street, suffered bruises about the legs and ribs. He was treated at Casualty Hospital. Harry Fleming, 50, of Kilbourne place northwest near Eighteenth street, was treated by a private physician for minor injuries. They were riding in a car operated by Nathaniel Wiggington, 58, of Park road northwest near Mount Pleasant street. Thomas J. Brewer, of near Thirteenth and Warren streets northeast, was arrested at the Ninth Precinct on a charge of reckless driving.

Parking Is Prohibited In Section of C Street

Parking on the north side of C street from Fourth to Sixth street northeast was prohibited under an amendment to traffic regulations approved yesterday by the District Commissioners on recommendation of Traffic Director William H. Harland. Policeman Ross Kaylor was killed on this street when his motorcycle crashed into a street car last December, and the coroner's jury recommended that parking be prohibited The street is restricted to one-way westbound traffic, but the street cars run east.

Restriction of parking on Q street northwest was extended from Twenty-second to Thirty-fifth street. Parking on the south side was banned between 8 and 9:15 o'clock in the morning and on the north side between 4 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Grand Jury Indicts Man On Charge of Perjury

George H. Orfield was indicted yesterday by the District grand jury on a charge of perjury.

Orfield is alleged to have gone before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage and to have sworn falsely to an affidavit charging two other men with stealing a suitcase which had been left in his custody. Later, it was understood the grand jury was told, Orfield admitted that he had made a false affidavit and that he had stolen the suitcase

Carr Is Indicted On Robbery Count

Alleged "Cat Burglar" Is Also to Face Charge in Maryland.

Robert W. Carr, alleged "cat burglar," was indicted by the District grand jury yesterday on charges of robbery, grand larceny and housebreaking in connection with his reputed depredations.

Carr was arrested last fall in Prince Georges County while in a taxicab. Policemen who investigated said they found the driver of the vehicle bound and gagged in a rear seat. Charges in this connection are expected to be pushed in Maryland, it was said.

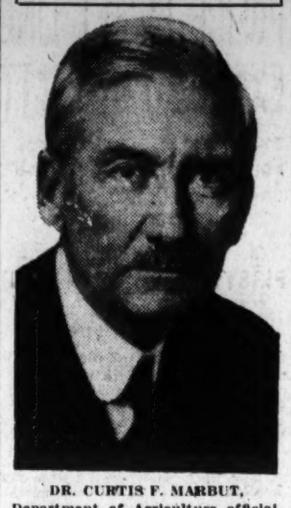
Local charges against the man, according to the indictment, allege that he took $200 from a woman's apartment on F street northwest near Nineteenth street; that he held up a man in the same building and robbed him, and that he ransacked a house on New York avenue northwest near Ninth street.

Man Seriously Hurt When Hit by Street Car

Felled by a Capital Traction Co. street car yesterday at Seventh and M streets southeast, James Windom, 59 years old, of Newton street northeast near Sixteenth street, was seriously hurt.

Hurried to Casualty Hospital in an ambulance, Windom was treated for fractures of the ribs and severe shock by Dr. Louis Jimal.

GIVEN MEDAL



DR. CURTIS F. MARBUT, Department of Agriculture official, who was yesterday awarded the Cullum geographical medal for his extensive work in classifying soils.

Dr. Marbut Gets Scientific Award

Cullum Medal Is Given by Geographical Society for Service.

Dr. Curtis F. Marbut, chief of the Soil Survey, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, United States Department of Agriculture, was yesterday awarded the Cullum Geographical Medal. The medal is conferred by the American Geographical Society in recognition of services of special distinction in the field of exploration and scientific research.

The presentation was made at a banquet of the society in New York City. Dr. Marbut's award was given for his extensive studies and classification of the soils of Europe, Africa, South America and North America. For many years he has had supervision of the soil survey work of the United States Department of Agriculture, in which more than 880,000,000 acres have been mapped for guidance of farmers.

Maj Gen. George W. Cullum, president of the society from 1877 to 1892, established the award. Among the other recipients have been Admiral Robert E. Peary, Sir John Murray, Robert F. Scott and Sir E. H. Shackleton.

Dr. Marbut lives at 1843 Mintwood place northwest.

Queen of Sweden Fighting for Life

Condition of Victoria, Long an Invalid, Still "Grave and Disquieting."

Rome, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Queen Victoria of Sweden, who has been seriously ill for some time at the royal villa here, tonight was making a brave fight for life, but her doctors said her condition is "grave and disquieting."

The presence of King Gustave and other members of her family at her bedside seem to have given her majesty new courage. A medical bulletin issued late tonight, however, reported no real physical improvement.

Dr. Axel Munthe, the queen's physician, is watching her constantly and closely. Stockholm is being kept regularly informed about her health, and no news will be given out here until the Swedish capital has had it.

Affidavit Accuses Men Of Stealing Horst Boy

Wooster, Ohio, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Charges of child stealing were preferred against Charles Hannah and Earl Conold in probate court here today. The affidavits were signed by Sheriff Clark Shearer. No date was set for arraignment. The charges accuse Hannah and Conold of stealing Melvin Horst, 4, from Orrville, Ohio, where he lived, December 27, 1928. Sheriff Shearer's action nullifies the habeas corpus procedings which were started in Akron today.

Hannah and Conold are held in the county jail here. The former has confessed killing the Horst boy and has alternately implicated and exonerated Conold. The body of the boy has not been found, however, despite search for over a year.

Three Chinese Are Slain On Ranch in California

Los Angeles, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Three Chinese, each slain by blows which crushed the skull, were found in a deserted ranch house near here today. After a preliminary examination police said they could not determine whether robbery, or an outbreak of war between Chinese tongs was the motive of the assailants.

Information of the killings came to a sheriff substation at Norwalk from the wife of a constable. Deputy sheriffs left immediately for the ranch The bodies were found huddled in one room of the house as though dragged there. Los Angeles police expressed belief that robbery caused the slayings.

WHEAT UNDER $1; U. S. AID REPORTED

Rally at Close on Rumors of Stabilization Buying Halts Midsession Slump.

LEGGE SEEKS SUPPORT

Chicago, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The tide of grain prices ebbed and flowed violently on the American markets today and the jagged curve of values paralleled the publication of reports of new Farm Board policies.

Cheaper than dollar wheat was a reality in Chicago momentarily, and on all the primary markets wheat was bid down below records that have stood for fifteen years at this season.

March futures encountered solid ground at 98¾ cents a bushel, 5 cents less than the previous minimum for the year, established yesterday, and 11 cents under the final sale of last Friday. May descended to $1.02¾.

An hour before the finish the tumult and shouting of the sellers ended and in a sensational closing flurry the flying fingers bid up wheat, corn, oats and rye to within a fraction of yesterday's close. Wheat futures ended from five-eighths cent higher to five-eighths lower; corn gained one-half to 1¼ cents, and oats ranged from one-half cent lower to five-eigths higher.

Decline Laid to New Policy.

The drastic decline at midsession was ascribed by the grain trade to the new policy of the Farmers National Grain Corporation in buying cash wheat only from affiliated cooperatives, abandoning other wheat owners to the open market. Similarly, the spectacular final boom was credited to widespread reports that the Grain Stabilization Corporation, which is authorized to deal in the futures pits, had bought three or four million bushels of May futures on the Chicago market.

Authoritative statements on the activities of the Government-sponsored corporations were not forthcoming.

Asked to confirm the published order of the Farmers National Grain Corporation restricting cash buying to cooperatives, W. G. Kellogg, general manager, refused to comment. He said he had heard of the order "in the press."

Silent on Purchase Rumors.

Nor would he issue any statement on the rumored purchases of futures by the Stabilization Corporation, rumors which stimulated the late recovery at Winnipeg.

(Associated Press.)

After a conference with President Hoover, Chairman Legge of the Farm Board called upon the "conservation business men of the country" last night to support the board's efforts to stabilize wheat prices.

The chairman declined to comment on his conversation with the President or to indicate whether the interview influenced his action in taking the board's fight to the public.

$23,000 Bracelet Taken As Thieves Miss Others

New Orleans, La., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Francis Kitchen, a carnival visitor, told police here today that last night while she was asleep in her room at a hotel, thieves entered and stole a diamond bracelet she valued at $23,000. She said her home address was the Ambassador Hotel, Chicago.

Mrs. Kitchen said the thieves overlooked $47,000 worth of other jewelry she carried with her, consisting of two diamond bracelets, three diamond rings and a diamond brooch. The stolen bracelet, she said, contained 300 stones. She was unable to determine how the robbers entered, but said the robbery occurred between 9 p. m. and midnight.

Detroit Man Dies, Victim Of Gangster Execution

Detroit, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Refusing to name his assailants or make any statement regarding his shooting, Roy Gennaro, 25 years old, died at Receiving Hospital today, apparently the victim of a gangster execution.

Gennaro was found lying in the street at 1:45 a. m. by a taxi driver. There were two bullet wounds in his back and one in his head. A search of the neighborhood revealed a .32-caliber revolver with all its chambers empty. Investigation by officers of the homicide squad revealed that Gennaro had been a bootlegger in Boston and Chicago before coming to Detroit. He had no police record here.

Quick Divorce Awarded To Wife of Jim Tully

Las Vegas, N. Mex., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Twenty-four hours after Mrs. Margaret Tully, wife of the famed hobo author, Jim Tully, of Hollywood, Calif., had filed suit for divorce here a decree was granted to her late today on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Tully's request for restoration of her maiden name, Margaret R Myers, was granted. She asked neither alimony nor court costs. She told the court her husband's "temperament was too much to bear." Tully did not contest the action.

INTERNATIONAL BANK SUCCESS PREDICTED

May Earn Place Similar to Federal Reserve in U. S., Says J. E. Reynolds.

LARGE BUSINESS IS SEEN

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Jackson E. Reynolds, one of the organizers of the Bank for International Settlements, today predicted a successful career for that institution and said that it might make for itself in world finance a place corresponding to the Federal Reserve position in this country.

Mr. Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of New York, spoke at a luncheon of the Bond Club of New York. It was his first public pronouncement on the subject.

The new bank's business, he said would be large, aside from its connection with reparations payments, and it might go a long way toward solving the gold problem. Furthermore, it should make expenses, including the 6 per cent dividend, from the start.

"Before we had the Federal Reserve Bank," he asserted, "I think we did not realize the extent to which it could and would function in the matter of settlements between various parts of the country. It has manifestly speeded up transactions of that sort, simplified them, and reduced the expenses of conducting them.

"We can very readily imagine that, as the international bank secures the confidence of the central banks and bankers, the latter may increasingly adopt it as a means of clearances among themselves. Even today the central banks themselves hold gold for each other, and the new bank may multiply the instances where this can be done because it will deal with all the central banks directly."

Mr. Reynolds thought it could be assumed that France would want the general management of the institution, and added: "She may be able to get it."

"There will probably be four fairly important positions in the bank below the general manager," he continued, "and we may anticipate that England will get one of these, Italy another, Belgium another and then possibly Germany a fourth."

Mr. Reynolds said he had heard from the press reports that Gates McGarrah, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, would head the bank.

Man Revived When Gas In Room Overcomes Him

Overcome by illuminating gas Jesse Kraft, 40 years old, was found in his room in a building on G street northwest near Sixth street yesterday, while fumes were escaping from two overhead jets and two jets of a stove.

Members of the Fire Department Rescue Squad and Dr. John Baber, of Emergency Hospital, were summoned and revived Kraft. Police reported the man had been drinking and removed him to Gallinger Hospital.

Man Injured Seriously In Plunge of 10 Feet

Plunging 10 feet from a scaffold while at work yesterday at the National City Church, under construction at Fourteenth street and Massachusetts avenue northwest, Albert Brown, 62 years old, of Fourteenth place northeast, near B street, was injured probably fatally.

Taken to Emergency Hospital by a passing motorist, Brown was treated for serious skull injuries, concussion of the brain and severe shock. Physicians reported his conditions as serious.

PLUMBER SAYS HE PAID $400 FOR JOB

chowski said, arrangements were made for a conference with the brother.

"The representative called him (Roman) into his office and told him he was on the list," Trochowski testified. Then he proceeded to give him an examination.

"'Where are the railroad stations?' he asked, and when my brother could not answer he said, 'It's funny a young fellow like you, born in Chicago, shouldn't know where the railroad stations are. That'll cost $100 more.'

"I got $400 from the bank in a cashier's check and went to the representative's home with Roman. He said: 'I don't like to take a check. Better make it currency.' But he finally put it in his pocket."

Trochowski said nothing developed and, after six months he tried to get in touch with Representative Kunz. Failing, he called the younger Kunz, he related, and was told: "Don't bother me. I got nothing to do with this business."

He then threatened to complain to Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the State's attorney. Trochowski stated, and went on to say that he finally had a call from Representative Kunz saying he could not return the money because he had given it to Edward Denemark, civil service commissioner. Kunz added, however, according to Trochowski, that he would put Roman on the force.

"I don't want him on now," Trochowski testified he replied. "I want my money back." He then told of taking the matter up with the State's attorney's office and of receiving money back from Kunz. He said he signed a receipt and found out later the receipt was for a loan. Roman and Emil Trochowski took the stand and corroborated Walter's testimony.

Commissioner Denemark then was called and denied that he had participated in the transaction. It has been the State's contention that Denemark was not implicated in the alleged conspiracy but that his name was used by the representative and his son.

Representative Kunz, who has denied the charges, and his son are expected to testify in their own defense tomorrow.

FIRST PLACE IS RAIDED

within the next two or three days it is believed that a dozen or more additional places will come in for similar recognition.

In the 1 street raid, after breaking through three heavily barred doors leading to a bar on the second floor, members of Sergt. Letterman's squad arrested Harry W. Woods, 25 years old, of the 2100 block in G street northwest, and charged him with maintaining a nuisance, not having found a drop of "evidence" in the place. At the First Precinct he was released on $500 bond for his appearance in Police Court.

Grand Jury Sets Record.

The grand jury yesterday set a new record when it returned 20 indictments under the Jones "five-and-ten" law in its report to Justice Peyton Gordon. The previous record of 13 indictments was set several months ago. Similar charges against six other persons were ignored by the grand jury yesterday.

Those indicted yesterday were Horace Rowe, Robert Eugene Rucker, Benjamin Cheservoir, James Cole, Sidney Roland Winchester, William Ellison Walters, James Francis Goddard, James L. O'Donnell, Morton Haley, Earl Maske, Robert A. Wormley, James A. McGowan, Robert Henry Battle, John James Smith, Alphonzo Baylor, John Henry Johnson, William V. Greer, William Washington, and Charles Robinson. Those against whom similar charges were ignored were Thomas Snowden, Robert Johnson, John Hogue, Lather Hogue, Mildred Wright, and George Hood.

Lincoln Shooting Witness Is Dead

Union Veteran, Thought Last urviSving Man Who Saw Assassination, Dies.

Berryville, Ark., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Henry C. Harris, 90-year-old Union veteran of the Civil War, believed to have been the last surviving witness of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, died at his home here today. An accidental fall a month ago hastened his death.

Mr. Harris, who served with the Forty-fourth Missouri Infantry at Gettysburg and Antietam, was paralyzed in one arm as the result of a wound in the latter battle. When he was visited by friends shortly before his death he told of the slaying of the martyred president. His voice was barely audible.

The veteran said he was seated about 35 steps from the presidential box in Ford Theater when John Wilkes Booth entered and shot the President. He said he saw Lincoln carried from the box and watched a huge throng pursue Booth, but did not join the chase.

Sentence of Fireman Confirmed.

The District Commissioners yesterday confirmed the sentence of the Fire Department Trial Board fining Private W. W. Pitsenberger $100 for being under the influence of liquor. Charles W. Darr, his attorney, told the Commissioners in an appeal that there was considerable conflict in the testimony at the trial at which Pitsenberger was convicted and asked that the sentence be set aside.

MRS. ABRAM SIMON.

Wife of District Rabbi Is Honored

Mrs. Abram Simon to Represent U.S. at Convention of Union at London.

Mrs. Abram Simon, wife of the rabbi of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, has been signally honored by being chosen the American representative to present a paper at the third convention of the World Union for Progressive Judaism on July 17 at London, England, it was learned yesterday.

The union is composed of national Jewish congregations and rabbis of America, England, France, Germany and India. Mrs. Simon was chosen as the speaker from America because she was the founder and first national president of the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, which is attached to the reform temples and now has a membership of 50,000 women.

Mrs. Simon's subject will be "The Modern Jewish Woman in the Synagogue and in the Community." Rabbi Simon is one of the five American representatives of the union.

MAN SERIOUSLY ILL AFTER POISON TALE

James Guard Tells Police He Swallowed Four Tablets; Taken to Hospital.

GAVE BALTIMORE TALK

James R. Guard, a 38-year-old insurance solicitor living in Baltimore, Md., last night walked up to Traffic Policeman R. H. Denbroeder, stationed at Eleventh and F streets northwest, and calmly told the officer that he had taken a quantity of poison.

The officer immediately hailed a taxicab and drove to Emergency Hospital. Physicians there applied hasty first aid remedies and then ordered the man held for observation. They told police Guard's condition was regarded as very serious.

Questioning of Guard elicited the information that business worries had caused him to become despondent. He is said to have told police he had taken four tablets about an hour before he approached the officer. Guard gave his address as Orkney Courts, Baltimore, Md. At that address it was learned that he had ben in this city several days. No one there was acquainted with his Washington address.

Man Guilty of Criminal Assault.

Clarence Norris, 47 years old, was found guilty by a criminal court jury yesterday in connection with an assault last December 18 on a 9-year-old girl. The jury did not recommend the death penalty, and the man faces a maximum sentence of 30 years. Assistant United States Attorney James R. Kirkland represented the Government.

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently.

A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headaches, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to every one. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.

"Pape's" acts 3 ways to check a cold

You must do three things to check a cold. Any doctor will tell you that. But you need take only one preparation to do the work.

All symptoms of a cold are banished by Pape's Cold Compound. It reduces inflammation and swelling of the nasal membranes. So breathing becomes easy; discharge stops; the head is cleared. "Pape's" encourages perspiration. So that achy, feverish, weak feeling due to inactive pores is quickly banished. "Pape's" kills cold germs; opens the bowels and removes germs and the acid waste of colds from your system.

Almost before you know what is happening, Pape's Cold Compound has you comfortable, happy again. Appetite is encouraged; digestion assisted. Generous packages 35c all drug stores. Insist on "Pape's".

—What Price— LAZY APPETITE

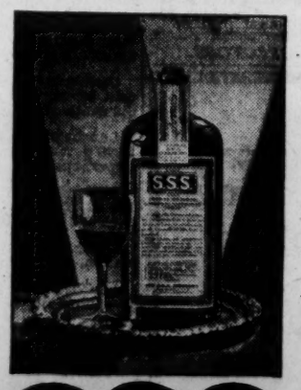
"Dear, are you not glad you followed my suggestion when I urged you to try S.S.S. for your lost appetite?"

HAVE you an indifference or loathing for food, or do you really enjoy mealtime?

Fads and fancies come and go. We must be reasonable. You can't afford to wreck your body by "killing" an appetite given you by Nature to nourish your body.

You must really enjoy your meals and assimilate them to restore the waste of the body. Don't expect a strong, sturdy body and a keen mind to carry on if you do not enjoy your food. It just can't be done. Friends, happiness and business success may depend on a keen appetite.

Many thousands have turned to S. S. S. when the appetite signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy . . . purely vegetable. Easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. It will do much to restore the natural appetite. It will not act instantly, but, be assured, when taken according to directions, it will usually bring back your desire to eat and enjoy your food. This you well know is the basic step for health. Simply reason it out for yourself and you will agree that it is the practical way.



S.S.S.
Builds Sturdy Health

And remember, S.S.S. will help you get your blood-cells back up to normal. Then that sluggish, let-down feeling and skin troubles will disappear. You should sleep soundly. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

SENATE TO RESUME FREE LIST CONTESTS

Major Battles Loom When Discussion Is Renewed on Duties Today.

CRUDE-OIL LEVY HINTED

(Associated Press.)

The Senate completed action yesterday on virtually all individual amendments to the tariff bill's rate sections and paved the way for a renewal today of many major contests over articles on the free list, which certain senators would make dutiable.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee announced after the day's session that he expected the free list to be reached today, and that previous votes denying duties on hides, leather, shoes, shingles and lumber would be opened to reconsideration then instead of waiting for the bill to be returned to the Senate from committee on the whole.

An agreement was reached during the day to consider on Friday proposals for a tariff on crude oil and refined petroleum products, including gasoline, which are advocated by independent oil producers. These commodities also are now on the free list.

Nine amendments to the silk, papers and books and sundries schedules were adopted yesterday, and two were rejected.

Senator Blaine, Republican independent, won approval of an amendment to restore the present duty of 60 per cent on silk wearing apparel of all kinds not specifically mentioned in the bill. The measure proposed an increase to 65 per cent.

The Wisconsin senator also had approved an amendment to cut the bill increases on silk pile fabrics known as velvets, but allowing for higher levies than now in force. It would make the wholly cut or wholly uncut pile fabrics dutiable at 65 per cent, instead of 70 per cent as in the House bill and 60 per cent at present. The partly cut fabrics would be dutiable at 70 per cent instead of 75 and 60 per cent, respectively, in the bill and present law. Mr. Blaine lost, 40 to 37, a third proposal to eliminate a 5 per cent increase in the existing duty of 60 per cent on all manufactures of silk not specifically provided for.

An amendment by Senator George (Democrat), Georgia, to restore the present rate of 45 per cent on bleached, dyed, colored or plied spun silk yarn, was approved, 36 to 35. The bill proposed 50 per cent.

Man's Fatal Plunge Declared Accidental

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury in the case of Ivar Goldsborough, 54 years old, yesterday at the District Morgue. Plunging 25 feet from the operator's booth of a crane at the navy yard on Monday, Mr. Goldsborough was killed instantly. An autopsy revealed that while he was suffering from heart disease, he did not suffer an attack before he fell from the booth.

Another inquest in the case of Ralph Coleman, 48 years old, of Eighteenth and S streets northwest, resulted in a verdict that his death was due to injuries suffered in a "hit-and-run" automobile collision on Sunday. Coleman died Monday at Sibley Hospital. He was riding in a cab driven by Preston Wheeler, which was struck by a "hit-and-run" car at North Capitol and Rhode Island avenue.

Eight Hurt When Gale Hits Town in Missouri

Trenton, Mo., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Eight persons were injured, none seriously, by a windstorm of near-tornado proportions which visited Trenton last night. The small twister struck the business section, tearing off roofs and crashing window panes.

All the injured were among 50 guests at a dance in the Masonic Hall. A sudden gust of wind blew in nearly every window in the building. Carl Evans may lose the sight of an eye from a glass splinter which struck him.

Ontario Streams Rise While Anxiety Grows

Toronto, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Apprehension among the residents of Southern Ontario increased today as rivers and streams, already swollen by thawing snow and ice, rose to new levels after rains last night and this morning.

The worst conditions prevailed in the Grand River Valley. Dunnville, one of the most populous communities in the Niagara Peninsula, was inundated today when an ice jam piled up at a dam. Factories and schools had to be closed, the persons trapped in their houses had to be removed in boats. Train schedules in and out of town were cancelled. Three deaths have occurred thus far.

U. S. COURT REFUSES TO HEAR SNOOK PLEA

Coed Slayer to Now Seek Execution Stay From Ohio Governor.

DEATH SET FOR FRIDAY

(Associated Press.)

The Supreme Court declined yesterday to review the conviction of James Howard Snook for murdering Theora Hix, and, unless other recourses are more successful, the former Ohio State University professor will be executed on Friday night.

Word of the Supreme Court decision quickly reached his counsel at Columbus, Ohio. They intend to seek a stay of execution from Gov. Cooper of that State and also to ask the State Board of Clemency to review the conviction.

The decision of the highest tribunal was announced by Chief Justice Hughes. The order of denial was issued at once and hastened to the Ohio Supreme Court. It will close the doors of the courts to Snook unless he can obtain a writ of habeas corpus. Lawyers here, familiar with the practice in the Federal courts, predicted today that the Federal district court would not entertain habeas corpus proceedings in view of the refusal of the highest court to grant a review.

Snook contended that he had been deprived of constitutional rights in his trial because two statements, one of which he claimed had been obtained by brutal third-degree methods, and another alleged confession to newspapermen, had been admitted as evidence at the trial. He also asserted that the jury had been intimidated by outbursts from spectators in the courtroom during the trial; that he had been forced to trial when not ready; that he had been tried by a jury to which he had objected.

By suspension of its rules the Supreme Court Monday permitted Snook to file his position for review, and each justice carefully studied the grounds urged for setting aside the verdict without finding sufficient substance to warrant a review by the court.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Advised of refusal of the United States Supreme Court to review the case of Dr. James Howard Snook, convicted murderer of Theora Hix, counsel for the former Ohio State University professor said late today they would seek a stay of execution from Gov. Cooper of Ohio and would ask the State Board of Clemency to review the conviction. Dr. Snook is scheduled to be executed the night of February 28.

Canadian Pineapple Pie

Between the crusts of this pie is a story that dates back to olden days when sailing vessels plied the seas from England to the Indies and brought home silks, spices and the rare, exotic fruit—pineapple.

"So expensive it was," says the originator of this recipe, "that it was served only to guests one wished to honor. And thus it became the symbol of hospitality—beds in the guest rooms had pineapples carved on the posts and some houses bore the symbol above their doorways. That is why, centuries later, pineapple pie is our company pie." And how good it is in a crust made with Crisco—a shortening that tastes sweet and fresh just as it comes from the can!

1¼ cups grated canned pineapple
¼ cup pineapple juice
¼ cup orange juice
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons Crisco
2 egg yolks beaten light
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons pastry flour

Mix flour, salt and sugar. Add to beaten egg yolks. Add fruit juices to this mixture and cook until thick in double boiler. Remove from fire and add grated pineapple. Line pie-plate with Crisco pastry. Brush with melted Crisco to prevent soaking. Pour in the filling. Moisten edges of crust with water. Cover with pastry and bake 10 minutes in hot oven (450° F.). Reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) and continue baking for 25 minutes.

These recipes have been tested and approved by cooking authorities. You will get best results by using level measurements and the ingredients specified.

Flakier Pie Crust

with two time-saving suggestions

Pie crust made with Crisco is flakier, more tender. Sweeter-tasting, too, because Crisco tastes so sweet and fresh—yes, actually sweet and pure all by itself!

To save time in pie-baking, you can keep this pastry dough, already mixed, in the ice-box for a week and bake a crust just when you need it. It will stay sweet, because Crisco itself stays sweet. And the thorough chilling will make the crust even flakier than usual.

Or you can keep unbaked pastry-shells in the ice-box always ready for use. Then when you want a pie, just put in your filling, pop the pie into the oven and bake.

2 cups flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
⅔ cup Crisco
6 to 8 tablespoons cold water
¾ teaspoon salt

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut Crisco in well with two knives. Add water gradually and only enough to hold mixture together. Roll ⅛ inch thick on floured board. For baked shell, take half of recipe and cover inverted pie-plate. Leave enough dough to fold back to make a firm edge. Prick well with fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 minutes. For two crust pie, bake at 450° F. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake until filling is done.

Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Co.

Criss-Cross Apple Pie

Up in the Kentucky hills is an old hotel famous for its pies. Every day the menu lists three kinds: "Open, criss-cross and covered—all apple."

The criss-cross pie was so different and so good that I brought the recipe home. The pie crust, of course, was Crisco crust. For while their ice supply was uncertain, their pie crusts couldn't be. They knew that Crisco always stood for sweetness and freshness in shortening (and pie crust) no matter where the thermometer stood.

6 large apples sliced thin
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon flour (pastry)
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons Crisco

Line pie-plate with pastry. Brush with melted Crisco to prevent soaking. Place a layer of apples in crust, sprinkle with part of mixture of dry ingredients. Dot with bits of Crisco. Proceed with similar layers until crust is filled, ending with sugar mixture and Crisco on top. Cover with narrow pastry strips to form lattice work. Moisten ends of latticed pastry first so they'll stick to lower crust. Follow baking directions for double pie crust in standard pastry recipe.

. . . CRISCO was used in the Cooking School recently conducted by this Paper

Mrs. Frances Northcross, [illegible] Post Cooking School, made a point of modern methods in cooking. Naturally, then, she uses Crisco, the modern shortening. Not only is Crisco easy to use; in addition, it helps you secure better, surer results.

MACDONALD'S FAILURE.

Prime Minister MacDonald's ill-starred attempt to whisk through an international naval agreement has met with one shock after another. The failure to obtain a preliminary understanding among the powers made it improbable from the beginning that Mr. MacDonald's visionary scheme would succeed. Some of the setbacks have developed from this lack of an advance understanding. Others, like the legislative paroxysm in France, were unforeseen, but they have been just as damaging to the conference. The delegations have been reduced to the humiliating position of "officially declaring that they are still optimistic," when the whole world is award that the conference is moribund.

Now comes the downfall of the Chautemps cabinet, in circumstances which reveal the immovable determination of France to prevent what it believes to be an Anglo-American plan for joint naval supremacy. Ramsay MacDonald lost no opportunity to convince the nations that he had made a special bargain with President Hoover in Washington, looking to "joint policy" and "joint action" by Great Britain and the United States in the application of the Kellogg pact and in readjusting the strength of the principal navies. Later Mr. MacDonald sought to remove the impression that Great Britain and the United States were working together on a special program at the naval conference, but France remained unconvinced.

In the midst of the conversations at London Premier Tardieu was upset by a freak vote on a minor budget question, and Camille Chautemps, Radical-Socialist leader, was called upon to form a cabinet. He appropriated most of the Tardieu program, garnished it with vague suggestions of reduced taxes, and asked for a vote of confidence. He was beaten. His brief, inglorious reign as chief of government lasted five days. There being no French government for the time being, there is no French delagation to the naval conference.

The man who is entitled to take command of the French ship of state at this juncture is Andre Tardieu. There is little doubt that he will soon regain his place as premier. His resumption of power will mean that France has determined to seize the opportunity to declare its naval independence. Instead of accepting whatever Ramsay MacDonald prescribes, France has given notice that it is building and will complete the construction of a submarine force capable of holding the British navy at bay. The opening is afforded by the London Naval Conference.

It will make no difference now whether Mr. MacDonald calls off the conference or shuffles along in the hope of obtaining a few minor agreements for the sake of concealing the major failure. The conference has broken down in the one essential—the reduction of naval power. Americans care little for the trifling agreements that may be made, such as the "humanizing" of submarine operations and the postponement of battleship replacements. The one thing expected and promised is not forthcoming. Cruiser parity with Great Britain, through an adjustment that would reduce naval expenditures, is now impossible. If parity should be obtained it will be through enormous extra cruiser building by the United States. Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy have not offered to scrap a single ton of any kind of warvessel.

The nations were not jealous and uneasy a year ago. The United States was reaching cruiser parity with Great Britain without any excitement on either side. France was not aroused by British superiority at sea. Italy was not quarreling with France over naval parity. Japan was not demanding increased proportionate strength against the United States. The calling of the naval conference in the circumstances was unadulterated folly.

No doubt an effort will be made to place the blame for the breakdown upon France. It does not belong there. It rests squarely upon the shoulders of J. Ramsay MacDonald. He stirred up this mess, and made an agreement impossible by spreading the idea that he had made a virtual alliance with the United States. There was not a vestige of foundation for this false report. The United States can not make an alliance with any nation. It wishes to remain the impartial friend of all nations. If the American delegation can now extricate itself from London, with all nations as friendly toward the United States as they were before, it will be fortunate.

DEFECTIVE GRAND JURIES.

The annual report of the Baltimore Criminal Justice Commission in its seventh-year effort shows that 601 fewer serious crimes were committed in Baltimore in 1929 than in the previous year. In 50 per cent of crimes reported there were arrests. Convictions resulted in 87 per cent of cases tried. "In promptness of procedure," says the commission, "the courts and district attorney have operated with a celerity that leaves little to be desired."

The commission, seeking to make comparison with judicial processes and punishment of crimes in other cities, found few where statistics were obtainable. It did, however, find it possible to institute comparison with Washington and New York.

Out of 200 selected cases in Washington, 77 per cent were tried in three weeks after arrest, but only 1 per cent were disposed of in that period. In Baltimore there were 30 per cent more convictions than in Washington. In New York there were convictions in but 32 per cent of cases in which there were indictments for felonies, while in Baltimore 85 per cent of such cases resulted in conviction.

Baltimore has perfect teamwork by the police department, the district attorney's office and the courts. It would seem that here is a subject which should receive extensive study by the people of Washington, as well as by the officials charged with the duty of crime prevention.

One of the grave troubles in Washington is the frequency with which the court's time is taken up with demurrers to indictments. Weeks are consumed in investigations, the time of witnesses is taken from their business and the cost of witness fees, marshals' fees, jurors' fees, &c., is a heavy draft on the Treasury as well as on the taxpayers. The demurrers are frequently sustained because some man or woman sat on the grand jury whose name was placed in the jury box when he was disqualified, a fact which the jury commissioners should have known, as the District code makes it a positive mandate that the three jury commissioners shall draw only a good and lawful man who has never been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude.

The jury commissioners are forbidden to sit more than five days in each month. They must pass on many names in order to keep 600 names in the box, from which petit and grand juries are drawn constantly.

Only recently the work of six weeks of grand jury investigation was thrown out upon the discovery that a Government employe was a grand juror. In most jurisdictions jury commissioners receive sufficient pay to give their entire time to the work. The drawing of jurors in large cities requires more time than in a small country district. However, the vitiation of grand jury indictments in other large cities on the ground of incompetent jurors on the panel is a rare occurrence.

The pressing need in Washington is to revise the law relating to jury commissioners. The five days a month limitation should be removed. The commissioners should receive a salary sufficient to enable them to give all their time to the work. The judiciary committee of the House of Representatives should look into this situation with a view to amending the present inadequate law.

WHEAT GOES DOWN.

Wheat prices in Chicago have dipped below $1 and, even though the Federal Farm Board expresses itself as unperturbed over the situation, there is widespread apprehension. What has brought about the depression? Last fall it was expected that a shortage of wheat would develop during the winter, and farmers were counseled to hold their crops for better prices. But the shortage has not materialized. A large surplus is on hand and a new harvest season approaches. The surplus is apparently a factor in the present price depression.

Not long ago the Farm Board undertook to "peg" the price of wheat through the Farmers National Grain Corporation. That body has been buying wheat at $1.18 and it has on hand at the present time between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 bushels. The depressed price will influence some farmers to join cooperatives, so that they may be sure of unloading their forthcoming crops at the $1.18 figure. As Chairman Legge pointed out on Monday, the fact that wheat has fallen should not worry farmers who, if they are members of cooperatives, can pass their crop along at $1.18. But, although the farmer does not have to worry, the present situation is not encouraging to the taxpayer. Unless there is a drastic turn in the market, some one is bound to be left holding the bag, and that some one is the Farm Board and the Treasury.

It is unreasonable even to suggest that all the farmers of the United States eventually will be enrolled as members of cooperatives affiliated with the Farm Board. As the cooperative movement expands, the pressure to remain independent will increase. The larger the surplus stored away by the cooperatives against better prices, the more it will have a depressing influence on prices. The board has not been able to "peg" the price of wheat at $1.18, and although the price may move forward, there is a large supply of the staple in the hand of independents that will be unloaded long before the price reaches $1.18. The supply in the hands of American independents is as nothing compared with the foreign supply.

"Surplus" is the important consideration with respect to farm relief. The surplus has depressed the price. The surplus must be controlled if farm relief is to be made effective. When the Farm Board attempts to improve the marketing machine, a desirable undertaking of itself, and when it sets out to "peg" prices, it is contributing to building up further surpluses. At present, a situation exists that threatens to lead to major disaster for the board. It may clear away, but it will leave farm relief as much of an enigma as ever.

THE RETIREMENT BILL.

President Hoover's opposition killed the Dale bill for civil service retirement of Federal employes at a time when it appeared likely to be reported out by the House civil service committee. He considers the bill unfair to the several groups of employes. When the prospects of a veto loomed up before this emergency measure it died a hasty death, even though it had been passed by the Senate this year and by both houses last year.

The new Lehlbach bill has come to take its place, in spite of the opposition of some groups of Federal employes. The House civil service committee has removed several causes for dissatisfaction with the bill, and it is indicated that other amendments will be sponsored by the committee on the floor after it has had ample time to study the measure. This is the most liberal piece of retirement legislation that has been considered in Congress.

Elimination of the Dale bill from the picture leaves the way open for early action on the new measure. Mr. Lehlbach's amended bill will be substituted for the Dale bill in such a way as to bring it up for early action in the House. Then it will be sent to the Senate for concurrence. President Hoover's indorsement of this more liberal plan gives assurance that he will sign it.

The time is opportune for enactment of a comprehensive retirement plan. The Senate should cooperate with the House in passing the perfected bill.

SQUARING UP THE DISTRICT

From the Columbus Dispatch.

The movement to restore the District of Columbia to its original form and area seems to be gaining ground. It was a short-sighted blunder on the part of Congress, in 1846, to pass the retrocession act by which part of the District lying west of the Potomac was given back to the State of Virginia. The senators and representatives then in Congress, if they had stopped to think seriously at all, should have been able to foresee the time when the whole original tract of 10 miles square would be little enough for the Capital of the United States of America.

Now that the Capital Park and Planning Commission is getting well started on its task of adding beauty and stateliness to the city and giving it fitting surroundings, the mistake of cutting off so large a slice of the District is keenly realized. There are those who claim that Congress had no constitutional power to make this retrocession, and if the matter had been brought before the Supreme Court at the time, it seems quite possible that such would have been its decision; but after 84 years of acquiescence, it is not to be supposed that the court would now invalidate the act.

This does not mean, however, that there is no way to reverse the result of that hasty and unwise act. The inhabitants of the part that was thus ceded away seem willing, for the most part, to return, and it is suggested by some of those most active in the restoration movement that the General Assembly of Virginia, if a respectful request were made to it by the Federal Government, would cede the territory in question back again, as a tribute to the memory of George Washington, the most distinguished historical character not only of Virginia but of the whole Nation.

If Congress were to make a unanimous request of that character to the Virginia General Assembly, backed, as it would be, by public sentiment all over the Nation, it seems quite unlikely that the Old Dominion would hold back. As a matter of legitimate and commendable State advertising, consent would be of great positive value, while refusal would be nothing but a dead loss.

To try to get this land back by a suit in the Supreme Court, however, as some are suggesting, would most likely create no little irritation in Virginia, instead of good feeling, and would in all probability result in an adverse decision anyhow. Virginia should be treated with complete respect and courtesy in the matter, for even the entire area of the original District, if restored, is not large enough for the program of the Park and Planning Commission, and Virginia's friendly cooperation, as likewise that of Maryland, is essential to the creation of appropriate surroundings for the Capital of our great Republic.

It is to be hoped that the matter will be pushed wisely, as well as energetically, that it may be consummated in time for the celebration of the two-hundredth anniversary of Washington's birthday, in 1932. On a matter such as this, so far as congressional action is needed, Congress should show its essential patriotism, in spite of existing divisions, by coalescing into one solid bloc, without a single member missing.

ARGUING WITH JANET.

Well I know that I should be
Stern and dominant and strong.
None should ever bully me
Into doing what is wrong.
With sufficient strength of will
I should combat notions strange
But I find my views are still Subject to a sudden change.

Not with adults am I weak.
Soon or late the grownup stops
And though heatedly we speak
One of us the quarrel drops,
But when Janet wants to do
Something which I have denied,
When the argument is through
Her's is the victorious side.

Nothing daunts her; nothing checks
Her determination stout.
Talk about the weaker sex!
She could wear a giant out.
No persuasion, threat or frown
Can compel her tongue to cease,
Not until she's talked me down
Will she grant a moment's peace.

Mother says: "Now you be firm,
Make that wilful child obey,
Don't you let her twist and squirm
Round you till she gets her way."
Though I know that I am right
When an argument begins,
I have grown too old to fight,
Little Janet always wins!

Enemies Are Grown-Up Small Boys Who See Things in the Dark.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

SOME years ago I met a man who seemed to possess every admirable quality except modesty.

We discovered in one another tastes and aversions similar to our own, and had laid the foundation of a pleasant friendship when an incident of little importance drove us miles apart.

I cashed a check for him, and the check came back marked "No account."

He redeemed it two weeks later, and made profuse apologies and explanations, but the mischief had been done.

In that period of two weeks my prejudiced imagination had been busy—picturing his want of modesty as the most insufferable conceit—questioning the sincerity of everything he had done—doubting the truth of everything he had said.

Of course he had not changed in any particular.

It is possible that he gave the check without intention to deceive or defraud me, and it is certain that every admirable quality he once possessed remained unchanged.

I thought I despised and disliked him, but the truth is I no longer hold any opinion concerning him.

He had disappeared from my mind, and in his place was an imaginary man, created by my own prejudice, and it was this imaginary man I so cordially abominated.

I relate the experience now because the passing years have taught me a little wisdom and I know that similar experiences are common to men and women who are guided by prejudice rather than reason.

It is not too much to say that no human being hates another.

Many wise men have said that enemies are people who do not understand one another; but the truth is, enemies are imaginary.

We call a certain man an enemy, but he is an ordinary man very much like ourselves, possessing good qualities to offset the bad and on the whole is the kind of fellow we enjoy.

The enemy we hate, and call by this harmless fellow's name, does not exist except in our imagination, and we have created him out of our own prejudice and malice.

What, then, causes our enmity?

It is caused by our own ignorance.

Prejudice blinds us, so that we are incapable of seeing the truth, and in the darkness of our ignorance the spirit of malice constructs a lie for us to hate.

To confess enmity is to strip yourself of dignity, for it is a confession that you are tricked by your own imagination.

IMA DODO, THE TOMATO FESTIVAL BRIDE.

"WANTED—Bride and groom for dignified public wedding Dania Tomato Day festival, March 6. All expenses paid. L. A. Packer, Dania, Fla."—Florida Times-Union.

* * * *

"Oh, goody, goody!" cried Ima Dodo as she came bouncing into the front room to her boy friend. "Now we can do it."

"Do what?" grasped her boy friend.

"Get married!" cried Ima, all aflutter, "and without it costing a nickel."

"How and where?" demanded the boy friend.

"At a tomato festival," said Ima, showing him the foregoing advertisement.

"A tomato festival!" exclaimed the b. f.

"Sure," crooned Ima, leaping into his lap.

"What's the idea? Do I look like a tomato?" asked the b. f.

"Not very much, but you don't have to. The advertisement don't say nothing about you having to look like a tomato. You can get married no matter what vegetable you look like."

* * * *

"It's a great outlook," sneered the b. f. "Are you sure you've read through all the classified ads. Maybe you could dig up a chance to get a nice wedding at some onion growers' picnic or an eggplant producers' ball or something."

"You're always so funny," lisped Ima. "This is our big chance. Think of a big wedding and all expenses paid!"

"Who's gonna pay 'em?"

"I dunno," admitted Ima. "Probably some nice man who likes tomatoes."

"Sliced or stewed?" demanded the boy friend.

"He don't say," replied Ima.

* * * *

"Sometimes I can't make out whether you are as dumb as you seem or dumber. Why should a man who likes tomatoes pick on us? And suppose we ain't the kind of tomatoes he likes?"

"You're just putting me off again," insisted Ima, weeping a little.

"Now lets get at the bottom of this opportunity for a lovely wedding at the Dania Tomato Day Festival," urged the lad. "Don't you understand why that guy wants a bride and groom for that wedding?"

"He don't say."

"Of course he don't say. It's all perfectly clear. It's for advertising purposes. It's a press agent stunt to be pulled off as an entertainment feature of this here cucumber carnival."

"Tomato," corrected Ima.

"All right. The tomato growers are to have a big clam bake or something and the idea is that after all the tomatoes have been inspected and the planting and care of this particular vegetable has been discussed at length, we are to march out before the yokels and be married to exploit the 1930 tomato crop."

"Is that it?" asked Ima.

"I can see the newspaper headlines now...."Tomato Carnival Romance'....'Touching Love Match Solemnized in Vegetable Kingdom'....'Pair Plight Troth in Interest of Bigger and Better Tomatoes.'"

"Would it be like that?" asked Ima.

"There would even be pictures of us with the title, 'Happy Tomato Pair Start on Honeymoon Tour of Catsup Factories,'" concluded the boy friend.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Charges That Doctors and Others Conspire to Maintain High Cost of Medicines and Medical Treatment.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Much has been written and said regarding the high cost of living; much may also be said about the high cost of being sick. The cost of even ordinary medical treatment is unnecessarily higher than it should be, especially if the patient has to go to a hospital for even a short time. Physicians have a schedule of prices from which they think it unethical to deviate. Some hospitals, too, make the cost much higher than the nature of the ailments warrant—especially if they find the patients' families can pay. In families whose resources and income are meager sickness requiring medical attention or hospital treatment is a real calamity. When a member of a family is ill the other members are in no condition to haggle over prices.

In some sections of the country people have to depend largely upon proprietary medicines. Yet of late years the sale of these has been restricted. There is a movement to restrain druggists from suggesting medicines to cure or to appease certain complaints. The argument is that, in so suggesting, druggists are exercising the prerogatives of physicians. Doctors in some State Legislatures have been able to have laws passed making it almost prohibitive for venders of patent or proprietary medicines to tell what such medicines are good for. A merchant who has these goods in stock is almost afraid to advise a customer to buy them.

Again, druggists may sell eyeglasses, but may not permit the customer to test his eyes with any sort of instrument in order to learn which number of lens he requires.

There are many things other than prohibition laws which appear to abridge the rights and personal liberties of the American individual.

A Joker in the Provision for the Extension of Employes' Service—Really Another Tax.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It appears that there is at least one vital element, in the "rewards" for retirement, that has been overlooked. That is, after serving the 30 years specified plus the years not counted, the postmen, navy yard workers, Government printers, pressmen, engravers and departmental workers are granted the great privilege of having their term "extended" two to four years. Thus, with a salary of $1,800, the employe pays annually $56. Then he forfeits his "fund" of $1,000 receivable as "pension."

This makes him pay $1,056 for the privilege of working. The Government in this manner gets this man's services for the small sum of $544 per annum. And yet, with all of the millions of dollars paid in by the employes into this "fund," about which they have nothing whatever to say as to its distribution or management, there has not been a word said about rewarding these employes for their long service at meager pay—for that is all that the old-timers did receive—and they are the retired ones who sadly need a substantial increase in their dole.

WILLIAM S. WAUDBY.

What Better Sermon Than That Delivered by the Mynah Bird at the Zoo?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The remarks of a correspondent about nest-building birds in the big outdoor cage at Zoo Park on a spring day in February interested me very much, and I would like to call attention to the fact that a pleasant and profitable springtime hour or so can be spent in the new birdhouse at the Zoo Park on the coldest days.

My favorite among the residents of the Zoo is the Mynah bird (Graeula Javana) in the northeast corner to the right as you enter. He is good-looking, black with a bluish tinge and yellow markings, and with a vocabulary of only four words is an entertaining talker. He would have my vote as a bird favorite because he seems so civilized and well bred.

The parrots we read about may at any moment indulge in opportune bad language or shock pious old ladies with their profanity. Poe's raven with his dismal "Nevermore," is not good medicine for the blues, and starling of Sterne's "A Sentimental Journey," is silly with his repetition of "I can't get out; I can't get out." The Myna bird is not at all like these.

As you approach his cage he studies you for a while, and if your appearance suits him, you are greeted with the words "Watch out," with particular stress on the "out." This he earnestly repeats several times; and his modulation is so indescribably human that you at once realize the danger against which you are warned is not physical, but moral.

If you linger for a time in front of the cage he will finally address you with "Hello, boy," so that you may not be unduly perturbed by the earnestness of his moral admonition. The reassuring "Hello, boy," is likewise several times repeated, so that you return home better satisfied than ever that life is worth living. In fact, it is a mighty fine and well-delivered sermon.

Answers "E Pluribus Unum"—Hearings Are for Purpose of Obtaining Expert Testimony.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Concerning that would-be literary snob who scribbles under the name "E Pluribus Unum," I find my self-restraint giving way. His efforts to chirp himself into conspicuous militancy against constructive things (the hearings before the House judiciary committee on the eighteenth amendment, for example), can only be likened to the chirping of starlings atop buildings. For his benefit it may be said that hearings are for the purpose of obtaining evidence from those qualified to give it—a very elemental definition.

GENEVA DELEGATES TRYING TO END WAR

1 in Group Study Proposed Amendments to League of Nations Measure.

KELLOGG PACT INVOLVED

Geneva, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The committee of eleven jurists from eleven countries, studying how to amend the League of Nations covenant to eliminate war, got down tonight to considering the covenant article by article.

Some time was taken today in debate on procedure and limits. Lord Cecil, of Great Britain, held that the committee's work was to consider how the covenant might be amended to close the war gaps. Vittorio Scialoja, of Italy, chairman, held that the committee had been instructed to consider both whether and how the covenant should be revised.

Pierre Cot, of France, said the committee should examine the possibilities and eventual consequences of all amendments. The sole representative of the Western world on the committee, Mariano Cornejo, of Peru, believed the amendments would be drafted merely with a view to harmonize the covenant with the Kellogg treaty. The German representative, Dr. F. W. von Bulow, felt that amending the covenant would weaken it and necessitate rewriting.

Lord Cecil objected to this proposal. He asserted that President Wilson insisted while the covenant was being drawn that it was far from perfect and just a foundation whereon later the edifice of peace should be erected.

Amendments considered today propose:

A preamble containing a solemn declaration condemning recourse to war for solution of international controversies, and renouncing war as an instrument of national policy between states.

The revision of Articles XII and XIII so as to provide a pacific means for settlement under all circumstances.

Aid to Rumrunners Laid To Florida Militia Men

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Charges that National Guardsmen on Mediterranean fruit fly quarantine work in Florida were aiding bootleggers by placing the seal of the United States Government on cars of liquor and allowing it to be transported were made here late today by Chairman W. R. Wood, of the House fruit fly inquiry committee.

sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, said he had no new guards and was taking no extra precautions.

Senator Watson, who received one of the threatening letters, laughed at it. He said he had thrown it away and had thought no more of it.

The arrangement of some things in one senator's office was noticeably changed during a recent night. However, his colleagues are rather inclined to believe this is the work of some member of his force or of workers at the Capitol.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 11 and recessed at 4:50 to 11 today.

Confirmed these nominations: J. Duncan Adams, to be marshal of western South Carolina; Sawyer A. Smith, to be district attorney for eastern Kentucky; Walter C. Fetters, to be marshal for eastern Pennsylvania, and Richmond B. Keech, to be people's counsel of the District of Columbia.

Received the nomination of Marion O. Dunning to be collector of customs at Savannah, Ga.

Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, assailed President Hoover for his attempt to blame Congress for the heavy expenditure of Federal funds.

Passed and sent to the President the bill to provide $7,000,000 in loans to farmers in storm-stricken areas.

Passed and sent to the House the Tydings bill to permit Helena S. Raskob to construct a dam across Robins Cove, Queen Annes County, Md.

Lobby committee heard testimony that Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, had assisted in preparing Muscle Shoals planks for the Republican and Democratic platforms in 1928.

Increased the tariff on sponges, and agreed to consider on Friday a proposal to levy duties on crude oil and gasoline.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 2:45 to noon today.

Interstate commerce committee approved the Parker bill to place motor buses operating in interstate commerce under the supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

John W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency, appeared before the banking committee and urged that national banks be permitted to extend branch banks into their respective trade areas.

W. W. Bell, of the American Cyanamid Co., told the military affairs committee that an additional Federal appropriation of from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 was needed for the development of Muscle Shoals, but that an annual return of $4,000,000 was possible.

Adopted and sent to the Senate a resolution authorizing the appointment of a congressional committee to attend the celebration of the battle of Kings Mountain in North Carolina October 7.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

WORD from Colorado is that the Republican organization is pretty badly split, and that the Democratic chances of gaining a seat in the Senate there this fall are excellent. This is said to be one explanation why Senator Phipps, who is concluding his second term, will not run again.

Dr. Hubert Work, former chairman of the Republican national committee, Postmaster General succeeding Will H. Hayes and Secretary of the Interior after Albert B. Fall, is said to be about to throw his hat into the ring despite general Republican pessimism.

But the most interesting phase of the situation is the reason advanced for the dissatisfaction of the Colorado Republicans, and the consequent jubilance of the Colorado Democrats. This is on all fours with the construction put on the Democratic victory in the Second Massachusetts district by the Democratic orators and press agents. There may be something in it, but it is very disturbing to ordinary intellectual processes.

* * * *

IN Colorado the beet sugar growers are none too happy—just as in Massachusetts the textile workers are depressed. There are several reasons for this. In the first place, there has been world overproduction of sugar, putting the price down. Then, thousands of acres were frozen in last fall. On top of all that the Senate refused to agree with the House in voting a higher duty.

Now, it is a theory as old as politics that when people are disgruntled they vote "agin the Government." They vote against the "ins." That is the theory on which the Democrats take such satisfaction out of the Massachusetts congressional election. It is the theory on which they hope to capture a seat in the Senate in Colorado.

* * * *

BUT actually the only thing done by the Government against the interests of the Colorado sugar beet growers was that the Senate voted against this increase in duty. This duty was beaten by the coalition of Democrats and Progressive Republicans. The regular Republicans, in almost every instance, voted for the higher rate. So it would seem to the average visiting Frenchman or Britisher—despite the often stated fact that their politics are harder to understand than ours—that the logical way for the disgruntled Colorado beet growers to vote would be straight Republican.

But no. That is not the way our curious politics work. They are unhappy. Therefore vote against government. Of course they would not carry this to such an extreme that they would vote for Pat Harrison, who fought the increased duty on sugar just a little harder than any one else. Whoever they vote for will have made it clear that he stands for a very high duty on sugar. Colorado Democrats are all that way. The Colorado Democrats in the House vie with Louisiana Democrats in being for a high duty on sugar.

So perhaps that is the way this paradox works out. The disgruntled beet grower votes Democratic, and against the government, because he is sore. By so doing he calls attention to his anger just as the Iowa farmers do when they elect Brookhart. At the same time, though voting for a member of a party which nationally is against his particular interest, that individual member is committed to his local needs.

CHICAGO DEBT DRIVE TOTALS $17,000,000

Tax Anticipation Warrants in "Save-City" Campaign Find Ready Sale.

QUOTA IS $74,000,000

Chicago, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The municipal cash register has sung to the tune of almost $17,000,000 tonight at the close of the second day's sale of tax anticipation warrants in a "save the city" drive. Proceeds from the sale will be used to finance the government of the city until tax receipts, delayed by reassessment proceedings, begin to come in next July.

The 25 committees assigned to industrial groups into which the city was divided have swung into active work and the daily subscriptions were expected to mount considerably beginning tomorrow, Phillip R. Clarke, banker and chairman of the campaign, said tonight.

The civic quota of $74,000,000 needed to operate the various municipal and county governments until July, was apportioned among the 25 groups, chief of which was the bank group with $25,000,000 to raise. The banks already have raised $8,000,000.

The railroad group brought its total to $2,000,000 today by subscribing to an additional $400,000 and the mail order group added $400,000 to bring its total up to $775,000 subscribed. The largest single subscription so far designated was the $1,250,000 sent in by the International Harvester Co.

The campaign committee hoped to raise at least $50,000,000 by the end of the week in order to assure a pay day for the 43,000 city, county and public school employes, many of whom have not received a pay check for two months.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 24.

If property was acquired by gift after December 31, 1920, the basis of determining taxable gain or deductible loss is the same as it would be in the hands of the donor, or last preceding owner by whom it was not received by gift. For example, a man in 1925 bought stock in a corporation at $100 a share, kept it until January, 1927, when it was worth $120, and then gave it to his son, who, in 1928, gave it to his wife, the stock then being worth $150 a share. If in 1929 the wife sold the stock at $200 a share, the taxable gain is not $50 a share but $100 a share, the gain over the cost to the preceding owner, who did not acquire the property by gift. If the wife sold the stock at $80 a share, the deductible loss would be $20 a share.

In computing the gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of property acquired by gift or transfer in trust on or before December 31, 1920, or by bequest, devise, or inheritance, the basis is the fair market value of such property at the time of acquisition. For example, a taxpayer received in 1919 a gift of real estate having a fair market value of $10,000, which he sold in 1929 for $15,000. The original cost to the donor was $12,000. The taxable gain, however, is $5,000. If sold for $8,000 the deductible loss would be $2,000.

HOOVER PLEA FOR ECONOMY IS RAPPED IN SENATE DEBATE

was issuing a statement saying, in effect, that his warning had not been intended for Congress at all, that it was intended for the people so they would not expect the impossible of their congressmen.

This was too much for the anti-administration forces. Already giggling they held their sides and rollicked with laughter. As soon as a copy of the White House statement could be obtained Senator Glass returned to the floor and said in his subtle way that everybody had been under a misapprehension.

"The newspapers of the country were under a misapprehension this morning," he said, "and the distinguished senator from Indiana was also under a misapprehension as to the intent of the President's warning. Because of that I am very glad to have the President's statement here."

Then as a parting shot, he said:

"I think, perhaps, the President invited these exorbitant demands when he invited the industrial leaders here and launched his increased building program.

The only reason that this second session of the debate was not carried on is because Senator Norris could not get out from under the hot towels downstairs in the barber shop.

Text of Hoover Statement.

The President's statement said:

"It should be understood that the unprecedented drive now in progress for new legislation and for expansion and establishment of services which increases expenditures beyond the budget only in a small per cent originates with members of Congress or heads of the Government departments. It originates from different sections of the country itself and from various groups and organizations each variously supporting their own projects. Many of these projects are worthy and no doubt can and should be undertaken sometime over future years, especially when funds are free by completion of legislation already adopted.

"I hope that the people at home will realize that the Government can not undertake every worthy social, economic, military and naval expansion, increases in pay to Government employes, expanded pension systems or public improvement projects, and will support the members of Congress in their cooperation with the administration to hold down these new proposals for additional expenditures.

"We have enough resources to take care of the budget and such necessities as marginal cases of disabilities among veterans, and the speeding up of public works that we have undertaken to assist in employment and some proposals of lesser importance, but this is not the time for general expansion of public expenditure."

Senator Watson, incidentally, in his defense of the President's action, said that one reason governmental revenues had decreased was that because importers several months ago, thinking the House tariff rates would prevail, had hastened to get in as much stuff as possible, but now that they realize these rates would not be enacted, they were slowing down.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, said a right significant thing. He planned to cooperate fully with the economy program, he said, even to applying it to some administration bills before his committee.

In the meantime, the economy turmoil has shifted the spotlight from the tariff mix up, but at quite a political cost.

"The wise home builder should seek materials which will suffer the least depreciation" . . .

J. F. SARTORI

DEPRECIATION is the pitfall for which the home builder, as well as every other investor, must be on the lookout. If you do not guard against it when you build, the investment your house represents will soon dwindle in value. Follow the advice of such outstanding financial authorities as Mr. Sartori. Build your home to last, with permanent rust-proof materials.

Brass or Copper pipe, Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures are proof against depreciation. They cannot rust. They give repair-free service for the life of the structure.

Paying the slightly higher initial cost of these enduring, rust-proof materials invariably proves an economy in the long run.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Hoovers Feted By Hydes at Dinner Event

First Lady Is Present at Congressional Club Breakfast.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE President and Mrs. Hoover were entertained at dinner last evening by the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde. The dinner was given in the Chinese room of the Mayflower, with bright colored crotons, a rare foliage plant of the tropics, contributing a gay note to the decorations of pandanus, palms and ferns. On the table low plaques of blue hyacinths and yellow narcissus contrasted effectively with the foliage of tiny tropical plants. Fern, freesia and pansies were strewn over the cloth.

The company included Justice and Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone, Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan; Senator and Mrs. Roscoe C. Patterson, of Missouri; Representative Dewey Short, of Missouri; Commander and Mrs. George M. Ravenscroft, Col. and Mrs. Raymond S. Pratt, Col. and Mrs. Hugh C. Smith, Dr. E. B. Clements, Republican national committeeman of Missouri; Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of Missouri University, and Mrs. Brooks; Mrs. Herbert Hadley, wife of the former Governor of Missouri; Mr. and Mrs. E. Lansing Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Roberts and Miss Caroline Hyde.

With Mrs. Hoover as the guest of honor, the Congressional Club gave its annual breakfast yesterday at the Pan-American Union Building, over 500 women prominent in Washington's official contingent assembling for this fete. Its most original feature was the appearance of Rudy Vallee, beloved of radio fans, with his Connecticut Yankees as the headliner of the entertainment program.

Mr. Vallee spent his boyhood in the Vermont town from which comes Mrs. Porter H. Dale, president of the Congressional Club, and it was through her that the famous crooner came to sing before the First Lady—with the program broadcast over a national hook-up.

There were no speeches save for Mrs. Dale's brief but graceful appearance in the role of radio announcer, but there was a "speakers' table," at which Mrs. Hoover was seated, with Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, the Vice President's sister and hostess; Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, wife of the new Chief Justice of the Supreme Court; Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, wife of the Secretary of the Interior; the club officers and three former presidents, Mrs. Ernest W. Roberts, Mrs. Irvine L. Lenroot and Mrs. Lindley H. Hadley.

Besides Mrs. Dale the officers of the club are Mrs. C. William Ramseyer, Mrs. Clarence Lea, Mrs. S. Wallace Dempsey, Mrs. Louis T. McFadden, Mrs. Tom Connally, Mrs. Joe Crail, Mrs. Daniel C. Reed and Mrs. Clay Stone Briggs.

Looking out toward the other guests, seated at small tables, over low mounds of spring flowers—white lilac, yellow roses, snapdragons, daffodils, Japanese iris and blue lupin—these distinguished women made a charming group. Mrs. Hoover wore a gown of black velvet printed in small figures, with a becoming black satin hat and a fox scarf about her shoulders. Mrs. Gann and Mrs. Hughes were also in black, the latter's severe velvet gown being worn with a black hat and lightened only by a double string of pearls. The top of Mrs. Gann's costume was of black chiffon brocaded in gold.

She, too, wore a black hat and a fox scarf. More springlike in its suggestion was Mrs. Dale's beige crepe ensemble, worn with a cocoa brown straw hat, and Mrs. Ramseyer's dark green costume, with Mrs. Dempsey's gown and hat of a rich petunia shade lent color to the table.

Greeted on arrival at the Pan-American Union by the director general, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, and Miss Blanche Wingo, Mrs. Hoover was escorted to her place with pretty ceremony by Mrs. Dale, Mrs. Ramseyer conducting Mrs. Gann, who had the place at the left of the club president.

The Marine Band Orchestra, its scarlet coats brightening the wide gallery just off the Hall of the Americas, played a well-chosen program as the guests were assembling and while the breakfast was in progress. Its members crowded round the doorway when Rudy Vallee and his orchestra came into the picture. His radio audience evidently a bit on his mind, the crooner of syncopated love songs hugged the microphone so closely that something was lost to the assembled guests. But it was a good show and enthusiastically received.

Prominent among those present yesterday were a group of founding members who had been present when plans for the club were drawn up over a score of years ago, among them Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper, Mrs. Edgar C. Ellis, Mrs. Finis Garrett, Mrs. Burton French, Mrs. Joseph B. Foraker, who had come from her home in Ohio especially for the breakfast, and Miss Ellen Wood, first treasurer of the club, whose home is in New Jersey.

As souvenirs, guests carried, away the menu cards, engraved in color with the club's crest and boasting autographed photographs of Mrs. Hoover on the fly leaves.

Among those present were Mrs. Frederick H. Gillett, Mrs. Morris Sheppard, Mrs. Arthur Vandenburg, Mrs. Charles S. Deneen and Miss Bina Day Deneen, who had as guests Mrs. Edward R. Litsinger and Miss Edwina Litsinger, of Chicago; Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, Mrs. Wallace White, Mrs. Howard Reeside, Mrs. Homer Hoch, Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mrs. Wesley L. Jones, Mrs. James S. Parker, Mrs. Frank W. Mondell, Mrs. Edward Keating, Mrs. Everett Sanders, Mrs. Henry F. Ashurst, Miss Vera Bloom, Mrs. J. Charles Linthicum, Mrs. Henry D. Flood, Mrs. I. W. Foster, Mrs. Meekison, Mrs. Edward D. Hays, Mrs. Floyd J. Baker, Mrs. Charles E. Swanson, Mrs. Lester J. Dickinson, Mrs. W. F. Kopp and her mother, Mrs. H. G. Bird, of Iowa, who is visiting her.

Judge Campbell was, until two years ago, chief justice of the United States Court of Claims. Mr. Adair formerly represented an Indiana district in Congress.

Italian Talks At Lecture on "Guicciardini"

Envoys and Members of Staffs Are Among Audience.

Miss Bell Gurnee was hostess last evening to the Italy-America Society, members and their guests being privileged to hear Prof. Guiseppe Prezzolini lecture on "Guicciardini." He told in illuminating fashion of this famous Florentine historian, contemporary and friend of Machiavelli, whose most famous work is "The History of Italy."

Among the guests was the Ambassador of Cuba, Senor Don Orestes Ferrara. Last year the Cuban diplomat lectured before the Italy-America Society on "The Private Correspondence of Machiavelli" and this lecture, somewhat enlarged and supplemented, provided the material for the book of the same title, which the ambassador has recently published. It is dedicated to the Italy-America Society. Others present last evening were the Ambassador of Italy and Donna Antoinette de Martino, the Second Counsellor and Signora de Catalani, with other members of the embassy staff; the Ambassador of Turkey, Ahmed Mouhtar Bey; Dr. and Senor de Baron, of the Cuban Embassy; Mr. L. G. van Hoorn, of the Netherlands Legation; Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, Mrs. Francis Newlands, Mrs. Newlands Johnson, Mrs. Clarence Cary, Mrs. William Fitch Kelley, Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Mrs. Morris Evans, Miss Meta Morris Evans, Miss Janet Richards, Dr. and Mrs. Marcus Benjamin and Dr. Arthur Stanley Riggs.

Miss Elizabeth A. Ransley has joined her parents, Representative and Mrs. Harry Clay Ransley, at the Mayflower for a short visit. Mrs. Ransley and her daughter have spent most of the winter at their home in Ardmore, Pa., but are planning to be at the Mayflower through April.

The wives of members of Congress from Minnesota will be at home this afternoon, receiving together at the Congressional Club from 4 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, wife of Senator Schall, will be in the receiving line, as will the wives of the Minnesota representatives, Mrs. Frank Clague, Mrs. August H. Andreson, Mrs. Godfrey G. Goodwin, Mrs. Conrad G. Selvig, Mrs. William Alvin Pittinger, Mrs. William I. Nolan, Mrs. John Paul Kvale, with Mrs. Walter H. Newton, wife of the secretary to the President, and Mrs. Allan J. Furlow.

The hostesses will be assisted by a group of distinguished women, among them Mrs. Pierce Butler, Mrs. William DeWitt Mitchell and Mrs. Porter H. Dale, and a number of Minnesota girls will also assist.

Officers Arrange Fete For Gen. and Mrs. Wells.

Chiefs of sections of the general staff, United States Army, will entertain at dinner at the Army and Navy Club on Monday evening in honor of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Briant Wells, who are to leave Washington shortly. Gen. Wells has been relieved as deputy chief of staff and will go to Fort Hamilton, N. Y., to command the First Division. His successor as deputy chief of staff will be Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, who has been on duty in Boston.

Lady Louis Mountbatten arrived from England yesterday on the S. S. Aquitania. She will go to California.

Mrs. George Tully Vaughan will be at home tomorrow at her house on I street.

Miss Allison To Be Married To Mr. Sandoz

THREE IMPORTANT FACTORS ENTER INTO THE COST OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

1. How much it costs to make the car
2. How much extra you pay the dealer
3. How much it costs for operation and up-keep

THE PURCHASE of an automobile involves a considerable amount of money and it should be carefully considered from all angles before a final decision is made.

The value of the car to you depends on the value built into it at the factory, how much extra you pay the dealer for distribution, selling, financing and accessories and what it will cost to operate and maintain the car after purchase. Each of these factors, as it relates to the Ford car, is frankly explained below.

Economy in production

THE FORD CAR is made economically because of the efficiency of Ford production methods. The money saved through this efficiency is put back into the car in improved quality of material and in greater care and accuracy in manufacturing. The constant effort is to eliminate waste and find ways to make each part better and better without increasing cost—frequently at lowered cost.

Because of Ford economies in large production and because the Ford organization operates on a low-profit margin, the price you pay for the car is much less than it would be under any other conditions. Yet it brings you many unusual features of construction and performance.

At least $75 extra value is represented alone by the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the five steel-spoke wheels. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are additional features that reflect the high quality built into every part of the car. Throughout, it is a value far above the price you pay.

Low dealer charges

THE SAME PRINCIPLES of efficiency and economy that characterize the manufacture of the Ford car are applied also to distribution. Obviously it would do the public little good to save in production if these savings were sacrificed later in excessive costs of selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, operates on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company, his discount or commission being the lowest of any automobile dealer. He does a good business because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

NOTE THESE LOW PRICES

Roadster	$435
Phaeton	$440	Tudor Sedan	$500
Coupe	$500	Sport Coupe	$530
Two-window Fordor Sedan	$600
Three-window Fordor Sedan	$625
Cabriolet	$645	Town Sedan	$670

(All prices, f. o. b. Detroit)

Low charges for time payments through the Universal Credit Company

The lower cost of selling, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, means a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser of a Ford, in addition to the savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. The money you pay for a Ford goes into value in the car. It is not wasted in high dealer charges.

Low up-keep costs

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember that the cost of your automobile is not the first cost only, but the total cost after months and years of service. Here again there is a decided saving when you buy a Ford.

The cost of operation and up-keep is lower because of simplicity of design, the high quality of material, and the reduction of friction and wear through unusual accuracy in manufacturing and assembling. The reliability and longer life of the car contribute to its low depreciation per year of use.

The intelligent, painstaking service rendered by Ford dealers is under close factory supervision and is a considerable factor in the low up-keep cost of the Ford. All labor is billed at a flat rate and replacement parts are always available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the United States.

In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost of the car.

CAPITAL SOCIETY EVENTS

Numerous Gay Social Events Planned Here

Capital Will Witness Merry Round of Parties.

about March 15. Before her marriage, Mrs. Metzel was Miss Elizabeth Cone. She is the daughter of Rear Admiral Hutch I. Cone, who has been a member of the United States Shipping Board since his retirement from active service and who makes his home at the Chevy Chase Club.

Mrs. Henry J. Allen will not be at home tomorrow at the Mayflower, but will receive again after Easter.

Lady Lister Kaye, who has been a guest at the Mayflower for the last month, is returning tomorrow to New York and will be at the Ambassador for an indefinite period.

Mr. Kermit Roosevelt and Mr. John W. Franklin, of New York, are staying at the Willard for a few days.

Representative and Mrs. Charles Gifford have had with them in their apartment at the Hotel Roosevelt their son, Maj. Sanford Gifford, of Paris. Maj. Gifford has now gone to New York.

Judge and Mrs. Stover Are Visitors in Capital.

Judge and Mrs. Fred Stover, of Fort Collins, Colo., are visiting Mrs. Stover's father, Representative Charles B. Timberlake, at George Washington Inn. Representative and Mrs. Guy U. Hardy entertained Representative Timberlake, Representative and Mrs. Frank Crowther, Judge and Mrs. Stover and Mrs. A. W. Scott for dinner Sunday at their home, 2017 Belmont road.

Because of illness, Mrs. Karl D. Klemm has recalled her invitations for the dinner to be given tomorrow evening in honor of the Minister of China and Mme. Wu.

Dr. Benjamin Cohen has returned to Washington from Mexico City and will be at the Mayflower until Thursday when he is leaving for New York preparatory to sailing for Europe.

A number of luncheon parties have been arranged to follow the lecture of Dr. Louis K. Anspacher to be held at the Willard tomorrow morning at 11:15 o'clock. Among those who will entertain are Mrs. Clay Stone Briggs, Mrs. Harry P. Huse, Mrs. Walter Tuckerman and Mrs. Robert Whitney Imbrie. The talk is one of a series of lectures on various facets of Shakespeare's genius which Dr. Anspacher is delivering on Wednesday mornings, the proceeds to go to the George Washington Memorial fund.

Archbishop Curley To Be Speaker Here.

The Right Rev. Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore, will speak at the ninth annual conference of the District of Columbia Chapter of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, which will open March 8 at the Willard Hotel.

The following schools are patrons: Georgetown Convent, St. Paul's, Sacred Heart, Holy Cross, Immaculate Conception, St. Anthony's and Sacred Heart of Mary.

Mrs. Frederick J. Rice is chairman of the ways and means committee.

Mrs. E. A. Harriman will be at home to members of the League of Republican Women today from 4 to 6 o'clock at 1302 Eighteenth street.

She will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. James E. Watson, Mrs. George H. Moses, Mrs. Porter H. Dale, Mrs. S. Wallace Dempsey, Mrs. E. Hart Fenn, Mrs. F. W. Mondell, Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, Mrs. Lawrence Richey, Mrs. William Fitch Kelley, Mrs. Marcus Benjamin, Mrs. Charles Alger, Mrs. V. W. Speel, Republican national committeewoman of the District of Columbia; Mrs. Louise Dodson, of the Republican national committee, and Miss Martha McClure, Republican national committeewoman of Iowa.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson To Aid Guild Concert.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. William D. Mitchell, Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mrs. Hiram Bingham and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall head the list of box holders for the benefit concert of the Women's Guild of the Central Union Mission and Children's Emergency Home on Friday night in Constitution Hall. Mr. James Melton, tenor, of New York, will be presented as soloist. The A. Capella Chorus will assist.

Mr. Melton will sing three groups of a variety characteristic of his concert and radio programs with Mr. Charles A. Baker at the piano. Numbers from the works of Bach, Rachmaninoff and others, will constitute the program offered by the chorus under the leadership of Ruby Smith Stahl. The concert is the fifth in the guild series and is under the direction of Mrs. John S. B. Bennett, chairman, and Mrs. William Hanby Ramsey, president.

Others subscribing to boxes are Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, Mrs. Gilbert Fahnestock, Mrs. C. C. Abbott, Mrs. Copley Amory, Mrs. Margaret C. Buckingham, Mrs. Reynolds Hitt, Mrs. Helen Jennings, Mrs. Tyler G. Kent, Mrs. William D. Mitchell, Mrs. Francis M. Savage, Mr. Francis C. Jenkins, Mr. John B. Larner, Mr. Jesse C. Adkins and Mr. William H. Baden.

Maj. Henry L. Larsen, United States Marine Corps, who has recently completed duty in Nicaragua, and Mrs. Larsen have taken an apartment at the Martinique Hotel for several months.

Mrs. Helen McCoy will receive tomorrow between 3 and 7 o'clock at her studio home, Shadowall, 1525 Thirty-first street, Georgetown. No cards will be issued. There will be on exhibit many artcraft novelties, the work of Washington artists. At the tea table will be Miss Katherine Morris. Mrs. Walter C. Garlan and Mrs. Walter C. B. Morse will assist.

Mrs. Dorsey Richardson has gone to New York and is at the Berkshire Hotel.

A tea in honor of the newly installed chapter of Alpha Epsilon Phi was given by the Phi Sigma Sigma Sorority of George Washington University at the home of Mrs. Morris Gewirz Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Arthur Stanley Riggs left Stoneleigh Court yesterday for a short visit in New York.

Mrs. A. W. Dickinson, of the Ambassador, has as her guest Miss Jean Redick, "queen of Ak-Sar-Ben" at the recent pageant in Omaha. Miss Redick will leave for New York today en route to her home in Omaha.

Miss Weyer Is Wed To Mr. Proudfit.

Miss Grace M. Weyer and Mr. James Proudfit, both of Kansas City, were married on Saturday at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Glen E. Eakin, at Tilden Gardens, the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, of the Congregational Church, officiating.

Mrs. Eakin attended her sister as matron of honor and Mr. Herbert Proudfit, of New York, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A program of wedding music preceded the ceremony. Miss Elizabeth Mullin singing "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly," with Miss Jane Rist at the piano. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played during the service.

The bride wore a costume of all-day blue and carried calla lilies; Mrs. Eakin's gown was a capucine chiffon, the note of brown enhanced by a bouquet of talisman roses.

Following the breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Proudfit left for New York. The bride chose a smart ensemble of brown cloth. They will make their home in Kansas City.

Iowa State Society To Hold Reception.

The executive committee of the Iowa State Society has arranged for a reception, program and dance to be held at the Willard Hotel next Tuesday evening, March 4.

Officers of the society in charge of the reception are Mr. Karl S. Hoffman, president; Mrs. William Fitch Kelley, Mrs. Dickinson and Mr. Karl D. Loos, vice presidents, and Miss Gertrude Lewis, secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Roper are staying at the Wardman Park Hotel while opening their home on Woodland drive. Mr. and Mrs. Roper have recently returned from Florida where they passed six weeks.

A meeting of the alumnae of Kent Place School will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at the home of Mrs. R. H. A. Carter, 1625 Sixteenth street. Miss Jane Hardy will preside. An invitation is extended to all who are interested in the school.

Mrs. Stevens Woodruff, of Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., and Mrs. E. H. Heaton, of Leesburg, Va., are at the Willard, having come to Washington for the annual meeting of the Society of Sponsors of the United States Navy.

Dr. and Mrs. Matthew White Perry will return to town tonight after spending a week in Atlantic City and taking a motor trip through the South. The marriage of Dr. Perry and Miss Fannie Dial, daughter of former Senator and Mrs. Nathaniel B. Dial, took place in Washington recently. They will be at home at the Presidential, where they have taken an apartment.

Fifth Ave. Fashions
NEW YORK

The larger figure has dignity and appeal that is entirely lacking in the flapper figure. But the woman with the larger figure must bear in mind that there are many, many styles that are unbecoming as far as she is concerned. But there are equally as many suitable models, for the designers today are spending much time and effort to create models with slenderizing effects.

For instance take the model illustrated that smartly carries out favorite black and white theme so popular this season in crepe silk employs vertical lines that give the figure height.

The deep French V is marvelous idea to break the width through the bodice. The plaits of skirt at front give impression of length and at same time provide flare to hem when wearer moves. The wide crushed girdle gives important flat hipline.

The white crepe vestee accented with row of black crepe buttons is very striking.

Style No. 8146 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. It is made with 3½ yards of 40-inch material with ⅝ yard of 10-inch contrasting for the medium size.

It also adapts itself splendidly to the supple woolens, canton crepe, crepe marocain, crepe de chine, and wool jersey.

All patterns of Lucille Lorraine styles are 15 cents each. Mail your order to our Fashion Department, Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue, New York City. Be sure to write your name and address clearly and give the number and size of the pattern.

The Old Fashioned Doctor

AFTER his graduation in medicine, Dr. R. V. Pierce practiced in the oil regions of Pennsylvania, and was very successful in treating chronic diseases. He then moved to Buffalo, and established his clinic at Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Out of his vast experience in this clinic and hospital was born a famous prescription. It was named

DR. PIERCE'S Golden Medical Discovery

If a man or woman has sallow or pimply skin, lifeless lips, sunken eyes—this is just the tonic such a rundown person needs. The "GMD" makes redder blood, soothes the nerves and imparts tone and vivacity to the system.

One who knows its value says:—

"For many years I have used Dr. Pierce's medicines and think they are the best and purest a person can take. I take the 'Golden Medical Discovery' as a tonic to build me up when in a rundown state and find it an excellent blood enricher and the best Spring medicine that any one can take. It not only strengthens and builds up the system but drives out the impurities—sort of renovates all through." Geo. D. Wiles, 440 W. South St., Frederick, Md.

You can get the Golden Medical Discovery from your druggist; or send 10c for an acquaintance package of the tablets to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y., also describe your symptoms plainly and briefly if you desire free medical advice.

SUBPENAS IN DOHENY TRIAL NOW SERVED

Oil Magnate Will Be Tried on March 10 for Alleged $100,000 Bribe.

U. S. OFFICIALS CALLED

Indications that the Government is completing its preparations for the trial of Edward L. Doheny on a charge of giving a $100,000 bribe to former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall were evidenced yesterday when United States Marshal Edgar C. Snyder announced to Frank E. Cunningham, clerk of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, that all witnesses in the District of Columbia, California and New York had been served.

The trial is scheduled to begin March 10. Decision of the Government to place Mr. Doheny on trial at that date was reached following the conviction last fall of former Secretary Fall.

Graham Young, of Stokes, Hodges & Co., New York City, was served with a subpena duces tecum requiring him to bring to the court a check for $100,000 drawn on the First National Bank of that city under date of November 30, 1921. A similar subpena has been served on John J. McGrain, sergeant at arms of the United States Senate, commanding him to bring a subpena of the Senate under date of January 31, 1924, requiring Mr. Doheny to appear before that body.

Other witnesses called are Paul N. Shoup, San Francisco, president of the Pacific Oil Co. and Associated Oil Co.; J. M. Atwell, sales manager of the Standard Oil Co. of California, and H. L. Westbrook, treasurer of the Baldridge Oil Co. of Los Angeles.

In addition to Sergeant at Arms McGrain, other persons living in Washington, who have been called, are Ernest K. Hill, United States Senate; John K. Holland, care of Senator Thomas J. Walsh; Russell Herrell, office o fthe Comptroller General of the United States; Theodore Mack, office of the Secretary of the Interior; E. C. Finney, solicitor, Department of the Interior; George W. Holland, United States Geological Survey; John B. May and Capt. Harry A. Stuart, of the Navy Department, and James E. Smith, chief of the division of mails and files of the Interior Department.

F. H. Elmore Dies as Coal Fumes Flood Home in Philadelphia.

ONCE LIVED IN CAPITAL

Frank H. Elmore, 60 years old, formerly for many years superintendent of insurance of the Southern Railway, with headquarters here, was fatally overcome by coal gas poisoning Monday in his home at Cynwyd, fashionable suburb of Philadelphia, and three others suffered effects not believed serious, according to word received here yesterday.

Mrs. G. Lawton Morgan, 90 years old, a widely known Washington woman who makes her home at Stoneleigh Court, Connecticut avenue and L street northwest, escaped the effects of the fumes while asleep in a third-floor room in the home, where she was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Elmore, her son-in-law and daughter.

Mr. Elmore, now an insurance broker in Philadelphia and civic leader in Cynwyd, was asphyxiated while shaving in the bathroom of the home. His wife, Mrs. Maude Elmore; their daughter, Hariret, 16 years old, and Mrs. Elinor P. Derry, a house guest, were overcome, but they are reported recovering.

Only the timely arrival of a son of Mrs. Derry, G. S. Derry, jr., of Carroll Park, Overbrook, near Philadelphia, saved the three from death. Failing to arouse members of the family by knocking at the front door, he went to a rear door and pounded. Harry Elmore, 26 years old, another member of the family, in a slightly dazed condition, staggered to the door and turned the key admitting Mr. Derry, who flung open all windows and sumomned medical aid.

Investigation disclosed that a pipe from a hotwater heater had broken and fallen down, allowing the coal gas to flood the house.

Former Insurance Man Indicted.

Ralph E. MacMichael, a former agent and clerk employed by the Prudential Insurance Co., was indicted by the District grand jury yesterday on a charge of embezzling. During May and June of last year, the defendant is alleged to have taken and converted to his own use $600 of the company's money.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

Now you can bring on your Judgment Day;
For I have met Mr. Rudy Vallee.

The weather was fair as a day in May,
The girls were bedecked in their own sweet way,
And the boys, oh, the boys, well they sang,
Hey, Hey,
And I—I met Mr. Ruddy Vallee.

Always, I had wanted to meet Bernard Shaw,
A nice old guy, who has no flaw
In his make-up mental, but oh, like Law,
He's older than Rudy's grandmother-in-law.

Now that I've met him, I'll tell you girls,
I can't understand how the old folks got curls;
And I am a-saying, in a very quiet way,
I'm the man who has met Rudy Vallee.

There are many great names, from the days of old—
Cicero, Caesar, Napoleon bold
All of 'em; but I saw
A man far greater than Bernard Shaw—
So now I am ready for the world's last play,
I am the man who met Rudy Vallee.

Next week in the National Theater Mr. Steve Cochran, the well-known impresario, has booked what Mr Frank Morse, the old dramatic critic, has designated as the Stratford-upon-Avon Festival Players, in a repertoire of Shakespearean plays. In view of the fact that Mr. Fritz Leiber, who recently played here at Poli's, did such wonderful business, Mr. Cochran expects large and lucrative box-office receipts at his house during the stay of the Avon players.

Washington likes Shakespeare. It likes the old classics. It might be argued, from the basis of box-office receipts, that it has a meticulous taste for the grand masters and, in support, we can turn to grand opera, for the most popular operas, surprising as it may seem, have been the "heavy" operas of the great master, Wagner. Edouard Albion, the impresario who made Washington opera-conscious with the Washington Opera Company, will tell you this is so, to say nothing of the last grand opera guests of the debonair Mr. Bonneville, presiding genius of Poli's.

* * * *

It sometimes happens.
Last Monday night, or so I am told, Mr. M. J. "Mique" Cullen, managing director of the Loew Theaters in Washington, attended the opening performance of "Show Boat" at the National. With growing discontent, Mr. Cullen watched the progression of scenes such as have seldom graced the boards. Everything was increasingly all wrong.

He fretted, he fussed and he fumed. Finally he burst into vocal remonstrance.

"Say, what's the matter with this man's show, anyway? Last year there was a Titian-haired beauty in there that gave the ensemble a bit of class. Her name was Hazelle."

Then he glanced down at his side and grinned a silly—a very silly—grin.

"Well, I'm a son of a so-and-so," said he, "darned if I didn't go and marry the girl!"

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Every motorist must be licensed to drive an automobile in Washington. But it is not sufficient merely to obtain the permit. A driver must have it with him whenever he is operating an automobile.

The permit is evidence which the law requires that a person has been licensed to drive. The traffic act provides a penalty of $2 to $40 for failing to show a permit.

Example: A driver is halted by a policeman for driving through a safety zone. He is asked to show his permit but finds that he does not have it with him. He will be charged not only with the safety zone violation, but with driving without a permit, though he actually possesses one.

You are paying for a Packard
—why not own one?

The first cost of an automobile does not determine ownership costs.

A car which sells for half as much as a Packard Standard Eight does not get half rates on gasoline, oil and tires. Nor on license, insurance, garaging and repairs.

If the car is similar in size to the Packard it costs at least as much to operate and maintain it. No advantage here, for a lower-priced car.

There is no advantage for the half-price car on first cost, either—provided the Packard is kept twice as long. For here is where depreciation must be figured in.

Simple arithmetic proves that depreciation on a Packard is no greater than on a half-price car when the Packard's useful life is twice that of the lesser vehicle.

And Packard cars are kept far longer. Comparison with lower-priced cars traded in on Packards proves it. Owners know that their Packards are built for long life, and that their characteristic beauty is not depreciated by frequent and needless changes in design.

It is literally true, therefore, that if you are driving a car of comparable size to a Packard Standard Eight you are undoubtedly paying Packard ownership costs.

Isn't it logical, then, to ask—"Why not have the Packard?"

The price of the most popular model of the Packard Standard Eight—the 5-passenger Sedan—is but $2485 at the factory. Ten other body styles are available on the 127½ and 134½-inch wheelbases at from $2425 to $2885.

Let us appraise your present car, and tell you about the convenient Packard Payment Plan. A telephone call will bring our representative to your door.

Bridge Game Over Radio Is Explained

Players Will Learn Much From Bidding and Playing in 15th Contest in Series Conducted by Experts.

It would have to be a very keen Bridge player, indeed, who could not learn something from the bidding and play in the fifteenth of Milton C. Work's radio Bridge games broadcast yesterday from Station WRC.

The players and their cards were: John C. Gardner, Brooklyn, N. Y., dealer, South: Spades, A, K, Q, J, 8, 4, 2; Hearts, A, Q, 6; Diamonds, A, Q, 10; Clubs, none. Mrs. Anne Wesson, Kansas City, Mo., West: Spades, 9; Hearts, K, J, 9; Diamonds, 7, 5, 2; Clubs, A, K, 10, 9, 6, 3. Mrs. A. R. Coffin, Indianapolis, Ind., North: Spades, 10, 7, 5, 3; Hearts, 5, 3, 2; Diamonds, J, 6, 4; Clubs, Q, 7, 2. William J. Wall, Ottawa, Canada, East: Spades, 6; Hearts, 10, 8, 7, 4; Diamonds, K, 9, 8, 3; Clubs, J, 8, 5, 4.

Mr. Gardner opened the auction with one Spade. He was strong enough to bid four, but there is no need to preempt when strong in three suits. Mrs. Wesson, West, bid two Clubs. Mrs. Coffin, North, and Mr. Wall, East, passed. Mr. Gardner, of course, said two Spades. Mrs. Wesson, West, with a hand which should take at least six tricks unassisted, felt justified in showing her partner that she had more than a following bid, so she called three Clubs. North again passed. She had four Spades, but no suit she could ruff, so she had no justification for raising her partner even after his rebid. Mr. Wall, East, passed. On the third round Mr. Gardner, South, bid three Spades. West and North passed, but after the strength shown by West, East felt that he had at least one raise, so he bid four Clubs. Although surprised that the enemy dared to bid four, Mr. Gardner, South, while believing that he could defeat the Club contract, considered it better, especially in view of his honor score, to say four Spades. West and North passed, but East had a close question to determine.

West's bidding had indicated that with Clubs the trump she was sure of six tricks unassisted, and hope to take seven. East was willing to go down one or two tricks to save game, but would a bid of five entail a greater loss? From East's viewpoint, his four Clubs probably solidified West's holding in that suit; but his singleton in the adverse Spade suit, ordinarily a real asset, might not be worth anything, as South's confident bidding sugested long Spades and the possibility that North and South had all the Spades and that West had none, or (as actually was the case) a singleton. East's King of Diamonds would be of value if West held the Ace, otherwise it was liable to be captured by South. The bidding plainly indicated that all the adverse strength was held by South. After considering all these points, East feared that a five-bid would produce a penalty of 300 for the adversaries, too much to risk on the first game of a rubber.. So East passed.

Mrs. Wesson, West, opened the play with the King of Clubs. She thought it probable that Declarer would ruff, but that would force the strong hand and be a better plan of procedure than opening either of her red suits or leading her trump. From the North hand, which became Dummy, Declarer played the Duece of Clubs; East played the 5, and Declarer, appreciating that his three small trumps might be needed for putting the Dummy hand in the lead, ruffed with the Jack of Spades.

To trick two Declarer led the 8 of Spades from his own hand; West played the 9; Dummy the 10; East the 6. Delighted that both the adverse Spades fell on the first trump trick, Declarer led Dummy's Jack of Diamonds to trick three. East, hoping to make his 9 good (his partner might have the 10), played the King; Declarer the Ace; West the Duece. Declarer then led his Queen of Diamonds; West played the 5; Dummy the 4; East the Trey. Declarer continued with the 10 of Diamonds; West played the 7, Dummy the 6 and East the 8.

To trick six, Declarer led the 4 of Spades; West played the trey of Clubs; Dummy the 5 of Spades; and East the 8 of Clubs. Dummy then led the 7 of Clubs, to which East played the 4. South ruffed with the Queen of Spades and West played the 6 of Clubs.

Declarer again entered Dummy by leading the Deuce of Spades and overtaking with Dummy's Trey. West discarded the 9 of Clubs and East the 4 of Hearts. Dummy then led the Queen of Clubs, East played the Jack, Declarer discarded the 6 of Hearts, and West won with the Ace of Clubs.

Declarer's failure to ruff this ninth trick placed West in a quandary as to her lead to trick ten. Her choice lay between her thirteenth Club and her King-Jack-9 of Hearts. She was loath to lead from the Heart suit, but with no Clubs in Dummy and a trump left in that hand, to have led a Club would have given closed hand a discard. Therefore the Heart lead had to be chanced, although West appreciated that the best explanation of Declarer's failure to ruff the preceding trick was that he had the Ace-Queen of Hearts which he wished West to lead up. West led the 9 of Hearts; Dummy played the Deuce; East the 7; and Declarer won with the Queen.

Declarer then exposed his remaining cards * * * the Ace and King of trumps and the Ace of Hearts * * * claiming the remaining tricks, which, of course, were conceded. He scored 54 for tricks; 90 for four honors in one hand with fifth in partner's; and 50 for a small slam. No game bonus was scored as these radio games are played as the first deal of a rubber.

Mr. Work, commenting on the hand, praised Declarer's play, saying it took rare ability to appreciate from the first the possibilities that the cards contained if the King of Diamonds happened to be in the East hand and the two adverse trumps evenly divided. Mr. Gardner also showed himself an expert by keeping all possible entries in both hands, when he ruffed the first trick with an honor. But the most brilliant play of the hand was Declarer's refusal to ruff Dummy's Queen of Clubs, therefore throwing the lead to West, who had either to lead up to Declarer's Ace-Queen of Hearts, making both of them good, or else to lead a Club which Declarer could ruff in Dummy, permitting him to discard the Queen of Hearts from the closed hand. Thus Declarer's discard of the small Heart on the ninth trick cinched his small slam. The result would have been the same had West had a Diamond to lead. The hand is an interesting illustration of the elimination play.

At Contract, Mr. Work gave as his opinion that South should open with four Spades. He can expect to take seven Spade trcks and probably, though not surely, will get three more with his two side Ace-Queens. North may hold the Jack either of Hearts or of Diamonds, and if South should bid only three Spades, North would not feel that such a card would justify his jumping the bid to four; yet South needs no more help than that to insure a game for his Spade bid.

After South's four-Spade bid there would be nothing for the three other players to do but pass. The Contract play would net twelve tricks just as in Auction; it would be the type of small slam that often is made but can not soundly be bid.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"Pisces."

If February 26 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m., and from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:30 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

The echo of your actions on this date will not be heard for some time, but its report will be sharp and clear when it does reach your ears. Rapid changes and vivid experiences are predicted and both failures and successes. Curb your desires somewhat!

Children born on this February 26 will be born mimics and veritable chatter-boxes. They will have a great deal of nervous energy, for which they must be given legitimate outlets. They will be quick, but not deep thinkers. They will have very extravagant tastes.

You are very much interested in human beings and human nature, and you are genuinely friendly. You have an exceptional gift for estimating the qualities of others, and for expressing your estimates into accurate and vivid phrases. It may be said that you have a delightful way of "realizing" people, and you always listen to what they have to say. When you are talking or listening to anyone, you treat them as individuals and personalities.

You are not inattentive in any phase of your life; you are always able to take your eyes off the horizon and set them keenly on the work in hand. You never dream when you should be doing; you never mix play and work. You are rather slow in your actions, but you do things too thoroughly for swiftness. You are systematic, however, and you never waste a minute.

You know your own mind and you are steadfast in purpose. You have definite ambitions, and you expect to walk and not be carried to your goal. If you are able to work with and for people, you will make a success of your efforts and find happiness thereby. You are not fitted for a strictly commercial job. "Humans," and not "figures," make an appeal to you.

Jane Interprets the Mode

A touch of Grecian loveliness in the draping of this white panne velvet, made for the wedding of Mlle. de Peloux, by Phillippe et Gaston, Paris.

Paris, Feb. 25.

HOW about the home dressmaker now? The mode is imposing difficulty after difficulty upon elegance, and moving itself further and further away from styles that are easy to copy. Even many of the Paris dressmakers are falling by the wayside—new details and methods of cutting, which call for unusual skill and experience on the part of the workgirls, are frightening the home dressmakers to death.

What, then, is she to do? Shall we all give up—call it a day and let well enough alone, and be glad that there was a day when we could make a dress in a half hour on the sewing machine and not look very bad in it?

We shall not! It is true that skill is required in any art—whether it be the making of clothes or automobiles or cakes and pies. But this skill is something that comes with practice and brain work, and you have a brain just as well as any little dressmaker in the establishment of a Paris couturier, and the same pair of hands.

You're just going to have to pay a little more attention, practice a little more, do a little more figuring on paper and in your mind before you impose it on your material—and I promise you that no unusual "sophistication" or "elegance" of the mode is going to frighten you to death.

One fox fur kept carefully in a bag when not worn is worth three that are not so well brought up—in the money it saves. 'Cause it lives longer, you see! It's just a word to the wise, and if your'e wise you'll send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet telling you how to make this practical bag for your fox. It hangs in the closet, you know.

Wouldn't you like to see the wedding dress that Phillippe et Gaston made for Mlle. de Peloux for her marriage to M. Pommery, whose family for generations ave been the champagne kings of Europe? Well, here it is sketched for you today, in all its lovely white panne velvet drapery and trains!

But the veil is my own idea, because M. Gaston let me sketch this gown for you before the wedding—in fact, while it was being made.

Having had such interesting success with La Secretaire Americaine and the Left-Handed Artist in changing their manner of walking from just walking to get there to walking gracefully and getting there just as well, I've decided to tell you how to go about it in an extra leaflet, which you can have by sending an extra letter to the Dare Department of The Washington Post this week, marked "Beauty Leaflet."

Au Revoir!

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Keep Calm."

DEAR MISS McDONALD: I have been wanting to ask some one about a friend of mine and myself, but haven't the courage or found anyone who would do. But I thought surely you would sympathize or know how to help me.

I am, I suppose, very young to start worrying about boys, being only 16, but it seems as if I can't help it. Many of the boys "stick" around me. One of the boys, who is 17, is good looking and I've known him for three years. I meet him at almost all the dances I go to and I dance with him most of the time. He has told me many times that he loves me the best of all girls he knows and has given me his fraternity pin with his love. But this is the trouble. He goes with all the girls, and if he meets a new one he usually falls for her. When we go skating he asks me if I mind if he goes with some one else for a little while, and, of course, I tell him I don't. Sometimes he has stayed until 1 o'clock skating with some one else.

I am not jealous Miss McDonald, but why does he still claim that he loves and adores me? He calls me his "one and only" and "pete" me, and then goes with another girl and forgets me.

Probably if I told mother she would think me very foolish at my age, what do you think? Am I selfish with him or am I too lenient? If you could tell me whether I should keep up his very dear acquaintance or just become one of "friends," I should be glad, for I'm sure you know.

Sincerely, GINA.

Do as he does Gina, dear! Be nonchalant! Start young to take them casually, and all your life they will take you seriously. At school a few of us were perfect imps and we used to "experiment" with different boys, flattering one, bossing another and so on. We learned a lot! Each one we flattered, first beamed, then bloomed, then strutted, and then we let him down. Each one we "bossed," first bristled, then paused, then crawled. We became expert. If we wanted a boy we ignored him, moderately, occasionally being very sweet then horrid, and the boy was ours.

There was one girl who could cry whenever she wished. She would look at a boy and let large tears well up and spill over. She said they all took that to mean she was just dying of love for them and that amused her greatly. She is a famous actress now, spilling tears on contract.

Gina, men make life very stimulating for us, or very, very depressing, depending upon whether we take them at their face value, or endow them with the virtues and importance of gods. If we take them as they are pleasant companions, well meaning faulty, blundering creatures, but for all that a great help, that we enjoy them and enjoy life through them. But if we invest them with undue significance, look up to them as the reason for our very existence, hang on their words, and weep at their frown, then indeed life becomes dreary, for what poor excuses for gods they are!

Be nonchalant, Gina. Go skating with every boy but the one you want, and having a glorious time as he glides by with the "some one else." When he talks of the "one and only," ask him which one of the one and onlys! Take no man seriously, Gina until you must. That, heaven knows, will be soon enough. But while you are heart-whole, form the habit of accepting man's overtures with a smile! He is not a god, but a playmate. Enjoy him, but weep not over him, and when he becomes restless speed him on his way! He will be back to find out why you were so eager to be rid of him!

Men are a joy, Gina. If you can learn to take them as they are. Otherwise, well, otherwise, the seven years' plague would be a joy, compared with them. So take them as they are and take them calmly!

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

THE USE OF FLOOR STAINS.

(Bureau of Chemistry.)

Stains are used on floors to bring out the grain of the wood, or to make them harmonize in color with other woodwork or with furnishings, or to give certain softwoods tones similar to hardwoods.

Oil and water stains, so called because of the solvent used, are the common kinds. Oil stains are easy to apply evenly and do not raise the grain of the wood, but they do not penetrate very deeply and are likely to give a muddy effect. Water stains, on the other hand, soak in readily give a clear color, and are cheaper than oil stains, but raise the grain of the wood so that sandpapering a second time may be necessary. Water stains may be used on either hardwoods or softwoods, but, as a rule, oil stains are not so successful on hardwoods.

Both water and oil stains may be bought ready mixed, or some of the simple ones can be made at home. In any case, before using, the stain should be tested on an inconspicuous part of the floor or on a sample of the same kind of wood. If the color is too intense, the stain should be diluted with the kind of solvent with which it is mixed or with other suitable liquid. For example, an oil stain may be diluted with turpentine, and a water stain with water.

The following formulas have been tested by the Bureau of Chemistry of this department:

Homemade floor stain, No. 1—1 ounce permanganate of potash, 1 quart warm water.

The solution made by dissolving the permanganate of potash in the water is violet colored, but when it is applied to wood a chemical action results and the wood is stained brown. This stain gives better results on pine than on oak flooring.

Homemade floor stain, No. 2—1¼ ounces pulverized gilsonite; 1 quart turpentine.

This is a brown stain that can be used on either softwoods or hardwoods.

Homemade floor stain, No. 3.—½ pound raw sienna (ground in oil); 2 ounces raw umber (ground in oil); 1 pint boiled linseed oil; ½ pint ground japan drier; 1 pint turpentine.

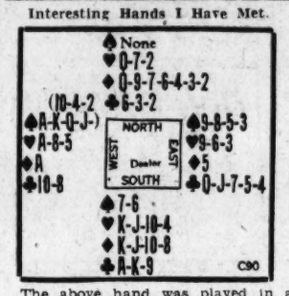
WORK ON BRIDGE

Interesting Hands I Have Met.



The above hand was played in a game of Auction Bridge. South (Dealer) bid one No Trump. West, practically certain of defeating the No Trump by at least three tricks, nevertheless felt that a big honor score and the probability of game at Spades justified an overcall; to forestall a suit-bid by North, he bid three Spades. Then North was in a quandary. His hand was dangerously weak; but with no Spades, seven Diamonds and a partner bidding No Trump North took a chance and bid four Diamonds. East bid four Spades which ended the auction.

Had the hand been played at Contract, West might have risked four Spades over South's No Trump; but that would not have changed the final result because East would have jumped to four if West had bid three.

The Play.

North led a Diamond which West (closed hand) won. Then two losing Hearts two losing Clubs and consequently a defeated contract, were staring Declarer in the face. He could exhaust the adverse trumps and establish dummy's Clubs, and dummy would have a trump entry with which to get into cash them; but with no Diamonds remaining in dummy, the adversaries were sure to force Declarer's Heart Ace when they won the first Club, and then to lead two more Hearts when they won the second Club. Consequently there was no hope of game if Declarer led the Ten of Clubs after exhausting trumps.

So West, after exhausting the adverse trumps, leaving the Nine and Eight in dummy, led his Eight of Clubs, covering with dummy's Jack. This South won, and led a Heart; West played his Ace and put dummy in the lead with a small trump to return a small Club. South could see that dummy had another trump entry and that if he played his Club honor and West had no more Clubs (as seemed probable), a good club would be established for East, and West would get a valuable discard. So South played the Nine of Clubs, hoping that North held the Ten. Of course West won and made a game otherwise unobtainable.

BRIDGERS, ATTENTION.

Mr. Work has prepared a splendid 48-page booklet, entitled "Playing Problems," which presents eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding, for each hand with the reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reasons for such answers in complete detail, all written in Mr. Work's clear and interesting style.

This booklet, "Playing Problems," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work.. One copy will be mailed to you upon request, if you send self-addressed, stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

You ought to know the lasting comfort Kotex provides

Smart women are quick to discover the advantages of Kotex' marvelous absorbency . . . its softness, its daintiness.

SANITARY comfort is a thing that can't be determined until you have actually worn a sanitary pad. Often there is a deceptive, merely surface softness that becomes chafing stiffness after a few hours. But with Kotex you are comfortable — always. And this is why.

Kotex is fashioned of a most unusual absorbent, known as Cellucotton absorbent wadding. It is not cotton . . . but a cellulose product which, for sanitary purposes, performs the same function as the softest cotton—with 5 times the absorbency.

So, you see, these filmy layers of Cellucotton can protect just five times more satisfactorily and in greater comfort to you.

Choice of hospitals

Kotex absorbent has largely replaced surgical cotton in 85% of our leading hospitals today. Certainly, no approval could be more important to a woman than this.

Within the past few years, Kotex scientists have skilfully perfected certain details that mean a great deal to any woman. The way the pad is shaped, for instance. The way it deodorizes. The adjustability of the filler.

Do read carefully some of the features of Kotex listed at the right. Then buy a box. Use it. That is the only way to tell. Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

IN HOSPITALS . . .

1— Kotex absorbent is used in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.
2— Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.
3— Disposable, instantly, completely.
4— Kotex is soft . . . Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
5— Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

MAGNOLIA IN FULL CHARGE OF TOMORROW'S FIGHT

HITTING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Seven more players arrived today at the Detroit Tiger's training camp here, four of them in time to participate in the short workout of the particularly warm forenoon.

The squad tossed the ball around cautiously under direction of the coaches and of Manager Bucky Harris, who seemed more interested in preventing injury from early overexertion than in staging any test of skill.

The new arrivals were Victor Sorrell, Owen Carroll, Elon Hogsett and Ray Hayworth, who took part in the exercise, and Kyle Graham, Johnny Prudhomme and Joe Samuels, who came into camp after the day's work ended.

McGraw and Hubbell At Giants' Camp.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Two of the mainsprings in the New York Giants' bid for the 1930 National League pennant rolled into spring training camp today. They were John J. McGraw, the "little Napoleon" himself, and Carl Hubbell, whose left-handed slants were a source of much embarrassment to the league's hitters last year.

McGraw landed from Havana too late to take charge of afternoon practice, but will be on hand tomorrow. Hubbell, who was due at the camp some time ago, said he had been recovering from an operation on his nose.

Robinson Changes Roy's Style.

Clearwater, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Wilbert Robinson assumed charge of the Brooklyn Robins' spring training activities today and immediately began some experiments designed to make a winning pitcher out of Luther Roy, right-hander.

Roy's delivery has been two-thirds side-arm, and Robbie would not stand for it. He made Roy pitch overhand, and immediately commented on the improvement in the hurler's style.

Glenn Wright was the outstanding performer in fielding practice. The former Pirate seems to have regained full use of his arm, so sore last year that he was out of the line-up, except as a pinch hitter, throughout the season.

Cooke Busts Ball For Yanks.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees seem to have picked up another fence buster in the person of Dusty Cooke, who did his hitting for St. Paul, of the American Association, last season.

Cooke's long drives were the features of a long and extended batting practice at the Yankees' spring training camp today.

Kelly Holds Out On Reds.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Definite word was received today from George Kelly, Cincinnati Nationals' first baseman, that he believes he is entitled to an increase in salary. President Sidney Weil wired him he was "sorry he could not grant it," and there the matter rests for the present.

Pack's Pitchers in Shape.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians today offered a few optimistic sentences on the condition of his battery. His observations were hardly necessary for each of the hurlers and catchers with the possible exception of Pitcher Joe Shaute, who all the appearance of good physical trim. Shaute, forced to idleness during the winter by a bad shoulder, is a little soft.

Today's workout, the second of the season, was a short, light one, consisting chiefly of bunting games and easy jogs around the park.

Browns Stage First Workout.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns pitched camp today and started spring training with a brief practice session. Bill Killefer, new manager, was in charge, but few of the prominent pitchers and catchers on the Brownie roster had put in an appearance.

Among those not in camp are Sam Gray, Rip Collins, George Blaeholder, Walter Stewart, Dick Coffman, Rick Ferrell and Catcher Hungling. Killefer said there was nothing significant in their nonappearance and that he expected to hear from them shortly. Only batterymen are due until next week. Those on the field today included Coaches Austin and Blackburne, Pitchers Crowder, Ogden, Kimsey, Stiely, Caldwell, Stiles and Ellis and Catchers Manion and Shanks.

Writer Finds Sandlotter Extinct

Discovers None of Type in Visits to Training Camps.

Boys of All Stations Alike in Demeanor and Intelligence.

By BOZEMAN BULGER.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 25 (N.Y. W.N.S.).—The sandlot ball player, that character so familiar in tradition and legend, seems to have disappeared, despite the occasional efforts of experts, fishing for an idea, to resurrect him.

We went in search of him around the camps of the Giants, the White Sox, the San Antonio Bronchos and the Houston Club. A process of elimination which checked off the established big leaguers, the minors and the college boys should have disclosed him, but there was nothing left. Chance brought us face to face with a red-haired, pugnacious looking young fellow who hails from Mississippi.

"Certainly," he answered most graciously, "I'd be glad to talk with you. Suppose we go up to my room and have tea?

"You know, of course," explained this young man, "that in training we do not drink anything strong, but I imagine I could order something for you if you prefer it."

Shades of Joe Cantillon.

Now, I ask you, just compare that young man with old Joe Cantillon when he and his brother Mike broke in from the real sandlots—or Peck Sharpe!

This young Mississippian had never played professional ball. He was thoroughly informed about it, however. He had left high school to join an engineering crew in building a new railroad. There he had developed into quite a ball player.

"Really, you know," the young man told me, "I see no reason why I shouldn't play professional ball. If I make the grade it will give me enough income so that in ten years I can be pretty well fixed to pursue my profession. There are several subjects I want to study. It's awfully hard, you know, to take an engineering course without some money in the bank."

Walker a Sandlotter Two Years Ago.

That checked my hope of seeing a real sandlotter. On the street I ran into Bill Walker, of the Giants. Presumably, Bill was a sandlotter two years ago. In dress, deportment and poise he could easily be mistaken for the Prince of Wales.

"What is a sandlotter anyway?" he asked. "I was not a college player, but I was just as well brought up as the average college boy. So were my associates. After all, you know, a college fraternity pin is no certain indication of good manners."

Walker, by the way, is the son of an Englishman who took up his residence in East St. Louis before the World War.

"When I first came into baseball," he said, "I was often asked about sandlot experiences, but I didn't understand what was meant. A lot of us boys went over to the Cardinal park at the invitation of Branch Rickey and practiced there. These boys came from all sections and all stations of life, but there was little difference in their intelligence and demeanor off the field.

Noncollegians Not Sandlotters.

"What I imagine you are looking for," said Bill, "is one of those tough talking fellows who are supposed to use bad English and eat with his knife. I've looked for that type of ball player myself, but I don't believe he exists."

A few minutes later we spied in the hotel lobby Jim Tennant, Frank McCullough, Barney McGee and Francis Gallagher—all rookies. The last three have never played on a professional team. Neither are they collegians. Just the same, they had been playing bridge and stopped to discuss some musical numbers that the hotel orchestra had just played.

"Who wrote that?" one of them asked.

"Lebhar, I think," came a prompt reply. "Wonderful arrangement, isn't it?"

Young Fellows Are Well Informed.

These young fellows were as well informed on current events as your average young lawyer or business man. They read the papers. They had a very comprehensive idea of the political situation in Washington and talked with detailed knowledge of the pathetic case of a 52-year-old woman hanged for murder several hundred miles from here.

We wandered over to the White Sox camp and there found that the sandlotter we had picked out was the son of a banker in Iowa. In his wardrobe we could see hanging a suit of evening clothes. So, zip went the futile search for the rough-necked sandlotter. Take it from me, the "bejeez" guys are no more.

Poolesville Evens County Series Race

The Poolesville High School Five yesterday evened the count in the Montgomery County championship series by defeating Silver Spring High, 22 to 8, at Poolesville. The Silver Spring Team had previously taken a well-earned decision over the big Poolesville Team.

Silver Spring's offense was completely shorter by the husky Poolesville Team yesterday with the result that but two goals were recorded from the floor by the losers. Poolesville took a9-to-3 lead at half time, and was well in front throughout.

Woltz Five Noses Out J. C. C. in Thriller

The Jewish Community Center's unlimited quint had their winning streak snapped at fourteen, by the Woltz A. C., in a thrilling encounter staged at Silver Springs last night, 26 to 24. The game was played as a benefit for Tom Peck, stricken member of the Woltz. The 200 fans present were treated to one of the best exhibitions ever staged on a local floor. The Jewish lads led until just before the finish, holding a 17-to-11 advantage at halftime, only to lose out on a last minute goal by Forney, elongated center of the victors. Following this winning shot, the Center lads rimmed the basket twice during furious scrimmages, only to have the ball fall out.

The Sixteenth Streetrs started with a rush, with Lester Singman and Lou Levin furnishing the offensive fireworks. "Bucky" Buscher staged a one-man offensive to keep his mates in the running in the first half, accounting for nine of his mates eleven points. Thurston Dean, who substituted for MacCartee evened the score at 20-20 at the beginning of the fourth quarter, and the game became a battle for ponts.

With 3 minutes to go, the Center lads held a 24-21 advantage, but a field goal by Banta and a foul toss by Buscher evened the count again and then Forney made the decisive basket. Buscher starred for the victors with twelve points, and Singman and Levin contributed seven points apiece for the losers.

In a preliminary encounter the Calvary M. E. Tossers defeated the Petworth Mets, 35 to 20, avenging two early season defeats. Anderson starred for the victors with six field goals.

BASKET BALL POST AT G. U. TO COLRICK

Former Notre Dame Star Takes Charge Next Season.

JOHN COLRICK, 23-year-old assistant football coach, most likely will be named to act as head coach of the Georgetown University Varsity Basket Ball Team next winter. This was revealed yesterday by a well informed person close to the athletic situation at the Hilltop.

Colrick, who starred for three years in basket ball as well as football and baseball at Notre Dame, where he graduated last month, will replace Bill Dudack, who will enter law practice in the West starting next September. Colrick played forward on the Notre Dame Quintet and was noted for a keen scoring eye. He was a regular on the St. Benedict's (N. J.) Prep School Team for three years before enrolling at the South Bend university.

Dudack has been a member of the coaching staff at Georgetown for four years, having served as head freshman coach in all sports prior to this winter, when he was placed in charge of the varsity basket ball team, succeeding Elmer Ripley, who accepted a position at Yale University.

Stanford Uses Starting Blocks This Season

Palo Alto, Calif., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Although advised that the National Collegiate Athletic Association had not given official recognition to the use of hand starting blocks in track meets, R. L. "Dink" Templeton, Stanford University track coach, said here today that he planned to use the blocks in all meets this season.

Templeton said 100 coaches and members of the rules committee of the N. C. A. A. at the meeting last year adopted a resolution favoring his starting blocks. The blocks, invented by Templeton, were ruled out in a track meet participated in by Stanford in Los Angeles last season.

Old Line Five Romps Over St. John's

MacCartee Checked; 1,200 See Game; Alumni Wins.

By JACK ESPEY.

LED by Bozie Berger, elongated center, Maryland's Five last night closed its regular season at College Park by easily defeating St. John's of Annapolis, 42 to 25, and in so doing the Terrapins proved they are prepared to put up a stiff fight for the honors in the forthcoming Southern Conference Tournament at Atlanta.

St. John's, with Bob MacCartee, former Tech High star, failed to provide the opposition expected of it, and after the first five minutes of play, little doubt existed as to the ultimate victor. MacCartee, who has run wild in several games for the Johnnies this season, found Maryland's zone defense almost impenetrable. He was held to two field goals and a pair of free tosses.

Berger, who shone for Tech subsequent to MacCartee's time there, treated the crowd of 1,200 fans to an exhibition of fancy shot making. The Terrapin streak caged them from all possible angles and positions, collecting a total of 18 points. He was ever poison to the Johnnies during the 37 minutes he played. The four-personal rule sent him to the showers late in the second half.

Ronkin Shares in Glory.

Ed Ronkin, promising Maryland forward, pushed Berger for the night's honors. While his offensive work didn't equal Berger's, his defensive playing was easily the best on the court. His "ball-hawk" tactics enabled him to intercept an enemy pass and dribble half the length of the floor for the cleverest shot of the game.

Maryland enjoyed a 22-11 lead at intermission and had the verdict locked up ten minutes before the finish with an advantage of 33-16.

In a preliminary game, a team of Maryland alumni defeated the undergraduate reserves, 26 to 18. Jack Faber led the winners with 11 points.

Maryland U. Hopeful As Tournament Nears

Despite the fact that Maryland drew Kentucky, tied for second place with Duke in the Southern Conference standing, in the first round of the conference championship tournament at Atlanta, the Old Liners feel that they have an even chance of trimming the Wildcats, and, if they do that, can go pretty far in the title chase.

With Capt. Bill Evans, George Chalmers and Ed Ronkin, forwards; Bozey Berger, center, and Charlie May, Bob Gaylor, Al Heagy and Julie Radice, guards, Maryland feels that it has the best squad ever to invade Dixie in search of the tourney championship.

While not bemoaning their luck, the Old Liners were surprised that they drew Kentucky for the opening round, as they felt that being eighth in the standing, that they would be against one of the teams below the first eight as a starter. Kentucky and Maryland were the only upper eight teams to be drawn against each other.

"It will be a short life and a merry one for one of us," was the only comment of Coach Shipley, of Maryland.

Jack Faber, Old Line freshman coach, will accompany Shipley and his players to Atlanta. The Old Line party will leave Washington tomorrow afternoon, arriving in the Georgia metropoliss Friday morning shortly after 9 o'clock. As Maryland does not meet Kentucky until 7 o'clock in the evening, the Old Liners will have ample time to get the kinks out of their system.

The Maryland squad that will go to Atlanta will be a combination of veterans and sophomores. Evans, Heagy and Radice are seniors, Gaylor is a junior, and Berger, Chalmers, May and Ronkin are sophomores.

Washington will be represented in that at least five of the players—Heagy, Radice, Evans, May and Berger are former District high school athletes. Gaylor prepped at Hyattsville High. Chalmers attended Tome Institute and Ronkin matriculated from Bayonne, N. J.

NAVY TO RISK RING RECORD SATURDAY

Record Crowd to See Midshipmen Invade Penn State.

Special to The Washington Post.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 25.—All records for attendance at an indoor sports event at Penn State are expected to be broken when the Naval Academy boxing team comes here on Saturday, for a duel meet with the championship Nittany Lion Team. Arrangements are being made to handle a crowd as large as that which witnessed the finals of the intercollegiate championships here last March, in spite of the fact that there will be only two teams competing.

The close rivalry of these two contenders for championship honors and the fact that this will be the second appearance of the Academy team in State College for a dual meet combine to heighten the interest of boxing fans all over central Pennsylvania. The Middies appeared here for a dual meet in 1925, their only other visit to Penn State for a similar contest. They are now engaged in their eleventh season undefeated in a dual meet. Navy was held to a draw by Penn State three years ago.

Penn State Veterans Graduated.

Although they hold the association title at present it is doubtful whether Penn State can muster a team for the coming meet as strong as that which won the championship last spring.

Two of the men who won individual titles last year were graduated along with two other second-place winners, leaving only three letter-winners on the squad this season. Epstein, the 115-pound champion; Capt. McAndrews, heavyweight, and Cazoni, 135-pounder.

Three promising sophomores have come to the front this season, however, to give the Lions needed strength in weak spots last season. Stoops, 125-pounder; Lewis, 145 pounds, and Chalkowsky, 160 pounds, are the newcomers. Each has won all his fights this season, Lewis showing to particular advantage with two knockouts in his first two starts.

McAndrews to Fight As Heavyweight.

The Lions will be at the greatest disadvantage in the two top classes. Lacking a capable heavyweight to succeed Hamas, the champion who was graduated, Coach Houck has been forced to shove McAndrews up to the top division. While he has done better fighting in this division than at 175 pounds, McAndrews is forced to give away to much weight as a heavy.

FORK UNION WINS.

Waynesboro, Va., Feb. 25 (Special).—Fishburn Military School lost its final game of the season to the spectacular shooting cage artists of Fork Union Military Academy by a 63-to-43 verdict here this afternoon.

The locals forged to within one point of Fork Union at the end of the first half.

Joe Croson, Ill, Lost To Duke for Tourney

Durham, N. C., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Possibility that Joe Croson, star center for the Duke University Basket Ball Team, may be unable to play in the Southern Conference Tournament at Atlanta Friday loomed today when it was learned he is in the university infirmary with an infected mouth.

The 6-foot 6-inch center was forced to enter the infirmary Sunday, and since that time has been unable to take nourishment, according to physicians. Coach Eddie Cameron said he plans to take Croson to Atlanta, however.

Crosson is one of the four former Washington high school boys on the Duke Team. He played at Tech High with Bill Werber and Harry Councilor, who are also at Duke.

AMERICAN U. RALLIES TO SCORE

Beats Baltimore U., 25-22; Woods and Olsen Star.

A FITTING farewell to home fans for the 1930 court season was made by the American University Courtment last night on the Massachusetts avenue court when they emerged victorious over the Baltimore University Five, 25 to 22. Georgetown is the only other local team to have a victory this season over the Orioles who have downed George Washington, Catholic U. and Gallaudet. American has one more game to play, meeting St. John's of Annapolis on Friday night.

Victory was especially sweet to the Eagles last night as they were forced to exert their superiority at the crucial moment of a game which was marked by exceptionally close play throughout. Up until the final moments, the lead had changed hands nine times throughout the evening, and only twice when American went ahead by three points, did more than one field goal separate the rivals. American led at half-time, 12 to 10.

After Kramer had tallied his fourteenth point of the game with only 3 minutes to play, Johnny Woods dribbled in for the point that gave the home team the lead, 23-22, and Olsen duplicated a moment later for the points that assured victory 2 seconds before the final whistle.

CROSS STARS IN CENTRAL VICTORY

G. U. Freshmen Bow, 24-19, in Thrilling Court Battle.

THE Central High Courtmen sprang an upset yesterday when they came from behind in the last four minutes of play to defeat the Georgetown University Freshmen Five, 24 to 19, in the Columbia Heights Gymnasium.

Altnough holding a 13-12 lead at half time, the Hilltop yearlings were soon headed after the intermission period—the lead changing hands on numerous occasions throughout the second twenty minutes of play. Recently the G. U. Team defeated the G. W. Freshmen, who in turn swamped the Central Quintet.

Capt. Wilbur Cross was the leader of the Central attack and proved the hero in the time of need. With G U leading, 19-18, Cross sent one through the cords that gave the Blue and White Team an advantage which it clung to for the remaining four minutes of play. Russ Lampson immediately following with another 2-pointer which sewed up the game.

Generals Rout V. P. I., 53-32; Williams Star

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., Feb. 25.—Led by an avalanche of field goals by "Cyanide" Williams, 7 feet taller than a telephone pole and ten times hotter than a little red wagon, Washington and Lee tonight ended a successful basket ball season by defeating V. P. I., 53 to 32 on the home court. The sensational pivot man for the Generals scored 19 points from eight field goals and three charity tosses.

As a curtain raiser to the main event, the V. P. I. freshmen trimmed Washington and Lee's yearlings in a 30-to-25 game.

Miami Group Overrules Johnston

Scott's Pilot Wanted to Judge Condition of His Fighter.

Phil Addresses British Tars; Sharkey Turns to Golf.

By ALAN GOULD.
(Associated Press.)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25.—Canadian and British sailors were landed in substantial detachments today from the men o' war anchored in Biscayne Bay, but, as it turned out, it was not necessary to call upon them to settle a renewal of a controversy between Phil Scott's camp and the Miami boxing commission over the issue of procedure in the ring by Referee Lou Magnolia Thursday night, when the British heavyweight fights Jack Sharkey.

Playing a lone hand in his attempts to break up the peaceful serenity of fight preparations, Scott's manager, Jimmy Johnston, tossed defiance at all orthodox ring regulations in a demand that he first be consulted by the referee before any possible action is taken to stop the bout because of Scott's condition. Johnston insisted that if anything happened to "my Phil" he wanted it to be the count of ten, not any technicality of ruling or judgment on the part of the referee.

Not satisfied with a flat rebuff this morning from the commission and going so far as to threaten to call off the fight, unless his demands were met, Johnston argued the issue out again this afternoon at another conference with the boxing aauthorities and Referee Magnolia.

Magnolia in Complete Charge.

So far as the commission is concerned, the whole matter was disposed of with this flat statement:

"Lou Magnolia is to have entire responsibility in refereeing the Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott boxing contest with no interference by any other person whatsoever."

At the same time a novel touch was added by the informal sanction of a "gentlemen's agreement," in the form of a concession to Johnston's position. This agreement is that Magnolia, on his own discretion and depending upon the circumstances, may cast an inquiring look toward Scott's corner if the Briton is in distress. Otherwise, Magnolia will use his own judgment and confine any consultations with the handlers in either corner to the interval between rounds.

Offhand, in no previous fight that can be recalled has any "gentlemen's agreement" existed between the referee and a fight manager of this sort. From the outset, the whole debate has smacked of the ballyhoo, traveled around a complete circle and wound up exactly where it started. In short, Magnolia will take complete command as soon as the bell rings as the sole arbiter of all events within the ring.

Physician to Determine Fitness.

The only other important point in the final agreement is this:

"If Magnolia believes either one of the contestants so badly injured that said injury might be serious to either of the boxers, he has the privilege of calling into the ring (between rounds during the rest period) a physician to examine either boxer injured with the chief second or other boxer present during the examination. If the physician finds that either boxer is badly injured and it would be dangerous to continue the contest, he must report his findings to the referee and he (the referee) must act as judge in deciding if the boxer should resume or not."

The musical comedy touch was complete this afternoon with the landing of British jackies, formed in the background for the last act of the Magnolia-Johnston-Boxing Commission dispute. The sailors, about 300 of them, crowded into the American Legion arena to see Scott indulge in a light workout. Their presence not only seemed a tonic to the lanky British boxer's morale, but prompted him to deliver a short speech, expressing confidence he would uphold the best of British traditions in the ring and voicing the hope that the next time he met them he would be the world's champion.

Emphasizes Bout as One-Sided.

All the argument about what is to be done in case anything happens to Scott in the ring has served to emphasize rather than lessen the apprehension regarding the Briton's chances against his American rival. There has been no demand whatever from the Sharkey camp for protection against eventualities in the ring. Sharkey, his glove work completed, confined his activities today to a round of golf and six rounds of shadow boxing. He will do no work tomorrow or Thursday, for his trainer has pronounced him fit in every respect to justify the long odds in his favor.

Hagerstown to Have New Baseball Park

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 25.—Work will be started on Hagerstown's new Municipal Stadium, land for which the city leased for a period of 99 years at a rental of $1 a year, to a group of local men headed by J. Vincent Jamison, president of the Blue Ridge League of baseball.

The stadium will be the home of the Hagerstown Ball Club of that league, which lost its park when the old site recently was bought for a new high school. The stadium will be completed in time for the opening of the league season.

AGUA CALIENTE QUOTES VICTORIAN ALONE AT 4-1

Golden Prince Odds 6-1 in Handicap

Last Year's Winner of Rich Stake Now Second Choice.

Brown Wisdon Held at 7-1 With Race a Month Away.

Special to The Washington Post.

AGUA Caliente, Baja California, Mexico, Feb. 25.—With only a month remaining here before the running of the $140,000 Agua Caliente Handicap, Victorian, one of the turf's speed marvels, holds the undisputed title of favorite in the future book which Zeke Caress, Agua Caliente ring manager, has been making on the classic.

Heretofore, dividing the post of favoritism with Golden Prince, winner of the great stake last year, Victorian now holds the honor alone. He is quoted at 4 to 1, while Golden Prince has been raised from 4 to 6 to 1, sharing second choice honors with Naishapur.

The increase in the odds on Golden Prince was brought about by the report that this good stake runner would change hands at auction.

Hatrick Favorite Among 3-Year-Olds.

Third choice in the future book is Brown Wisdom, being quoted at 7 to 1. Next comes the good colt Listo, who has been performing rather sensationally of late. He is 8 to 1. Of the 3-year-olds, who will first run in the $25,000 added Agua Caliente Derby, this preceding the Agua Caliente Handicap of March 23 by three weeks, Hatrick is the shortest price. He is held at 15 to 1. Good and Hot and Sidney Grant, formidable derby candidates, are each 20 to 1.

The show prices on practically all of the choices have been raised and as good as 6 to 5 can be had against Victorian finishing third. The latest quotations on all Agua Caliente Handicap candidates follow:

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GRIZEL, $5.30, $4.50, $3.60; STEVEN B., $14.80, $8.90; KWEN LUN $7.30.

GRIZEL, breaking well, raced wide down the back side, then moved into the lead rounding the end turn and drew out as if much the best. STEVEN B. displayed the most speed in setting the early pace and held on well after being headed to save the place. KWEN LUN went well all the way and had no mishaps. ZAN saved ground and finished well. BANO raced wretchly. BUNYORA stumbled and fell in the first quarter.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily, place, driving. Went to post at 2:32. Off at 2:33½. Winner, J. Leiter's br. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MODERATION, $25.30, $8.50, $4.00; POLLYWOG, $3.00, $2.50; HERENDEEN, $3.70.

MODERATION, following in closest pursuit of the early pace, moved into a short lead in the stretch when HARVARD tired and lasted gamely under hard riding to hold race safe. POLLYWOG, reserved off the early pace, moved up stoutly in the stretch and held on well to outfinish HERENDEEN. The latter, outrun early, came with a rush through the stretch and finished best. HARVARD tired after setting the pace to the stretch.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000. The Poydras Street Fruit Jobbers Trophy. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:32. Off at 3:36½. Winner, Mrs. R. Pollard's b. g. (6), by Golden Broom—Nettie K. Trained by R. Pollard. Value to winner, $750; second, $150; third, $75; fourth, $25. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 4-5, 1:13 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GOLD MINT, $6.70, $2.70, $2.50; FILM, $2.70, $2.60; OLD SLIP, $3.90.

GOLD MINT, reserved under light restraint for a half mile, moved up stoutly on the outside entering the stretch and, responding well to a strong, hard ride, outfinished FILM, the latter moving into the lead with a rush in the first quarter, but weakened. OLD SLIP raced forwardly to the stretch, where he tired.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; allowances; the Old Port Jackson. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:02. Off at 4:02½. Winner, Greentree Stable's b. c. (4), by Pennant—Remembrance. Trained by E. Haughton. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:25, 0:49, 1:14, 1:39 4-5, 1:52.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BOCARATONE, $4.70, $2.50, $2.40; NICODEMUS, $2.50, $2.30; CUDDLE, $2.70.

BOCARATONE, moving into the lead after losing ground rounding the first turn, displayed good speed in pacemaking under light restraint, but weakened in the final sixteenth and just lasted. NICODEMUS, slightly outrun early, came to the outside entering the stretch and, under hard riding, closed fast and would have reached the winner in a few more strides. CUDDLE displayed speed all the way, but weakened in the final stages.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:02. Off at 5:03. Winner, Lyda Mae Stockdale's b. c. (4), by Donnacona—Miss Martine. Trained by C. Dewitt-L. F. O'Leary. Value to winner, $750; second, $150; third, $75; fourth, $25. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BUMPSIE RAY, $19.60, $9.70, $5.20; CHICK UP, $9.70, $5.70; QUIBBLER, $2.90.

BUMPSIE RAY, moving up fast after going a half mile, overhauled CHICK UP in the stretch and drew out fast. CHICK UP took command rounding the end turn when KNOW ME GNOME tired, but could not stall off the winner. QUIBBLER, off poorly, worked his way up gradually and closed a gap. TURF KING dropped out of it in the first quarter, then closed a gap. COLONEL CAMPUS was jammed into the fence turning into the stretch and his rider was obliged to pull him over LORD MARMION.

SIXTH RAC

100 Boxers of 12 Teams In Dixie College Tourney

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 25. Entry blanks have been received from the twelve teams entered in the fourth annual Southern Conference boxing tournament to be staged in Memorial Gymnasium at the University of Virginia on Friday and Saturday of this week, with the finals occurring the following Monday night.

The tournament will bring to Charlottesville more than 100 boxers, the greatest gathering of college mittmen ever held in this country. Each team is required to bring a competitor for each of the seven weights, a manager, coach and trainer or second, a party of ten constituting a team. The University of Virginia Athletic Association will take care of no more than ten men from each institution.

4 Pounds Overweight To Be Allowed.

The teams must be weighed in at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning. Four pounds overweight will be allowed. The preliminary bouts are to start at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. The quarterfinals and semifinals will be held on Saturday, and the final matches to come Monday night. A meeting of the various boxing coaches will be held at 11 o'clock Friday morning.

Individual medals will be given the winner in each weight, while a plaque will go to the team winning the tournament. Present indications are that the title may pass from the South Atlantic sector this year. A comparison of records gives Tulane the edge, with North Carolina, Florida and Duke following in the order named.

Tulane comes to the tournament with a clean slate. Florida has lost but one match and that to Tulane. The 'Gators took the measure of North Carolina, a present title-holder, five bouts to two. Otherwise the Tarheel record is clean. Louisiana State is sending up a formidable squad, with a fair record, and Sewanee and Clemson should not be overlooked in the final reckoning.

Duke Adds 3 Games To Baseball Schedule

Special to The Washington Post.

Durham, N. C., Feb. 25.—Two games with West Virginia and one with Springfield College, of Springfield, Mass., have been announced from the Duke athletic office to complete the Devils' baseball schedule for 1930.

Twenty-seven games are listed for the Blue Devils, ten with members of the Southern Conference. Battery practice started Monday, with the following men reporting: Belue and Jenkins, veteran southpaw pitchers; Peeler, right-handed veteran; Duffey sophomore southpaw; McKeithan, sophomore right-hander, and Warwick, Simpson, Garris and Metz, right-handers. Catchers reporting were: Capt. Warren, Barker and Alford, veterans, and Rochelle and Howell, sophomores. The revised schedule follows:

March 29, Springfield College at Durham; April 1, Washington and Lee at Durham; 2, Cornell at Durham; 3, Cornell at Durham; 5, Navy at Durham; 8, Wake Forest at Durham; 9, Maryland at Durham; 12, North Carolina State at Raleigh, N. C.; 14, Wake Forest at Wake Forest, N. C.; 17, Ursinus at Durham; 19, West Virginia at Durham; 22, West Virginia and Georgia at Durham (doubleheader); 22, Georgia at Durham; 26, North Carolina at Chapel Hill; 28, University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, Pa.; 29, Villanova at Villanova; 30, Princeton at Princeton.

May 1, Fordham at New York; 2, New York University at New York; 3, Navy at Annapolis, Md.; 6, South Carolina at Durham; 7, Virginia at Durham; 10, North Carolina State at Durham; 14, Davidson at Davidson; 17, North Carolina at Durham.

(Date undecided), Davidson at Durham.

Hampden-Sydney Five Closes With Lynchburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Hampden-Sydney, Va., Feb. 25.—for the last time this season Tiger supporters will see the red-stockinged Hampden-Sydney Quintet trot out on the floor of Graham Gymnasium as it plays host to the Lynchburg Five at 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

Coach Bernier has borrowed somewhat from the old days of the hardwood game in outfitting his Tigers this year, returning to stockings and knee protectors as all the other teams in the State continue to produce bare-legged teams. The contrast of gray jersies and garnet stockings give the Bengals a combination easily distinguishable from their opponents.

In changing his tactics back to a longer passing game for a variant of the more or less conventional short-pass method, the Hampden-Sydney mentor has again gone back to former systems that have proven their efficacy.

A starting line-up for tonight is as yet not available, as Coach Bernier has shifted his starters some during the games of the last week. Moore and Harris are likely candidates for the two forwards, and Capt. Willis with Allen will probably hold the guarding berths. At center it is uncertain, but Arehart will probably get the call over Lawson.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 25.—Alexandria High School basketers will play two games this week in preparation for the fight for the class B championship of the State that will start early next week. On Thursday night, they will play the R. E. Knight Store Five at the Armory Hall beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Coach Reynolds stated this morning that he had no intention of playing the Knights unless the A. A. U. sanctioned them. Coach Pettitt of the latter team is making every effort he can to have his team registered.

On Friday, the local high school team will travel to Manassas, Va., to play the Swavely Prep School in the second game between the two schools.

Episcopal High School basket ball team will play Emmerson Institute in the second game between the two schools tomorrow afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock in the Episcopal Gym. In the first game the Washington boys defeated the Episcopalians in a hard-fought battle.

Alexandria High School will place a baseball team on the field this season for the last time if the game fails as it has in the past four years. Principal Moncure stated this morning that in the past years they have lost considerable on the baseball team and if this year proved the same way they would give up the game as has been done in lots of high schools throughout the State.

The Knight Store Midgets have entered the South Atlantic tournament in the 100-pound class. Manager Humphrey and Johnny Travers are getting the boys together and will have one of the best little teams that has ever represented the city. They have Chilcotte, Lyons, Trenary, Travers, Humphrey, Jones and Finchan in line for the games. Earle Cronin is coach of the team.

There will be an important meeting of the Engine Company, No. 5, Baseball Team tomorrow night at 7:30 at the engine house. All players are expected to report for the meeting.

The St. Mary's Celtics Baseball Team is holding two drills this week, one being held this afternoon and the other on Thursday afternoon. The practices are being held under the leadership of Capt. Langford. The Celtics will open their season here on April 6 against the Reading International Team.

The St. Mary's Celtics have booked the Norfolk Police Basket Ball Team for this Sunday afternoon here. The Norfolk boys are claiming the Tidewater championship, and this game should prove to be one of the best that has been played in this city this season.

Woodberry Five Wins Over Randolph-Macon

Special to The Washington Post.

Woodberry Forest, Va., Feb. 25.—In the last home game of the season, the Woodberry Forest quintet downed Randolph-Macon Academy, of Front Royal today, 30 to 22. The locals went in the lead shortly after the beginning of play and from that point on were never threatened.

John Weaver, Orange center, was outstanding in the play of the home team, leading the scorers with a total of 12 points.

Stars and Bars Romps Home at Fair Grounds

Fair Grounds, New Orleans, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Stars and Bars, as consistent a thoroughbred as is campaigning on the winter tracks, boosted his string of victories to five today as he won the Old Fort Jackson purse for Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree Stable. The 4-year-old son of Pennant has been out of the money only twice in nine starts since making his winter debut at Jefferson Park in December.

With Kenneth Russell in the saddle, the Greentree ace just breezed over the mile and an eighth, taking the lead at the rise of the barrier and finishing a length and a half in front of Galahad from the Reuter Stable. The latter led Ruane by two lengths, while in the also ran group were Lord Braedalbane and Mole Hill. Stars and Bars was the favorite, paying only $3.30 for a $2 mutuel ticket.

Cumberland Has Nine Players Under Contract

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 25.—The Cumberland Club of the Middle Atlantic League has nine players under contract for the 1930 season, it was divulged at a meeting of Community Baseball, Inc., at the city hall last night attended by about 150 fans. The list includes two veteran players—William (Chip) Helmick, Waynesburg, Pa., former Fairmont pitcher and outfielder, and Johnny Byrnes, Eckhard, Md., veteran first-sacker, who has played with the Cumberland Team for eight years. Helmick finished second in the running for the valuable-player prize for two successive years. Other players under contract are Karl Lieberman, Philadelphia, and Swan Smith, Pilot Mountain, N. C., infielders; Duke Wall, Pilot Mountain, N. C., outfielder, and Clayton Fulk, Miami Beach, Fla.; Glen Loughran, West Springfield, Mass., C. Gharridi, Altoona, Pa.; John R. Loughran, West Springfield, Mass., and John Paul Fartro, Canonsburg, Pa., pitchers. Gharridi and Loughran are left-handers. Dave Black, veteran second-sacker, has not yet signed, but it is thought he will sign when he reports for spring training.

The Philadelphia National League Team will play an exhibition game here on Sunday, June 29, and the local management is negotiating with the New York Giants for an exhibition game.

A meeting will be held Wednesday evening to organize workers to raise funds to start the team. Cumberland's league forfeit of $1,500 must be posted by April 1. A benefit dance is planned at the State Armory Monday, March 1.

BALTIMORE FIVE LOOKING.

The Knights of Lithuania, 125-pound courtmen of Baltimore, would like a game with some Washington team to be played in Washington. Address Anthony V. Leneck, 720 Portland street, Baltimore, Md.

TO MANAGE MACON.

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Charlie Moore, veteran catcher, who last year managed the pennant-winning Rocky Mount Team in the Eastern Carolina League, has been selected to manage the Macon South Atlantic Association Team this season. The Macon Club is owned by the Brooklyn Nationals.

HEAVY RAILS MARK TRADING IN STOCKS

No Definite Price Changes Appear as Turnover Picks Up.

EASTMAN KODAK CLIMBS

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Stock prices churned about without getting anywhere today as speculative attention converged upon the spectacular gyrations in the commodity markets. Trading on the share market was a little more active than yesterday, sales totaling 2,632,910 shares, but gains and losses were evenly distributed at the close, and the price index of 90 leading shares showed negligible change.

Rather active liquidation appeared at times, but a hasty covering movement in the last hour was prompted by the sharp rebound in wheat. Renewed pressure appeared in the last few minutes of trading, however, and the market was slipping when the closing gong sounded. Rails were conspicuously heavy, influenced by publication of several January operating income reports, which in the main were fully as unfavorable as had been indicated by the car loadings reports. The further collapse of wheat prices, carrying the March option below $1 a bushel, to close to the low levels reached last May, was regarded in Wall street as marking the latter stages of the movement, an opinion which was in part borne out by the sharp rally of about 5 cents a bushel late in the day. About the only bright aspect of the situation, as regards business, was said in financial circles to be the fact that the farmers have disposed of about 80 per cent of their crop at higher levels, so that agricultural purchasing power may be not markedly crippled.

Steel Output Declines.

Industrial and corporate news of the day included an estimate of current steel mill operations at 80 per cent of capacity, compared with 81 to 82 per cent a few days ago, in keeping with predictions that late February might show a slight slackening after the recent rapid upturn. While the decline appears to have been almost entirely in the operations of the smaller producers, they usually are first to feel a let up in demand.

Favorable earnings reports for 1929 continued to appear, and the expected dividend bases for Boston & Maine and Remington Rand, $4 and $1.60 a year, respectively, were announced—developments largely discounted by the market some weeks ago. Credit conditions held fairly firm, with call money at 4½ per cent all day.

Eastman Kodak and American Can were strong spots, reflecting renewed rumors of perfection of a transparent container to be made from cellulose produced by Kodak. Kodak rose nearly 9 points to 213¾, a new top for 1930, and closed at 211. American Can closed more than 2 points higher. Other strong spots were American Bank Note, Lackawanna, Electric Power & Light and United Aircraft, up 2 to 4. Packard sold up close to 20 into new high ground for the year, reflecting reports that the Army had completed "satisfactory" block tests of its Deisel airplane motor.

Chesapeake & Ohio Loses.

In the rails, Atchison dropped 6 points, and Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central and Northern Pacific 2. Boston & Maine, inactive for several days, sold at 100½, off 9, evidently in profit taking on the dividend announcement. In the utilities, Consolidated Gas lost a couple of points. International Silver was a weak spot in the industrials, declining more than 7 points to a new low for the year. Case Threshing dropped 8 points, then rallied 6. U. S. Steel closed off a fraction.

Commodity markets generally were acutely weak for a time, then rebounded swiftly. Wheat dropped about 5 cents, then regained its loss in heavy short covering prompted by better foreign demand and closed practically unchanged. Corn dropped 3 cents, then rallied 4. Cotton closed about $1 a bale higher, after establishing new low levels for the movement. Rubber, silk and coca futures also sold off sharply.

Foreign exchanges were steady to firm, with the exception of the Canadian dollar, which slipped below 99½ cents. Sterling cables held at $4.86¼, and the Italian lira rose to 5.23¾ cents, a new high for the year.

FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

Paris, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Prices were steady on the bourse today.

Three per cent rentes, 87 francs 25 centimes. Five per cent loan, 101 francs 40 centimes.

Exchange on London, 124 francs 20½ centimes. The dollar was quoted at 25 francs 54 centimes.

London, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Bar silver, 19 13-16d per ounce. Money, 3½ per cent. Discount rates, short bills, 3 11-16 @3¾ per cent; three months, 3¾@3 11-16 per cent.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Call money, firmer; 4½ per cent all day. Time loans, steady; 30 days, 4½@4¾; 60 days, 4½@4¾; 6 months, 4¾@5. Prime commercial paper, 4½. Bankers' acceptances, unchanged. Bar silver 42¾. Mexican dollars, 31¾.

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS.

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—CHEESE—Whole milk Longhorns, round lots, 21½@22½; single daisies, fresh, 21@22.

BUTTER—Top grades, 38@39; 92 score, 35; 89 to 91 score, 33@34½; 87 to 88 score, 31½@32.

EGGS—Firsts in new cases, 27¼; firsts in old cases, 27¼.

BOND PRICES STEADY IN NARROW MARKET

Rails and Utilities Harden as Time-Money Rates Become Easier.

INDUSTRIALS ARE DULL

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Bond prices steadied a little in a narrow market today. At times it seemed as though the list was improving, but buying inquiry proved to be shallow and the recent dullness maintained the upper hand.

An easier undertone in time money was accompanied by an almost imperceptible hardening of high grade bonds, especially the rails and utilities. Turnovers, however, were unimpressive in most instances. United States Governments were very quiet and made only small changes.

Closing quotations on the prime carriers offered another liberal mixture of minor gains and losses. Firmness in Santa Fe general 4s, Central Pacific guaranteed 5s, Rock Island 4½s, Pennsylvania 4¾s, St. Louis & San Francisco 4½s, Southern Railway general 4s and Wabash 4½s were offset by easiness in Southern Pacific refunding 4s, Pennsylvania general 4½s and New York Central debenture 4s, Union Pacific first 4s rose a point. In the speculative group, Iowa Central first 5s rallied 4⅜ net and the certificates 4¼ points.

International Telephone Gains.

A 1-point gain in International Telephone debenture 4½s was a prominent development in the utilities. Utah Power & Light 5s rose half a point. American Telephone 5s of 1965 were active and touched their 1930 high of 101⅜, but made no net change.

Hudson Coal 5s rose near a point, but held only a small fraction of that advance. Liggett & Myers 5s rose ⅞ while Porto Rican American Tobacco convertible 6s gained 1½. Industrials generally were dull.

Foreign obligations shifted uncertainly. News that Belgium had decided to redeem its 7½ per cent external loan, of which about $30,000,000 is outstanding, brought out some of the bonds. The high for the day was 116, but the loan soon sagged to 115, the call price. The bonds were offered at 97¼ nearly ten years ago to the amount of $50,000,000. They may be taken up on any interest date. The next coupon falls due on June 1.

Berlin City Bond Gains.

Berlin City 6s, rallied 1⅞ on good buying, making a new 1930 high of 89½. Deutsche Bank 6s, Italy 7s, several of the Argentine 6s, and British 5½s, were other trading centers, but offerings easily satisfied inquiry and closing quotations were virtually unchanged.

The expected announcement of a convertible bond issue was made after the close of the market. The loan is to total $32,228,000 and the bonds, bearing 4½ per cent coupons, are to be offered at 95 to preferred and common stockholders who may subscribe up to 25 per cent of their holdings. The issue matures in 1960.

Listed convertibles moved quietly today. American Telephone 4½s, were off ¼ at the close, while International Telephone 4½s, lost ½.

U.S. OFFICIAL OFFERS NEW BANK SYSTEM

Decentralized Branches in Small Cities Is Idea Given to House Group.

'TRADE AREAS' ARE SEEN

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Suggesting decentralized branch banking as a solution for the country's banking problems, Comptroller of the Currency Pole, in a statement yesterday to the House banking and currency committee investigating group, chain and branch banking, explained the "trade area" method for national bank branch extension suggested in his last annual report.

Realizing that while the term "trade area" itself is susceptible of definition, he admitted there may be found some practical difficulties in mapping out a given area and that while theoretically every city, no matter how small, might be said to have a trade area, it would prove no solution at all to the rural banking situation to permit small country banks to establish branches in such trade districts.

"Metropolitan Trade Area."

He explained that the trade area he had in mind might be called the "metropolitan trade area," and would circumscribe the geographical territory which embraces the flow of trade from the rural communities and small cities to a large commercial center. Branch banking extended by metropolitan national banks into such trade areas would naturally, he believed, give to these outlying rural communities and smaller cities a strong metropolitan banking service.

While he is not prepared to attempt to arrive at a legislative formula, which would automatically delimit all of the trade areas in the United States, he told the committee it does not seem possible to meet this situation with such a formula. He reminded it that when the Federal Reserve act was before Congress a similar situation arose with respect to the Federal Reserve districts, and in the act Congress did not attempt to define the boundaries of the districts, but provided they should be apportioned with due regard to the convenience and customary course of business and that they should not necessarily be coterminous with any State or States.

Reserve Districts as Models.

The twelve Federal Reserve districts thus laid out and the subdistricts within them as established by the Federal Reserve Board constitute today the only areas which have been delimited on the basis of relationship of the flow of trade to banking services. It may be found advisable, according to Comptroller Pole, to adopt a similar procedure with respect to the present situation if it is determined that national banks shall be permitted to have branches in the rural districts, but in this connection the question will arise as to how far the Federal Reserve districts or subdistricts are applicable to the question of branch banking.

Hunter S. Marston, on duty in this city as a member of the general staff during the latter part of the World War and afterward selected as a military representative to accompany President Wilson to the Paris Peace Conference, has been elected president of the Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, a New York holding and investment company.

President Ezra Gould, of the Washington Mechanics Savings Bank, has returned from a visit in Florida.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Durant; Liberty Bank.

M. L.—Will you please let me know what you think of the following stocks. I have 20 shares of Durant Motors and 1 share of Liberty National Bank in New York. Do you consider them good to hold?

Answer—Durant Motors is highly speculative, with apparently little likelihood of market appreciation in the near future, although this column can not predict in advance movements in any stock. The company operated at a loss of $307,000 in the first three months of 1929, but for the month of April was understood to have made a profit of $400,000, resulting in a profit for the first four months, therefore, of approximately $100,000. For the first four months of 1928 there was a loss of $400,000.

Would advise, by all means, that you retain your Liberty National Bank stock.

Waldorf System.

T. L. G.—I am a stockholder in Waldorf System, Inc. What information can you give me about this company?

Answer—Waldorf System, Inc., is in strong position. This company is the owner of a chain of leading restaurants composing a system of 138 establishments operating in 41 cities Company has made notable progress in increasing sales, number of customers and earnings, during the past year. Sales for the past eleven months ended November 30, 1929 increased $1,355,479, which represented a gain of 10.3 per cent over the same period of 1928, while October was the biggest month in Waldorf's history and the first in which sales increased $1,400,000. Cash gained $215,809 to $700,000; net working capital increased $408,829 and surplus $600,000. Earnings for the period were increased 22½ per cent, equal to $2.20 a share as against $1.84 for the same time in 1928. The stock pays $1.50 a year in dividends and may be regarded as an investment for the long pull.

Pilot Radio & Tube.

J. G.—What is your opinion of Pilot Radio & Tube, listed on the New York Curb Exchange, as an investment?

Answer.—Record of the Pilot Radio & Tube Co. and its predecessors in the radio and electrical parts business may be considered good. The company has taken over the plant of the Everett Mills in New England, where it plans to increase production of its products on a large scale, and also manufacture parts for television machines and complete television sets for the home. Earnings and profits have shown a good increase last year and income for the current twelve months is expected to be good, as a result of the company's entrance into the television field. Pilot Radio has a Federal radio license to broadcast television, and recently acquired, through an exchange of stock, the Twin Coupler Co. and the Detroit Radio Tube Co.

Pilot Radio & Tube pays a dividend of $1.20 annually and at its present price yields about 9 per cent. The stock may be regarded as an investment issue for long term holding, as the company is not only a radio concern, but also engages in a large manufacture of electrical equipment.

Foote Bros.

F. B.—Would you kindly let me have some information on Foote Bros. Gear & Machine Co. stock, listed on the Chicago Exchange, as I have been advised to buy same.

Answer.—Foote Bros. Gear & Machine Co. is the largest gear manufacturer in the world, and has been rapidly expanding since its organization in 1895. Last year it extended its activities into the road building field. December sales, the largest in the history of the company, amounted to $627,000, and, according to the presidents statement, all dividends reached their peak for the year, also that tractor busines was unusually heavy, revenue from this division surpassing all previous figures. Foote Bros. is one of the biggest makers of crawler type tractors, graders and related implements, and is one of only four companies licensed to manufacture the crawler type tractor, which lays its own tracks and conceded as superior for heavy and light work.

Profits for 1929 are estimated at 25 per cent greater than for 1928, when $2.14 a share was earned on the common stock, which pays 30 cents quarterly or $1.20 annually. The stock may be placed in the category of investment for long pull ownership.

Curb Review

New York, Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Further unsettlement in the commodity markets was held responsible for the reactionary price tendencies in today's curb market. Trading was only moderately heavy in volume, due in part to the temporary desertion of a few large speculators from the curb to the grain markets. While losses predominated at the close, there were a few strong spots in practically all leading groups.

American Gas & Electric retained more than half of its gain extreme of 4⅜ points. Electric Bond & Share closed fractionally higher at 95, after having dipped to 93¾. Electric Power & Light option warrants crossed 40 for a gain of nearly 4 points in sympathy with a brisk rise in the stock on the "Big Board." Duke Power dropped 4 points on a few odd-lot sales, and International Superpower, Northern States Power A, Sierra Pacific Electric and Tampa Electric lost a point or two.

Oils were sluggish on preliminary estimates of another large increase in crude oil production last week. Cosden broke 4¼ points to a new low at 56, and Imperial Oil and Red Bank Oil sagged fractionally to new minimum prices for the year. Vacuum dropped 1½ points, but Gulf of Pennsylvania and Standard of Indiana held steady.

Eisler Electric crossed 19 to a new high on the announcement that the president of the Tungsten Electric Co., one of its wholly-owned subsidiaries, had sailed for Europe to establish a factory in Germany or Switzerland, and to close a contract with the Soviet government. Coal shares were heavy on selling inspired by the belief that the unseasonably warm weather of the past week would hurt sales.

Most of the leading investment trust, trading and holding corporations showed nominal recessions. Aero Underwriters duplicates the year's high of 16, but the other aviation shares showed little change. The new Canadian Pacific Railroad stock touched a new low at 51 after having sold as high as 58 following the announcement of the proposed split-up. Revival of activity in Automatic Musical Instrument shares was based on the announcement the company had closed a contract with the British Automatic Gramophone Co.

Loew's, Inc., warrants and New Mexico & National Screen Service Arizona Land reached new high ground for the year, while Hiram Walker and Universal Pictures sank to new lows. Deere & Co. (new) closed 7 points higher.

$350 Extra Prize Offer Detailed

Only new subscriptions turned in between Thursday, February 20, and Wednesday, March 12, inclusive, apply on the $350 Extra Prize Offer. To the candidate from the city division who turns in the greatest amount in NEW subscription payments during this period a merit prize of $100 in gold will be given. $100 in gold will also be given to the candidate in the out-of-town division who turns in the greatest amount in new subscriptions within his division. The candidates in both city and out-of-town divisions who turn in the second largest amount of new subscription payments in their respective divisions will EACH receive $50 in Gold; and the third highest candidates in each division will EACH receive $25. Winning these prizes does not in any way interfere with winning the final awards. In fact, since new subscription payments secured also determine the amount of EXTRA VOTES which candidates may earn during this period, obviously the winners of the $350 in extra prizes will be well on their way toward even greater final success in the campaign.

90,000 Extra Vote Offer Detailed

Only new subscriptions turned in between Thursday, February 20, and Wednesday, March 12, inclusive, apply in any way upon this EXTRA VOTE offer, which will not be excelled at any time later in the campaign. For every $20 worth of new subscriptions turned in during this 21-day period 90,000 EXTRA VOTES will be issued, with a proportionate share for all new subscriptions exceeding even $20 clubs. These votes will be in addition to the regular votes issued on subscriptions and also in addition to the 5,000 entry votes and the bonus of 25,000 extra votes given on first subscriptions, per the coupons in this announcement. There is no restriction on the number of EXTRA VOTES a candidate can

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE PLACED AT $580,000

Estimate Is Made in Report by Federal Board of Education.

EXPANSION NEED CITED

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The County School Board will have before it at its meeting tonight a comprehensive report compiled by the United States Board of Education carrying with it recommendations for a bond issue of $580,000 for additions to a majority of the schools in the county.

In tables included in the report it is shown that the cost per pupil in Arlington County, during the school year 1927-1928, was $52.81, ranking twenty-fourth in a list of 28 cities, the highest of which was $172. It is shown that the average cost in cities of a population of from 10,000 to 30,000 is $89. It is further shown in a list of 24 cities that the estimated real value of taxable property per capita of population in Arlington County is $2,400, the county ranking seventh out of a list of 25 cities.

The table further shows that when compared with other school systems Arlington County ranks seventh in the amount of assessed wealth, and first in the amount of estimated real wealth back of each dollar spent on schools, which, according to the table, is $376.

It is shown further that the per cent of bonded indebtedness for school purposes in Arlington County is 2.56 of the assessed valuation, which is considered low compared with other school systems shown in the report. Out of a list of 22 Arlington County stands seventeenth.

The bonded indebtedness per pupil enrolled in the county, according to figures given, is $125 and out of a list of 23 cities there are only five showing a less amount.

The largest increase to meet the present and future needs of Arlington County, as compiled in the report, is for the addition of 42 classrooms to the Washington-Lee High School Building, where there are now 26 with a total enrollment of 1,300 as against 100 in 1925.

"Why We Selected Arlington County for the Location of Our School," will be the subject of an address to be delivered over the air station WJSV, Mount Vernon Hills, this afternoon from 5 to 6, in the program sponsored by the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, by Dr. William E. Martin, president of Arlington Hall College for Girls.

The musical program will be furnished by the Glee Club of Arlington Hall.

C. A. Keefer, member of the board of directors, will be master of ceremonies and official announcer.

According to an announcement made last night by Miss Isabell Latimer, supervisor of weekday schools of religious education in Arlington and Fairfax Counties, invitations have gone out to mothers of pupils to visit the classes during the week of March 3.

The classes were opened last December and are being held throughout the day at several of the schools for one-hour periods.

The Lyon Village Citizens Association will hold a benefit dance tonight in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon.

The members of the committee in charge of the arrangements are: Mrs. Joseph Haley, chairman; Mrs. I. C. Buchanan, Mrs. Harold Stelle, Mrs. Robert E. Freer, Mrs. H. N. Crichton, Charles Hiller, jr., J. K. Marshall and Robert N. Anderson.

The Arlington County Monarch Club will meet today with the Washington Club for luncheon at the National Press Club. All members of the local club are instructed to meet at the club promptly at 12 o'clock.

The weekly meeting scheduled for tomorrow at the Ashton Heights Womans Clubhouse will be omitted.

The American Legion Auxiliary of Arlington Post, No. 139, will hold its monthly meeting tonight in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce in the Rees Building, Clarendon, tonight at 8 o'clock.

President Julian E. Tapp, of the Arlington Fire Department, announces the appointment of the following committee to look after the needs of the department as to gasoline, oil and coal: Herbert L. Wilson, chairman; J. A. Dawkins and Julian E. Tapp; publicity committee, Elmer J. Blackmer, chairman; J. A. Dawkins and Jack W. Travis.

The executive committee of the Arlington District Public Library Association, at its meeting last night, considered ways and means of taking care of crowded conditions at the library.

The Organized Women Voters of Arlington County will meet today at 1:30 o'clock at the Boulevard Bakery at Clarendon.

The question of the need for more schools in Arlington County will be considered.

Speaking at a special meeting of the Lyon Village Citizens Association held last night in the offices of Lyon & Fitch, Dr. Frank M. Phillips, of the United States Bureau of Education, who assisted in compiling the survey of the needs for additional classrooms in the county schools, paid particular attention to the needs of the Washington Lee High School.

"With an enrollment of 100 in 1925 increased to 1,300 in 1930 is evidence in itself that more room at this time is most necessary," Dr. Phillips said.

The association approved the plans for needed classrooms in the county schools.

The ladies auxiliary of the Clarendon Fire Department anounces it will give a benefit dinner tomorrow night in the Lyon Park Community House from 5 to 7:30 o'clock.

The Margaret King Circle of St. George's Episcopal Church will meet today at 2 o'clock at the rectory.

Loudoun County Group Hears Dairying Expert

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., Feb. 25.—W. E. Wintermeyer, of the Federal Bureau of Dairying at Washington, was the principal speaker this morning at the annual Loudoun County Cooperative Herd Improvement Association meeting, which was largely attended by prominent dairymen from all sections of the county.

Mr. Wintermeyer spoke on "Dairymen of the Future Will Use Proved Bulls."

In the afternoon, Dr. L. H. Bean, of the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics, explained the outlook for dairying in the East. H. T. Pancoast, president of the association, presided. J. R. Lintner is secretary.

Tobacco Growers Discuss Marketing

Agents and Farmers of Four Counties Meet for First Conference.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Feb. 25.—County farm agents, agricultural instructors and prominent tobacco growers from four counties met at Chatham today in the first of a series of educational tobacco conferences, and discussed plans for forming a tobacco co-operating marketing association.

The conference was conducted by W. S. Green, of Burkeville, under the auspices of the Federal Farm Board. Mr. Green was assisted by John R. Hutchinson, director of the extension service of V. P. I., and W. S. Newman, supervisor of the department of vocational education at V. P. I.

A discussion of problems connected with tobacco farming and preparation for the formation of the co-op organization, in line with the policy adopted by the Farm Board following a meeting here at which James C. Stone, member of the board, spoke, was held. This group was selected as a starting point in the educational campaign, which is now being conducted. Members will return to their communities and give growers the benefit of the information gathered at this meeting.

REFORM TAX BILL SOUGHT IN VIRGINIA

Periodical Assessment in Counties Would Be Abolished.

BOARDS TO BE PROVIDED

Richmond, Va., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The Buchanan bill dealing with reforms in tax assessment procedure, entirely eliminating periodical assessments in counties, is regarded by legislative leaders and C. H. Morrisett, State tax commissioner, as one of the most important revenue measures before the General Assembly.

In cities, assessments are made compulsory every four years on real estate by a board of one or more persons appointed by the Corporation Court, or, if there is no Corporation Court, by the Circuit Court. Compensation for this service is to be fixed by the governing body of the city.

The department of taxation is made the enforcing authority for this provision, being required to furnish proper forms and blanks.

Instead of assessing boards, counties are to have, under the bill's provisions, boards of equalization, appointed by the Circuit Court, which will balance tax values every four years without taking new assessments. Each such board is to be composed of not less than three nor more than five members, elected by the court or judge from the county's citizenship.

Any person may apply to the board of equalization for equalization of his assesment, and no assesment is to be increased until the taxpayer has been notified and given an opportunity to protest.

In counties, taxes for each year on real estate are to be extended on the basis of the last equalization made prior to that year, but this provision is not applicable to mineral lands or any real estate which is assessable by the State Corporation Commission.

Property specifically exempted under the act is that of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, Confederate Memorial Literary Society, Mount Vernon Ladies Association of the Union, Virginia Historical Society, Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation, post of the American Legion, Manassas Battlefield Confederate Park "and any corporation organized to establish and maintain a museum or museums, with or without a library or libraries, provided such corporation be not operated for profit."

Two Martinsburg Men Injured in Cycle Wreck

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Feb. 25.—John Hanshew, 19, had his leg amputated shortly after being brought to a hospital here, and Earl Canby, 26, is not expected to live, with a skull believed fractured, a fractured knee cap and internal injuries, as a result of their motorcycle and side car, driven by Hanshew, slewing over on its side while rounding a curve at high speed.

The motorcycle skidded for 20 feet before it crashed into an approaching truck with such force that the truck had to be jacked up from the road to salvage the cycle wreck. A one-armed Washington man, J. H. Jones, the first motorist to pass the wreckage, brought them to King's Daughters Hospital here at a 60-mile-an-hour clip.

Wadesville Woman, 75, Buried in Clarke County

Special to The Washington Post.

Berryville, Va., Feb. 25.—The funeral of the late Miss Elizabeth C. Pidgeon, aged 75, who died Sunday at the home of her brother, Lewis Pidgeon, of Wadesville, Clarke County, from pneumonia, was held this afternoon from her brother's home with interment in the old Quaker Burying Ground at Hopewell.

Miss Pidgeon was the daughter of the late Samuel L. and Sarah M. Pidgeon. She is survived by two sisters, Misses Rebecca and Bessie Pidgeon, of Wadesville, and two brothers, Charles M. Pidgeon, of Washington, and Lewis Pidgeon, of Wadesville.

Train Wreckers Given Maryland Prison Terms

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 25.—Leander Peck, 24, and Austin Bishop, 25, confessed train wreckers, were sentenced to six and five years, respectively, in the Maryland Penitentiary today by Judge Frank G. Wagaman. The pair pleaded guilty to placing a cross tie on the Western Maryland Railroad tracks near their homes at Hancock last January 12.

Railroad detectives traced the splinters from the crosstie to a point opposite the homes of the pair and when arrested they confessed.

Berryville Woman Dies Of Pneumonia Attack

Special to The Washington Post.

Berryville, Va., Feb. 25.—Miss Betty Moore, aged 86, member of a prominent family, died this morning at her home here from pneumonia.

She is survived by two sisters and one brother.

$102,229 BOND ISSUE AWARDED BY COUNTY

Funds for Road Financing Are Sold by Officials of Prince Georges.

FOREST WARDENS MEET

Prince Georges County officials were delighted with the bids offered yesterday for the issue of $125,000 of road bonds offered by the county. The bonds were awarded to the Baltimore Trust Co. and Robert Garrett & Co., joint bidders, of Baltimore. They offered a bid of $102,229 for the bonds.

Strother, Grogden & Co., of Baltimore, with a bid of $102,037, were second high bidders. The high prices offered point to a confidence in the future progress and prosperity of the county which is most encouraging, according to George Waters, jr., president of the board.

The bonds bear interest at 4½ per cent and are issued in denominations of $1,000 each. They are dated July 1, 1929, but interest coupons until January 1 have been clipped. The proceeds are to be used in road improvement. The issue was authorized by the last session of the State Legislature.

The commissioners held a hearing on the petition of J. Albert Miller for rezoning of property at Riggs and Eureka roads, Chillum district, from residential A to commercial D, and approved the reclassification. It is understood that a gasoline filling station will be erected on the property.

Town officials of Cottage City are taking a straw vote to determine the sentiment of the citizens of the town on the imposition of a 7-cent park development tax for Prince Georges County. According to Chairman V. A. Simmel, of the board of town commissioners, the sentiment so far expressed has been greatly opposed to the measure. Complete returns are expected to be received by the end of the week.

The Student Grange at the University of Maryland will present a program tomorrow evening at the college auditorium. Dr. J. Patterson, dean of the College of Agriculture and director of the Experimental Station, will address the grange on "Experiment Stations and Agricultural Conditions in Europe." He was a member of the American commission which visited Europe last summer to study agricultural conditions. The program will include music by the Little Symphony Orchestra.

More than 100 forest wardens of Prince Georges, Montgomery, Charles, St. Marys, Howard and Anne Arundel Counties were in attendance at two conferences on fire patrol held at La Plata and College Park yesterday. The conferences will continue today. F. W. Besley, State forester, addressed both meetings, which were arranged by District Forester Walter J. Quick, jr.

Noted Jesuit Dies In Philadelphia

Rev. Owen A. Hill Expires After Heart Attack; Taught Here.

The Rev. Owen A. Hill, S. J., a native of this city, who formerly taught at Gonzaga and Georgetown University here, died yesterday in Philadelphia at St. Joseph's College following a heart attack.

He was educated at Gonzaga College and following his graduation he entered the Jesuit Novitiate at Frederick, Md. He was ordained in 1894.

He also taught at St. Peter's, Jersey City, N. J.; Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., and at Fordham. He was known as an eminent teacher and preacher and had written several works, including prose and poetry. He is survived by a sister, Miss Anna Hill, of this city.

Funeral services and burial will be held in Philadelphia Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Loudoun CountyFarmer To Be Buried Tomorrow

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., Feb. 25.—William Lawrence Humphrey, 80, prominent retired farmer of Loudoun County died at the home of his son, Dr. Robert Humphrey, at Mountville, Va., Monday night after an illness of several years. He was a native of Loudoun County and the son of the late Thomas and Dorcas Osborne Humphrey.

Surviving him are seven children, Dr. Wade Humphrey, of Stillwater, Minn.; K. Luther Humphrey, of New Jersey; and Dr. Robert Humphrey, Dr. Frank Humphrey, Mrs. Carroll Paxson, W. L. Humphrey, jr., and Mrs. Robert James of this county. Funeral services will be held from his late residence, Rosemore, near Bluemont on Thursday morning at 10:30. Burial will be in Ebenezer Cemetery.

MOOTE SERVICES ARE HELD

Body of Retired Teacher Sent to New York for Burial.

Miss Nellie D. Moote, a retired teacher of the District public schools, died yesterday following a short illness. Miss Moote, taught in the District schools for 37 years and instituted the first kindergarten class in the District school system.

During her years here she taught in many of the schools. She was retired last June after having served at the Hyde School for 20 years.

She was born in Rumsonville, N. Y., and came to Washington 40 years ago. Two nieces survive her. Services were held yesterday afternoon in Hines funeral home. The body was sent to Wilson, N. Y., for burial today. She made her home at the Falkstone Courts, 1401 Fairmount street northwest.

MRS. LEWIS SERVICES SET

Native of Washington to Be Buried in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Cora E. Lewis, 28 years old, died yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Marie Martz, 412 K street northwest, following a long illness.

Mrs. Lewis was born in this city. Several months ago she became ill and spent three months in the Georgetown University Hospital. A month ago she was removed to the home of her sister where she died.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Ollie Grigsby, her husband, Elmer R. Lewis; three children, Ralph, Rita, and Howard, and her sister Mrs. Martz.

Services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in St. Dominic's Church. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

BUILDING REMOVAL BIDS ARE RESCINDED

Montgomery County Refuses to Meet Stipulations in First Contract.

JOB AWARDED ENGLAND

Declining to meet the stipulations demanded by W. L. Scott in connection with his bid on the removal of the buildings on the block west of the Rockville Courthouse, the Montgomery County commissioners yesterday rescinded their acceptance of his bid and awarded the contract to the next lowest bidder, H. L. England, Rockville contractor.

Mr. Scott had agreed to pay the county commissioners $50 for the privilege of removing the buildings provided they would permit him to use the jail lot for storage of excess material and pay the premium on his bond of $4,000. Mr. England had asked $474 to clear the block. The block is to be the site of the new Montgomery County courthouse.

The county commissioners directed Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners, to communicate with officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad in an effort to make arrangements for the construction of an underpass at Boyd's Station. Bonds for this purpose were sold recently by the commissioners. Mr. Clark declared that this is one of the grade crossing eliminations which will be carried out in the very near future by the Montgomery County commissioners and the Maryland State Roads Commission. Bids will be advertised as soon as arrangements can be made with the railroad.

Headed by Charles Stern, a delegation from the Travilah neighborhood appeared before the commissioners to ask permanent improvement of the road from Travilah toward Potomac. The commissioners told them that no funds are available this year but that careful consideration will be given their request.

The board approved the action of the Montgomery County general courthouse building committee in accepting the resignation of Rossel E. Mitchell as architect and appointing Delos H. Smith as architect to complete the necessary details for the completion of the new Montgomery County courthouse. Mr. Smith's designs for the new courthouse were approved by the Fine Arts Commission and accepted by the general building committee last Friday.

The commissioners set March 18 and 25 as their annual assessment appeal hearing days. Appeals from assessments will be heard on these days at the courthouse in Rockville.

Contract for a Traffomatic signal light for the intersection of Sixteenth street extended, Georgia avenue and Colesville pike at Silver Spring has been awarded, it was announced yesterday by County Commissioner Lacy Shaw, in charge of the Northeastern Suburban District. The light will be installed and in operation about May 1.

The light is controlled by sensitive treads on the approaches to the intersection which automatically give the right of way to approaching automobiles in the order of their arrival. The light was chosen after several companies had demonstrated signal systems for the intersection.

Dr. Horace B. Haddox, 63 years old, one of the leading physicians of Montgomery County, died suddenly Monday night, it was learned yesterday, at his home in Gaithersburg. He had been in ill health for several years, but had been active all day Monday. Cause of death was given as heart failure.

A native of Rappahannock County, Va., Dr. Haddox came to Montgomery County about 35 years ago. He lived at Silver Spring for about three years and then moved to Gaithersburg. He was a former president of the Montgomery County Medical Society. He is survived by the widow, the former Miss Mary Lee Waters, two daughters, Mrs. Merrill Tyree, of California, and Miss Dorothy Haddox, of Gaithersburg, and a son, Horace Haddox, of Gaithersburg. Funeral arrangements had not been completed yesterday.

Capital Man's Summer Residence Razed by Fire

Special to The Washington Post.

Oakdale, Md., Feb. 25.—The summer residence of J. Albert Shaffer, of Washington, D. C., located at Aurora, 12 miles from Oakland, was destroyed by fire which originated from a defective flue. The eight-room dwelling was occupied during the winter months by H. B. Dougherty and family, of Aurora.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor when the flames burst through the roof, near a chimney. The Oakland Fire Department prevented the destruction of several adjoining residences.

Farmer's Death Held Suicide.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Feb. 25 (Special).—A coroner's jury has returned a verdict of suicide in the case of Herbert Chesley, 27, Valley Bend farmer, whose body was found yesterday beside the Tygarts Valley River with a bullet wound through the head and a rifle alongside. Domestic troubles are believed the cause.

Woman Badly Hurt In Auto Accident

Wife of Keyser Cashier Is Unconscious 24 Hours After Crash.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Feb. 25.—Mrs. Harry Lee Arnold, 49, wife of a Keyser, W. Va., bank cashier, had not regained consciousness tonight at a local hospital, 24 hours after an automobile collision on the Valley pike, 10 miles south of here, in which she suffered a fractured skull.

The hearing of Walter S. Arnold, of Elk Garden, W. Va., nephew, who was driving, and Floyd Stroop, 17, of Rockingman, who operated the other car, on technical charges of reckless driving was continued today.

Walter Arnold and his wife and Harry Lee Arnold suffered minor hurts as did the two Stroop brothers in the other car. The Arnold party was en route home from Winston Salem, N. C., where they attended the funeral of Mr. Harry Lee, Arnold's brother-in-law.

VIRGINIA DELEGATES PASS COLLEGE BILL

IDEA OPPOSED BY BALL

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 25.—The House of Delegates today ended the dispute of the establishment of a liberal arts college for women, when after a two-hour debate, it passed the Layman-Wright bill, continuing the Halsey commission for the selection of a site somewhere more than 30 miles from Charlottesville. The vote was 52 to 31, after a substitute bill, offered by Delegate Wilbur L. Hall, of Loudoun, had been voted down.

This marks the end, for the time being at least, of a wrangle that has lasted for 16 years while an ever-increasing number of Virginia women seek admission to the University of Virginia through the medium of a coordinate college that they would, over the protest of the student body and alumni, have established at or near Charlottesville.

Senator Frank L. Ball, of Arlington, led an unsuccessful fight against the bill in the Senate, and Mr. Hall, calling the bill "the greatest display of pseudo-statesmanship" he had ever seen, tried his hand equally as unsuccessfully in the House.

New Commission Urged.

Mr. Hall said the Halsey commission, headed by Judge Don P. Halsey, of Lynchburg, which has reported against Charlottesville as the site but decided that a liberal arts college for women should be established, had done its work without sufficient recommendation, and urged that a new commission be appointed.

The bill itself pledges the General Assembly to the establishment of such a school, and this, Mr. Hall held, should not be done until the cost has been determined and not then while illiteracy reigns in the State and while the State is still too poor to give textbooks to its school children and remove tuition charges in its high schools. He pointed out that Virginia now contributes more than $2,000,000 to nine institutions of higher learning and only $6,000,000 to elementary education, while Massachusetts contributes to only one institution of higher learning.

Otherwise, the House and Senate ground along on uncontroversial bills, making much calendar progress. The finance committee was given the Buchanan bill, that would allow localities, for the purposes of industrial competition, to exempt from taxation for five years manufacturers. A hearing will be held Thursday afternoon, but it is believed that the measure, already passed by the Senate, will be killed.

Seafood Bills Reported.

The last of the seafood revenue bills were reported by the committee on Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries and it is conceded that these highly controversial measures, designed to revolutionize particularly the oyster business will be passed with little difficulty.

It developed today that the Lesner bills that would provide for Statewide automobile drivers' permits are doomed to defeat "for political reasons." A subcommittee that is now considering them appears to have become deadlocked, and it is understood that a resolution will be presented tomorrow that would provide a nonlegislative commission to study the matter and report in 1932. Chief opposition to the bills has come from Delegate Ashton Dovell, of Williamsburg, who said in committee that "they will make 25,000 more Republicans for Virginia" because of the regulatory aspect of the measures.

Gov. Byrd opposed them in 1928 and was instrumental in killing them in the Senate and it is understood, is using his influence again.

RED ISSUE IS RAISED IN GASTONIA KILLING

Cripple Textile Worker Is State's Star Witness in Wiggins Case.

FIVE ARE BEING TRIED

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—The Communist issue was bandied about in the courtroom today at the trial of five Gastonia textile workers for second-degree murder of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins, member of an allegedly communistic textile organization.

Mrs. Wiggins, a Bessemer City widowed mother of five small children, was shot to death as she and a score of other textile workers attempted to attend a scheduled labor meeting, reputedly communistic. Troy Jones, Horace Wheelus, O. H. Lunsford, Lowery Davis and Fred Morrow are on trial in Mecklenburg County Superior Court charged with guilt in the woman's death.

Julius Fowler, crippled textile worker, who came into the courtroom on crutches, today pointed out Wheelus as the man who fired into a truck in which Mrs. Wiggins and others were riding.

Cripple Gives Testimony.

"Just as the truck drove by," Fowler testified, "Horace Wheelus rested a revolver over his left arm and fired into the truck. Mrs. Wiggins cried, 'Oh, Lord, I'm shot,' and she fell."

Further testimony linking Wheelus with the shooting was given by Tom Melton, of Bessemer City, who said he was riding in the truck with Mrs. Wiggins.

"After Mrs. Wiggins was shot," Melton testified, "I looked across the highway and saw Wheelus with a blue-black steel pistol in his right hand."

It was while Fowler was on the stand that the Communism issue was raised in a clash of opposing counsel. Maj. A. L. Bulwinkle, chief of defense counsel; began questioning the witness about his alleged Communistic connections.

Communism Issue Raised.

"I ask you," Maj. Bulwinkle said, "if his tent colony was not supported by the Communists."

The attorney explained he wts referring to a colony in Gastonia, where a number of textile workers were given good and lodging.

The question of Maj. Bulwinkle brought a sharp objection by State's attorneys, and Judge J. H. Clement, presiding, ruled out the question.

Other attempts were repeatedly but unsuccessfully mate by the defense to inject the Communistic question into the trial. At one time Judge Clement sent out the jury while the attorneys debated whether a witness might be questioned as to whether he subscribed to Communistic doctrines. Objections to this form of questioning raised by State Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt sent here to aid in the prosecution, finally were sustained by the court, and the hearing of testimony continued. In all, fourteen witnesses had been presented by the State when court adjourned for the day.

The trial, brought here on a change of venue from Gaston County, began yesterday.

Policemen Lauded By Arlington Unit

Resolution of Praise Is Passed by Citizens Association.

A resolution praising Policemen C. W. Carr and Raymond Crack, of Arlington County, for their bravery in chasing an alleged rumrunning automobile in face of bullet fire two weeks ago, was adopted by the Arlington County Citizens Association at a meeting last night.

At the request of Julian Papp, the association adopted a resolution recommending that the county supervisor be asked to arrange for the payment of coal and oil, used by the county fire department, by the fire protection fund of the county. This expense is now met by the members of the fire department.

J. W. Crimsley was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate the question of a new jail for the county. A report on the investigation will be made at the next meeting in March. The resignation of H. H. Blandford as secretary of the association was accepted. A new secretary will be appointed at the next meeting.

RITES FOR MRS. BELL.

Funeral Will Be Held at Late Home This Afternoon.

Mrs. Roberta Bell, 66 years old, who died early yesterday at her home, 1305 Taylor street northwest, will be buried this afternoon at Oak Hill Cemetery. Services will be held at 2 o'clock at her late home.

Mrs. Bell is survived by four children, Francis R., William W., Martha H. and Charles H., all of this city. She was a member of the Chancel Guild of St. Alban Church.

Masons Meet at Winchester.

Winchester, Va., Feb. 25 (Special).—Masons from many Virginia valley towns attended a meeting here tonight of Winchester Hiram Lodge, No 21, at which the Rev. Dr. Frank T. McFaden made his first official visit since being elected grand master of Masons in Virginia. He is pastor of Loudoun Street Presbyterian Church here. A banquet was served in the dining hall of the Masonic Temple after the ceremonies.

Man Hurt When Torch Explodes.

While at work at Third and East Capitol streets yesterday, Henry Wenston, colored, 29 years old, of De-Frees street northwest near North Capitol street, an employe of the District Water Department, was seriously burned about the face and hands when a plumber's torch exploded. He was treated at Casualty Hospital.

Weather Changes Hurt Peach Trees

Matyland Growers Fear Present Warmth and March Outlook.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 2.—Peaches have been almost entirely wiped out in the lowlands and have suffered heavy damage even on the mountain sides, according to a survey made by field men for the American Fruit Growers, largest fruit growers in the Hancock belt, and even apple buds are moving as a result of a record warm spell, the warmest February week since 1895, according to J. A. Miller, Government weather observer at Keedysville.

The subzero weather of last month froze most of the peach buds in the wood, say growers and the warm weather of the past week has resulted in the discovery of the damage. Peach trees were in blossom in February, 1895, said Miller, and the crop was wiped out in March by frosts. And he fears that the same fate awaits the few peach buds which have survived the subzero weather. The damage to peaches is general, not alone in orchards of the Cumberland Valley, but as far south as the Shenandoah Valley.

A complete survey of the fruit is to be made this week by County Agent Milton D. Moore. Sweet cherries throughout the valley have been completely destroyed by the below zero weather of January, say growers. Merritt W. Fulton, Hancock fruit grower, whose normal peach crop is 10,000 bushels, estimates even if his trees escape frosts, they will yield not more than 1,000 bushels.

SOUTHERN PROGRESS IS PRAISED BY KLEIN

Commerce Aid, in Florida Talk, Cites Products of $10,371,000,000.

NEW INDUSTRIES SEEN

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, told the International Naval Stores Conference here tonight that the South is on the eve of a great expansion in her foreign trade and in the midst of an economic advance "as fundamental as it is striking."

"In the new industrial South," he said, "we are witnessing a display of extraordinary energy, skill and determination." He declared that the "activities of the South have ramified amazingly. Manifold new interests are being steadily developed. All sorts of splendidly successful productive efforts have sprung up in recent years."

The value of Southern manufactures, and wages paid in Southern factories, he said, "have more than tripled in less than twenty years." Dr. Klein explained that references to economic progress of the South included the States of Maryland, West Virginia, Missouri and Oklahoma, in addition to the so-called "old South."

He said the manufactured products of the South were valued in 1927, the last census year, at $10,371,000,000, or a little more than twice the value of Southern crop and live stock.

The speaker asserted that industrial growth of the South is not entirely a postwar development, "even if by 'war' we should mean the war of '61 to '65." He said that from 1840 to 1860 the South supplied about one-fourth of the pig iron produced in the Nation. "What we have witnessed in recent years has been a magnificent flowering and fruition from seeds that were planted long ago."

In the new industries of the South, such as the tung-oil industry in Florida, the manufacture of wallboard from sugar cane waste, chemical development of atmospheric nitrogen in Alabama, West Virginia, and other States, petroleum production, power development and the like, Dr. Klein said he saw great possibilities. He said United States exports of naval stores in 1929 attained a high value of nearly $30,000,000, surpassing the 1928 figure by 18 per cent.

Woman Is Indicted On Forgery Charge

Alleged to Have Obtained 4,980 Grains of Drug by False Papers.

Mrs. Ethel Collins Waller, 40 years old, was indicted yesterday by the District grand jury on charges of forging narcotic prescriptions. No charges were brought against her under the Harrison narcotic act, the official charge, according to the indictment, being forging and uttering.

According to evidence before the grand jury the woman is alleged to have obtained 4,980 grains of morphine in less than a year on forged prescriptions. At the same time she is alleged to have obtained 600 grains through bona fide prescriptions.

The woman is said to have written 249 prescriptions for narcotics. She is alleged to have used the name of a Virginia physician and to have had the prescriptions filled at local drug stores.

Mrs. Fannie C. Dinges Dies.

Van Meter, Berlin, Pa.; Mrs J. L. Bushong, Manassas, Va., and Miss Edna Dinges, at home; one sister, Mrs. Susan Osborn, Washington, D. C., and two brothers, Henry Whissen, Middletown, and J. R. Whissen, Edinburg.

ALEXANDRIAN GIVES CHARITIES' NEEDS

Ward Boswell, in Rotary Club Talk, Says Funds Are Inadequate.

REVUE FOR ELKS IS SET

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Ward Boswell, speaking before the Alexandria Rotary Club yesterday, declared that Alexandria is not doing its part in welfare work, and cited figures purporting to show that the appropriation by the city council for this purpose is far below that of other Virginia cities. He said Alexandria only spent $6,100 last year, the most of this being sent to private institutions, and very little used for family welfare service, while cities smaller than Alexandria spent three times this amount. He stated Richmond spent $1,600,000 last year in welfare work.

The organization of a welfare board here to handle this work was urged by Mr. Boswell, who stated that the city should have a trained welfare worker. He spoke in complimentary terms of the work of Judge W. S. Snow, of the juvenile and domestic relations court, and of Mrs. T. Clifton Howard, probation officer.

Secretary Herbert Cross reported that he had received a letter from Mrs. Howard stating there was a net profit of $200 from the sale of artificial cherries on February 22, which will go to the Day Nursery, which was sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Rotarian F. C. Goodnow made a report on the benefit show which will be staged by the Rotary on April 24 and 25. S. G. Harris, manager of the Kresge Store, was elected to membership. The singing was led by Henry T. Moncure.

President S. Nelson Gray appointed Lawrence Roland to assist Chairman George F. Downham on the weekly program committee.

The Curley Club, of Washington, will stage a musical revue at the Elks Home tomorrow night for the benefit of the American Legion room in Gadsby's Tavern, which has been purchased and presented to the local Legion post for a World War memorial and home.

The Curley Club is composed of many members of the old St. Patrick's Players, well known for their musical and dramatic successes. Blackface comedy, clog dancing, quartets, songs and musical com
